SPECIAL SESSION TALK MINIMIZED

Italy's U. N. Bid Facing Threat Of Soviet Veto

Showdown On Greece Delayed By Russia

LAKE SUCCESS, Sept. 28 (AP) — Russia today held the threat of veto over Italy's application for United Nations membership in the midst of an intensified Soviet propaganda campaign against the United States.

The General Assembly and Security Council headed into another week of spirited debate. The Italian issue is slated to come up for vote in the council tomorrow when the 11 delegates consider applications from Italy, Hungary, Romania, Finland and Bulgaria. Russia has said she would support Italy on condition that the others were admitted too. The United States opposes the entry of all except Italy and Finland.

"War Of Nerves"

Delegates generally sighted no end to the bitter oratory but Faris El Khoury, of Syria, a leading Arab spokesman, remarked tartly today: "It is a war of nerves. The situation will improve."

Apparently the biggest thing worrying the Russians was that someone might attempt to cut short the discussions, which threaten to carry the Assembly meeting into December. Debate resumes tomorrow in the 55-nation Political Committee on the Greek case and a Soviet spokesman said any efforts to force an early vote on an American proposal, would be contested on the grounds that the subject had not been thoroughly aired.

Tsaldaris Will Speak

The American resolution accuses Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania of aiding Greek guerrillas and asks for a permanent United Nations watchdog commission. The Russians meanwhile have re-introduced their old resolution laying all the blame on the Greek government and demanding all foreign military personnel leave Greece.

Constantin Tsaldaris, Deputy Prime Minister of Greece, will be the first speaker at the committee meeting tomorrow. He likely will lay stress on the report of a council commission which blamed the Soviet satellites for border unrest.

Moroccan Freedom Asked

LAKE SUCCESS, Sept. 28 (AP)— The Nationalist Party of the French protectorate of Morocco made a formal bid for Moroccan independence in a memorandum submitted today to Trygve Lie, Secretary General of the United Nations.

The memorandum was signed by Hadj Ahmed Balafrej, secretary general of the Moroccan Independence Party which claims the active support of some 3,000,000 Moroccans plus the moral backing of Sidi Mohamed Ben Youssef, Sultan of Morocco.

"The once great sovereign state of Morocco which had enjoyed freedom and independence for 13 centuries has been deprived of all rights and enslaved by a French 'protector'," the document says.

Number Of U. S. Civilian Employes Decreases

WASHINGTON Sept. 28 (AP)—The Civil Service Commission said today federal civilian employes on June 30, 1947, totaled 2,814,114 in the continental United States — a cut of 1,064,333 since June 30, 1945.

In this two year period, decreases occurred in 45 states and in the Washington, D. C. metropolitan area. Three states — Minnesota, North Dakota and Vermont—reported a few more federal workers in June, 1947, than in June, 1945.

Nearly a third of the cut of more than a million employes in the two-year period occurred in California, New York and Pennsylvania.

Burned To Death

FREDERICK, Md., Sept. 28—(AP)— Thomas Noble Harwood, 38-year-old World War II veteran, was burned to death early today when his bed caught fire from a lighted cigaret, Sheriff Guy Anders reported.

At Least 2 Dead, Several Injured In Bus Accident

EFFINGHAM, Ill., Sept. 28. (INS)—At least two persons were killed tonight and several injured in a Greyhound bus accident near Effingham.

State police at Effingham said the death toll might be more. They said several persons were pinned under the bus and it had not been determined whether they were dead or injured.

St. Anthony's Hospital in Effingham said that three persons had been admitted to the emergeny room.

The accident occurred on Salt Creek Hill, one mile east of Effingham.

Qavam Walks Out As Proposed Oil Pact Is Attacked

Deputies Assail Iranian Premier

TEHRAN, Sept. 28—(AP)—Premier Ahmed Qavam stalked out of Parliament today under a stinging attack by an Azerbaijan deputy who assailed a proposed oil pact with the Russians as "the worst agreement in the past 100 years of Iranian history."

Emami Ahari, of Azerbaijan, declared the Iranian people would not agree to Soviet exploitation of the northern province "even if they are killed one by one."

Abbas Massoudi, Tehran deputy, who is publisher of the semi-official newspaper Ettelaat, threatened to present in the Majlis (Parliament) a bill calling for formation of a 100 per cent Iranian company for oil exploitation.

Qavam negotiated with the Russians in 1946—when Soviet troops were still in Azerbaijan—concerning formation of an Iranian-Soviet oil company to exploit oil possibilities in the province, which borders on Russia. Any agreement must be ratified by Parliament before it can be implemented.

Ahari opened his speech with a strong personal attack on Qavam. He was shouted down by other deputies and was reprimanded for "impoliteness" by the parliamentary president.

He resumed his attack and proposed formation of a commission to investigate Qavam's activities for the past 19 months. Ahari claimed "evidence and documents to prove government misues of money."

Fire Breaks Out In New York Pier

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (Monday) (AP)—Six fireboats and nearly 80 pieces of fire apparatus early today fought a stubborn blaze at a North River pier that had spread by way of a waterfront structure to an adjacent pier, fire department officials reported.

The fire, when more than four-hours-old, had brought in apparatus from parts of Manhattan and Brooklyn, as the flames worked from Pier 57 to Pier 58. Both wharfs are operated by the Grace Line.

Earlier, Fire Commissioner Frank J. Quayle ordered all firemen off the main structure of Pier 57, at 15th Street in Manhattan, as the flames ate at the understructure where the fire began. Quayle said there was 400 tons of cargo on the landward end of the pier and 700 or 800 bales of cotton in its second story.

Two tugboats, moored at Pier 57, were moved shortly after the fire was discovered at 8 p. m. (EST).

At least three firemen were treated for smoke poisoning and a fourth for a lacerated hand.

Auto Racer Killed

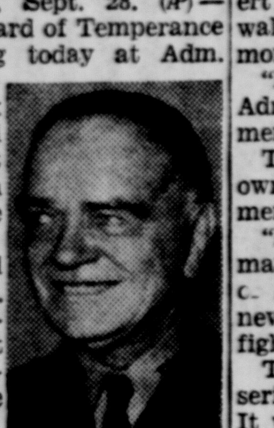
Methodist Board Of Temperance Fires Broadside At Adm. Halsey

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28. (AP) — The Methodist Board of Temperance came up fighting today at Adm. William F. (Bull) Halsey's remark that "as a general rule, I never trust a fighting man who doesn't smoke or drink."



Adm. Wm. F. Halsey

"Shocking," said the board. "Adm. Halsey's unfortunate statement is exceedingly injurious to the Navy."

In a discussion that filled six newspaper columns of its publication "Clipsheet," the Methodists declared:

"Many of the greatest military men the world has produced have been notably abstemious."

Among these non-drinkers, they said, were such fighting men as Sergeant York, Jimmy Doolittle, Robert E. Lee, Jeb Stuart and Stonewall Jackson, who "feared whisky more than bullets."

"Perhaps," said the board, "the Admiral would not 'trust' these men."

The Methodists passed out their own verdict on whisky and fighting men:

"Drinking frequently makes a man fight; it does it in thousands of saloons every day, but we have never known it to make anyone fight better."

The whole thing started with a series in the Saturday Evening Post. It was written by Halsey in collaboration with Lt. Comdr. J. Bryan III.

In the first article Bryan says of Halsey:

"Occasionally he takes a beer or martini but his staple drink is Scotch whisky and plain water. He has said, 'There are exceptions, of course, but as a general rule, I never trust a fighting man who doesn't smoke or drink.'"

France Needs $100,000,000 Month—Bidault

Estimates Credits Sought From U. S.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (INS) — Georges Bidault, French Foreign Minister, declared today that France would need $100,000,000 a month for the next six months in credits from the United States to stave off economic and political collapse.

This threatened collapse, he warned, might also have grave repercussions in Italy.

In naming a total $600,000,000 as the six-month requirement of France until March 1 when presumably the Marshall plan for the recovery of Western Europe would get under way, the French Foreign Minister said:

Minimum Figure

"This is the minimum which will enable us to fill the breach, continue the normal flow of machinery and capital equipment from the United States and save French men, women and children from cold and starvation."

Bidault added in an interview, the first he has granted since he arrived in this country a little over a week ago to address the United Nations Assembly, that France has sought to impress on United States officials the immediate need is for advances amounting to about $200,000,000.

At the same time Bidault described the report of the European conference of 16 western nations on the Marshall plan, calling for $19,330,000,000 in assistance through 1951, as "perhaps a little optimistic."

He explained:

"The 16 nations of Western Europe who have co-operated in framing a voluminous report on their self-help resources and needs from the United States are today fused together in a kind of political unity.

"Artificial Entity"

"But, economically speaking, Eastern and Western Europe are actually complementary. Economically, then, the 16 Western European Paris conferees were forced by events into a kind of artificial entity."

Bidault recalled that he and British Foreign Secretary Bevin had extended a bid to Soviet Russia to join the Paris conference but that the Soviet Foreign Minister declined the invitation.

Soviet Russia's satellites also flatly refused to participate in the Paris meeting which formulated the 20,000-word report which is now under consideration by President Truman, his advisers and congressional leaders.

Wife-Slayer Dies In Chair

BELLEFONTE, Pa., Sept. 29 (Monday) (AP) — A Harrisburg, Pa., steelworker—confident of a reprieve to the last minute—was electrocuted at 12:34½ a. m. (EST) today—the first of six convicted slayers on the state's execution list for the next 30 days.

"I've got nothing to worry about," said 47-year-old Joshua Elwood Beatty, shortly before being placed in the death cell at Rockview Prison here. "I know the Governor (James H. Duff) will give me a reprieve."

The Harrisburg steelworker was convicted of first degree murder in the fatal shooting of his 35-year-old waitress wife, Carrie, in a Harrisburg restaurant last December 4.

William Paul Byron, 40, and Frederick Moyer, 25, are scheduled to die in the electric chair October 6 for the fatal shooting of a bystander in a gasoline station holdup at Folsom, Pa., on July 13, 1946.

October 20 has been set as the execution date for Mike Bubna for the slaying of Robert Fish in March, 1946, and William Chavis, Philadelphia negro, whose death conviction has been appealed to the United States Supreme Court.

The sixth man facing the death chair is Lawrence Brown, 19-year-old Philadelphia negro, convicted of murder in the hammer slaying of a Philadelphia bootblack. His execution has been scheduled for October 27.

Credit For Newsprint Sources Abroad Urged

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (AP) — Sen. Wiley (R-Wis) proposed today that "ample credit" be extended foreign sources of newsprint, needed by American newspapers.

Wiley made public a letter to the Export-Import Bank, dated last Wednesday, saying he was advised that the government had supported granting a $20,000,000 credit through the bank to Finland to bolster lumber and paper production for export. He said it is a fine example and is deserving of "duplication elsewhere."

Gene Tierney Suspended

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 28 — (AP) — Twentieth Century Fox Studio disclosed today that Actress Gene Tierney has been suspended "indefinitely."

The actress admitted that her refusal to accept a role in a forthcoming production brought the action.

BRIDE FAINTS— Mrs. Mary Wasniewski (center), 23, is supported by a bystander as she faints at her Chicago wedding party, which ended in near bedlam when one of the guests drew a pistol and shot another. Her brother-in-law, Stanley Wasniewski, was seriously wounded and Police Capt. George Homer said the bride's father, Anthony Buccieri, was being sought for questioning. Man at right is unidentified.

McGrath Rejects Reports Of Democratic Party Split

Convinced Unanimity Behind His Selection

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28—(INS) —Democratic Chairman-Designate J. Howard McGrath indicated today that he had been assured of party unanimity behind his selection as successor to Robert E. Hannegan before agreeing to accept the post.

McGrath rejected reports of a Democratic split in the wake of his nomination by Hannegan, with the "indicated approval of President Truman," to head the national committee.

The Rhode Island senator, who plans to assume his new office October 29 while retaining his Senate seat, said that rumors some Democrats were trying to force Federal Judge James P. McGranery, Philadelphia, into the chairmanship were "without foundation."

McGranery "Close Friend"

McGrath pointed out that as Solicitor General he had worked closely with McGranery, who then was an Assistant Attorney General. He said that McGranery was "a close friend and a wonderful fellow." McGrath asserted:

"I don't believe any friction will occur.

"I am convinced that the party is 100 per cent behind the recommendations of Mr. Hannegan and President Truman that I become Democratic National Chairman."

The New Deal Senator who already has stated that the "first job" is to elect the President to a full White House term, declined to comment further on the political picture. He said:

"Anything else I have to say will have to await my taking office. I am not officially chairman yet."

McGrath maintained complete silence on the boom in some Republican circles to "draft" Gen. Eisenhower for the 1948 GOP presidential nomination. He said:

Eisenhower "Draft" Seen

"I shall make no statements beyond dispelling the inter-party dissension reports, which are right up my alley at the moment because they concern my new job."

The Eisenhower boom was thudding insistently, however, in the ears of both Republican and Democratic observers.

Some GOP quarters expressed belief that an Eisenhower "draft" in the Republican convention at Philadelphia next year was "inevitable" in event of a stalemate between Ohio's Sen. Taft and New York's Gov. Dewey.

Polls showing, in at least one instance, that Eisenhower currently is more popular than President Truman, were not going unnoticed in Republican quarters.

There also was a belief in some GOP circles that the popularity upswing of Taft, due to his western tour, was hurting the chances of Dewey to recapture the presidential nomination.

President Walks To Church, Gives "Rally Day" Talk

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28—(AP) — President Truman walked eight blocks to the First Baptist Church this bright Sabbath morning and made a talk to the Sunday school children, then heard the sermon. He walked back to the White House.

Dr. Edward Hughes Pruden, the pastor, told a reporter he was "a little embarrased at first" that the President arrived for the 9:45 a. m. worship service when the children were assembled to receive their annual "Rally Day" promotion certificates in the presence of the congregation.

Mr. Truman spoke briefly to the youngsters, at the pastor's invitation, saying "you are studying the morals that will keep this country great."

Taft Not Opposed To Demo Proposal

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 28 (AP)— Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) today termed 'worthy of consideration" a Democratic suggestion for a "gentleman's agreement" between the White House and Congress on stopgap financial aid to Europe during the next three months.

Democratic Sens. Russell (Ga.) and McCellan (Ark.) made the proposal yesterday in Washington as one way to avoid a special session of Congress.

One of the sources of stopgap aid was suggested at the Export-Import Bank, which has $800,000,000 of uncommitted funds.

Taft, head of the Republican Senate Policy Committee, told a news conference it was his impression "the powers of the Export-Import Bank would permit" such use of its funds, although heretofore the "policy has been opposed."

"Certainly it is a proposal worthy of consideration," Taft said.

He was opposed, he added, to previous suggestions for utilization of the gold stabilization fund for such purposes.

"The Export-Import Bank certainly would be preferrable."

The "gentleman's agreement" between the Republican Congress and President Truman would be necessary because neither the Export-Import Bank, the Commodity Credit Corporation nor the RFC—as suitable money sources—was set up by Congress for the purpose of giving relief to foreign nations.

Freight Train Derailed

LANDOVER, Md., Sept. 28— (INS)—Twelve cars of a Pennsylvania Railroad freight train were derailed tonight south of Landover station, about seven miles from Washington.

16 Reportedly Doomed To Die In Albania Plot

Charged U. S., Britain Involved In Scheme

BELGRADE, Sept. 28. (INS) — The Yugoslavia news agency said today that 16 Albanians have been sentenced to death in an alleged, abortive plot to land Anglo-American troops in Albania last September and overthrow the Soviet-supported regime of Enver Hoxha.

Five others received prison terms from 15 to 20 years.

Divulged Secret Data

(Tass further quoted the prosecutor as saying the defendants turned over to "foreigners" important military, economic and political information and engaged in sabotage and espionage, using "Albanian war criminals in Italy" as contacts.

(Tass claimed members of the British and American legations in Tirana promised the defendants Anglo-American troops would land in Albania as soon as conspirators seized the town of Scutari.

(The Soviet version of the Albanian charges declared the United States legation head in Tirana, who was identified only as "Fultz," summoned the defendants Bekir Sela and Sellahudin Toto for a secret meeting in June, 1945, at the beginning of the alleged conspiracy.

(Fultz was accused of taking over direction of the conspirators' activities "aimed at overthrow of the democratic system," with the moral encouragement of the British legation which was accused of urging the defendants to conduct an industrial sabotage campaign.)

U. S. Mission Withdrawn

Albania charged the conspiracy blossomed after liberation from the Nazis.

The American mission was withdrawn from Tirana last November, 10 months after a new Communist-dominated republic was proclaimed with Enver Hoxha as premier to replace the old regime of King Zog.

The United States Department gave as reason for the withdrawal the Hoxha regime's refusal to acknowledge validity of treaties concluded when King Zog was on the throne.

Earlier in 1946, Hoxha's government arrested and executed a number of key figures in the Zog regime as war criminals.

The sentences were handed down by the Albanian Supreme Court.

No Appeasement, Pearlman Asserts

BALTIMORE, Sept. 28. — (AP) — Philip Perlman, Solicitor General of the United States, said today efforts of totalitarian governments "to frighten us from abroad or penetrate from within" must be met firmly without question of appeasement.

In a speech before more than 1,000 persons attending the 57th anniversary of the founding of the Levindale Home and Infirmary, Perlman said of the present world situation:

"The physical combat is over, but the racial and religious antagonisms, the effort to achieve supremacy for ideologies destructive to individual rights and liberties, still goes on x x x.

"We have won two wars. Now we are falsely accused, when we try to help nations facing hunger and disease, of seeking to exploit them for profit. We are accused of seeking to dominate the world.

"Our motives on every international issue are questioned and criticised. We are made the victims of vicious propaganda at home and abroad, in an effort to mislead all the peoples who do not have access to the facts or who do not desire to know the facts."

The Solicitor General — a Baltimorean—declared "we must not x x x indulge in any appeasement of those who have designs against us.

"We must hold the line against the forces antagonistic to those who claim the individual right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

Plane Hits Five Others In Emergency Landing

CHESAPEAKE, O., Sept. 28—(AP)— An Army C-47 made an emergency landing early today at the Huntington airport here and plowed into five private planes, Airport Manager Carlton Clark reported.

Blaming the accident on "inadequate lighting," Clark said none of the 14 military personnel aboard was injured.

The plane was en route from Bergstrom field at Austin, Tex., to Greenville, S. C., when it lost its course and the gasoline supply almost ran out.

Trainman Dies In Wreck

PASCO, Wash., Sept. 28 (INS)— A railroad engineer was killed and two trainmen were hurt early today when a Spokane, Portland and Seattle passenger train struck a landslide at Cliffs, Wash., 10 miles east of Wishram, Wash.

All Of Maryland Is Now In Step On Time Of Day

(By The Associated Press)

For the first time in five months all Maryland is in step on the time of the day.

Daylight time ended officially at 2 a. m. Sunday morning, bringing to an end the hour's difference that existed between various parts of that state.

Baltimore City, Annapolis, Frederick, Hagerstown and Cumberland and the majority of communities on the Western Shore went on daylight time last April. Salisbury, Cambridge and most of the rest of the Eastern Shore followed a few weeks later, as did the area contiguous to the District of Columbia.

Scattered communities, such as Hancock in Washington County, stayed on standard time.

Government May Break Into Black This Fiscal Year

Revenue Reported Coming In Faster

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28—(AP)— The government is about to break into the black on its budget for this fiscal year.

An early deficit of $1,556,500,000 piled up just before mid-September has been driven down to $67,422,000 today by a tide of quarterly tax payments that is still rolling.

Budgetwise, the government is $185,363,000 better off than at this time last year. But the current year budget goal, set by President Truman last month, is a $4,667,000,000 surplus, whereas the surplus achieved last fiscal year was only $753,787,000.

Budget Receipts Soar

Government analysts told a reporter that the budget performance so far this fiscal year, which began last July 1, is better than would appear from the persistent early-year deficit and that it is in line with the President's expectations.

Revenue is coming in better than last year, partly because tax collections made by withholding from wages are higher in this time of unprecedented high employment, and budget receipts at $9,128,676,000 are nearly $239,000,000 above this time last year.

Expenditures, at $9,196,099,204, are slightly—$7,000,000—below what they were at this time last year despite such circumstances as:

Britain Using More Of Loan

1. Britain's withdrawal of a whopping $1,300,000,000 from her loan credit in the first three months of this year, compared with her expenditure of only $400,000,000 in the same period of last year. Britain now has only $400,0000,000 left to her credit from the $3,750,000,000 loan.

2. A bookkeeping quirk that resulted in $204,000,000 being charged to the railroad retirement trust fund in this fiscal year when original schedules called for it to be charged to closing-day expenditures last year.

Public Construction Booming In Maryland

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (AP) — Public construction work in Maryland is booming.

Federal Works Agency report today showed state and local public work started in the first six months of this year more than doubled the value of such projects in the corresponding period in 1946.

New public works projects amounted to $32,989,000 in the first half of 1947 as compared with $15,745,000 in the first six months of last year, an increase of $17,244,000.

This increase of more than 100 per cent in Maryland compares with a national average increase of 43 per cent.

Of the 1947 contracts, the state let $2,920,000, counties $3,864,000 and cities $26,205,000.

Congressional Chiefs, Truman To Meet Today

Stopgap European Aid Plan Expected

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (AP) — Two key Democratic spokesmen — Sens. Connally, of Texas, and Lucas, of Illinois—minimized talk about a special session of Congress today as leading lawmakers assembled on the eve of an extraordinary White House Conference on foreign aid and the related question of high prices at home.

President Truman included Connally and Lucas along with other available congressional chieftains asked to confer here at 10 a. m. (EST) tomorrow about the twin problems of aiding friendly European nations and finding a solution to the price spiral in this country.

"I can't see how we could accomplish much by a special session at this time," Lucas acting Senate Democratic leader, told a reporter in advance of the conference. "Unless there are some facts we do not know, I'm afraid Congress would spend most of its time on politics and the 1948 election."

Stopgap Aid Plan Likely

Connally, veteran Democratic leader in foreign affairs said "I hope we can avoid a special session but I have not been informed of what is involved, other than the Marshall plan."

Other congressional sources expected Presiodent Truman, Secretary of State Marshall and other administration leaders to propose some stopgap air plan. This might be devised to provide food and monetary relief on a short-term basis until Congress is organized to tackle the complicated self-help Marshall plan calling for $22,400,000,000 or more outside aid for 16 European nations over the next four years.

Officials familiar with the problem reported tonight that Western Europe's stopgap needs for the next six months will run around $750,000,000. But none would advance an opinion as to the final figure the President will suggest.

Mr. Truman broke the aid picture into two parts last week by saying that the overall program was under study while other problems "in connection with the economic situation in Europe" are "of an emergency nature which demand immediate attention."

Congressional speculation so far centers on some proposal to utilize the government's Export-Import Bank or some other agency for a temporary fund or credit to meet food and economic needs of Italy, France and possibly Great Britain.

"Self-Help" Program Favored

If congressional leaders agreed informally on such a solution, a special session before the regular January meeting might be avoided. There was not advance indication of such agreement.

Sen. Flanders (R-Vt) said he favors a "self-help" plan and believes that "Congress eventually will enact one."

Sen. Edward V. Robertson (R-Wyo) said he found "grass roots" sentiment opposed to "any more blank checks by Congress for European aid."

Indications that Congress may attach numerous strings to any proposal came from Sen. A. Willis Robertson (D-Va), who said that any credit or funds must be met from "current revenue."

"In addition to considering the monetary size of foreign and, we must likewise consider its character," the Virginia Senator said in a statement. "The type of food furnished must be from our surpluses and not from our shortages. We cannot afford to furnish foreign nations dollars with which to compete with us and with others in a scramble for short items."

Yugoslav Troops "Handled Us With Kid Gloves," Released Yank Says

TRIESTE, Sept. 28 (AP)—Lt. William T. Van Atten, back from Yugoslav territory with two United States enlisted men after five days in captivity, said today he thought the Yugoslavs "handled us with kid gloves."

The other Americans were Pfc. Glen C. Meyer, Edgeley, N. Dak., and Pfc. Earl Hendricks, Jr., Arlington, Va. Van Atten is 24 and from East Orange, N. J.

"The Yugoslavs kept repeating to us that Russia was strong and kept pointing out pictures of Tito, Stalin, and Lenin," he said. "They only questioned us formally once, when we first got to headquarters in Goriano."

He added that he was questioned in Italian concerning very general military matters while his two men were interrogated separately.

"We couldn't understand how they could be so belligerent out there on the line and then treat us so well once we were prisoners," the lieutenant continued.

"They gave us the same food they ate—coffee, soup, sauerkraut, and lots of bread and explained the food was not better because the army lived off the land and the land was poor."

Van Atten and the members of his patrol were captured at a disputed section of the new frontier between the Free Territory and Yugoslavia. He said he could not be certain whether he crossed the line.

"Even if we were over it," he continued, "it was only five or six feet."

While gray-clad Yugoslav soldiers encircled them, Van Atten related, a Yugoslav officer with whom he had talked several times before insisted they come for a short talk with his commander about the disputed line.

Freed after an American protest, the three returned to the Free Territory under a guard of two mounted soldiers and one officer.

Italy's U. N. Bid Facing Threat Of Soviet Veto

Showdown On Greece Delayed By Russia

LAKE SUCCESS, Sept. 28 (AP) —Russia today held the threat of veto over Italy's application for United Nations membership in the midst of an intensified Soviet propaganda campaign against the United States.

The General Assembly and Security Council headed into another week of spirited debate. The Italian issue is slated to come up for vote in the council tomorrow when the 11 delegates consider applications from Italy, Hungary, Romania, Finland and Bulgaria. Russia has said she would support Italy on condition that the others were admitted too. The United States opposes the entry of all except Italy and Finland.

"War Of Nerves"

Delegates generally sighted no end to the bitter oratory but Faris El Khoury, of Syria, a leading Arab spokesman, remarked tartly today: "It is a war of nerves. The situation will improve."

Apparently the biggest thing worrying the Russians was that someone might attempt to cut short the discussions, which threaten to carry the Assembly meeting into December. Debate resumes tomorrow in the 55-nation Political Committee on the Greek case and a Soviet spokesman said any efforts to force an early vote on an American proposal, would be contested on the grounds that the subject had not been thoroughly aired.

Tsaldaris Will Speak

The American resolution accuses Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Albania of aiding Greek guerrillas and asks for a permanent United Nations watchdog commission. The Russians meanwhile have re-introduced their old resolution laying all the blame on the Greek government and demanding all foreign military personnel leave Greece.

Constantin Tsaldaris, Deputy Prime Minister of Greece, will be the first speaker at the committee meeting tomorrow. He likely will lay stress on the report of a council commission which blamed the Soviet satellites for border unrest.

Moroccan Freedom Asked

LAKE SUCCESS, Sept. 28 (AP)—The Nationalist Party of the French protectorate of Morocco made a formal bid for Moroccan independence in a memorandum submitted today to Trygve Lie, Secretary General of the United Nations.

The memorandum was signed by Hadj Ahmed Balafrej, secretary general of the Moroccan Independence Party which claims the active support of some 3,000,000 Moroccans plus the moral backing of Sidi Mohamed Ben Youssef, Sultan of Morocco.

"The once great sovereign state of Morocco which had enjoyed freedom and independence for 13 centuries has been deprived of all rights and enslaved by a French 'protector'," the document says.

Number Of U. S. Civilian Employes Decreases

WASHINGTON Sept. 28 (AP)—The Civil Service Commission said today federal civilian employes on June 30, 1947, totaled 2,814,114 in the continental United States — a cut of 1,064,333 since June 30, 1945.

In this two year period, decreases occurred in 46 states and in the Washington, D. C. metropolitan area. Three states — Minnesota, North Dakota and Vermont—reported a few more federal workers in June, 1947, than in June, 1945.

Nearly a third of the cut of more than a million employes in the two-year period occurred in California, New York and Pennsylvania.

Burned To Death

FREDERICK, Md., Sept. 28—(AP)—Thomas Noble Harwood, 38-year-old World War II veteran, was burned to death early today when his bed caught fire from a lighted cigaret, Sheriff Guy Anders reported.

At Least 2 Dead, Several Injured In Bus Accident

EFFINGHAM, Ill., Sept. 28. (INS)—At least two persons were killed tonight and several injured in a Greyhound bus accident near Effingham.

State police at Effingham said the death toll might be more. They said several persons were pinned under the bus and it had not been determined whether they were dead or injured.

St. Anthony's Hospital in Effingham said that three persons had been admitted to the emergeny room.

The accident occurred on Salt Creek Hill, one mile east of Effingham.

Deputies Assail Iranian Premier

TEHRAN, Sept. 28—(AP)—Premier Ahmed Qavam stalked out of Parliament today under a stinging attack by an Azerbaijan deputy who assailed a proposed oil pact with the Russians as "the worst agreement in the past 100 years of Iranian history."

Emami Ahari, of Azerbaijan, declared the Iranian people would not agree to Soviet exploitation of the northern province "even if they are killed one by one."

Abbas Massoudi, Tehran deputy, who is publisher of the semi-official newspaper Ettelaat, threatened to present in the Majlis (Parliament) a bill calling for formation of a 100 per cent Iranian company for oil exploitation.

Qavam negotiated with the Russians in 1946—when Soviet troops were still in Azerbaijan—concerning formation of an Iranian-Soviet oil company to exploit oil possibilities in the province, which borders on Russia. Any agreement must be ratified by Parliament before it can be implemented.

Ahari opened his speech with a strong personal attack on Qavam. He was shouted down by other deputies and was reprimanded for "impoliteness" by the parliamentary president.

He resumed his attack and proposed formation of a commission to investigate Qavam's activities for the past 19 months. Ahari claimed "evidence and documents to prove government misues of money."

Fire Breaks Out In New York Pier

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (Monday) (AP)—Six fireboats and nearly 80 pieces of fire apparatus early today fought a stubborn blaze at a North River pier that had spread by way of a waterfront structure to an adjacent pier, fire department officials reported.

The fire, when more than four-hours-old, had brought in apparatus from parts of Manhattan and Brooklyn, as the flames worked from Pier 57 to Pier 58. Both wharfs are operated by the Grace Line.

Earlier, Fire Commissioner Frank J. Quayle ordered all firemen off the main structure of Pier 57, at 15th Street in Manhattan, as the flames ate at the understructure where the fire began. Quayle said there was 400 tons of cargo on the landward end of the pier and 700 or 800 bales of cotton in its second story.

Two tugboats, moored at Pier 57, were moved shortly after the fire was discovered at 8 p. m. (EST).

At least three firemen were treated for smoke poisoning and a fourth for a lacerated hand.

Auto Racer Killed

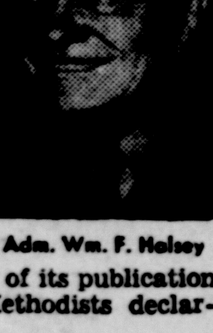
Methodist Board Of Temperance Fires Broadside At Adm. Halsey

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28. (AP)—The Methodist Board of Temperance came up fighting today at Adm. William F. (Bull) Halsey's remark that "as a general rule, I never trust a fighting man who doesn't smoke or drink."



Adm. Wm. F. Halsey

"Shocking," said the board. "Adm. Halsey's unfortunate statement is exceedingly injurious to the Navy."

In a discussion that filled six newspaper columns of its publication "Clipsheet," the Methodists declared:

"Many of the greatest military men the world has produced have been notably abstemious."

Among these non-drinkers, they said, were such fighting men as Sergeant York, Jimmy Doolittle, Robert E. Lee, Jeb Stuart and Stonewall Jackson, who "feared whisky more than bullets."

"Perhaps," said the board, "the Admiral would not 'trust' these men."

The Methodists passed out their own verdict on whisky and fighting men:

"Drinking frequently makes a man fight; it does it in thousands of saloons every day, but we have never known it to make anyone fight better."

The whole thing started with a series in the Saturday Evening Post. It was written by Halsey in collaboration with Lt. Comdr. J. Bryan III.

In the first article Bryan says of Halsey:

"Occasionally he takes a beer or martini but his staple drink is Scotch whisky and plain water. He has said, 'There are exceptions, of course, but as a general rule, I never trust a fighting man who doesn't smoke or drink.'"

France Needs $100,000,000 Month—Bidault

Estimates Credits Sought From U. S.

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (INS) —Georges Bidault, French Foreign Minister, declared today that France would need $100,000,000 a month for the next six months in credits from the United States to stave off economic and political collapse.

This threatened collapse, he warned, might also have grave repercussions in Italy.

In naming a total $600,000,000 as the six-month requirement of France until March 1 when presumably the Marshall plan for the recovery of Western Europe would get under way, the French Foreign Minister said:

Minimum Figure

"This is the minimum which will enable us to fill the breach, continue the normal flow of machinery and capital equipment from the United States and save French men, women and children from cold and starvation."

Bidault added in an interview, the first he has granted since he arrived in this country a little over a week ago to address the United Nations Assembly, that France has sought to impress on United States officials the immediate need is for advances amounting to about $200,000,000.

At the same time Bidault described the report of the European conference of 16 western nations on the Marshall plan, calling for $19,330,000,000 in assistance through 1951, as "perhaps a little optimistic."

He explained:

"The 16 nations of Western Europe who have co-operated in framing a voluminous report on their self-help resources and needs from the United States are today fused together in a kind of political unity.

"Artificial Entity"

"But, economically speaking, Eastern and Western Europe are actually complementary. Economically, then, the 16 Western European Paris conferees were forced by events into a kind of artificial entity."

Bidault recalled that he and British Foreign Secretary Bevin had extended a bid to Soviet Russia to join the Paris conference but that the Soviet Foreign Minister declined the invitation.

Soviet Russia's satellites also flatly refused to participate in the Paris meeting which formulated the 20,000-word report which is now under consideration by President Truman, his advisers and congressional leaders.

Wife-Slayer Dies In Chair

BELLEFONTE, Pa., Sept. 29 (Monday) (AP) — A Harrisburg, Pa., steelworker—confident of a reprieve to the last minute—was electrocuted at 12:34½ a. m. (EST) today—the first of six convicted slayers on the state's execution list for the next 30 days.

"I've got nothing to worry about," said 47-year-old Joshua Elwood Beatty, shortly before being placed in the death cell at Rockview Prison here. "I know the Governor (James H. Duff) will give me a reprieve."

The Harrisburg steelworker was convicted of first degree murder in the fatal shooting of his 35-year-old waitress wife, Carrie, in a Harrisburg restaurant last December 4.

William Paul Byron, 40, and Frederick Moyer, 25, are scheduled to die in the electric chair October 6 for the fatal shooting of a bystander in a gasoline station holdup at Folsom, Pa., on July 13, 1946.

October 20 has been set as the execution date for Mike Bubna for the slaying of Robert Fish in March, 1946, and William Chavis, Philadelphia negro, whose death conviction has been appealed to the United States Supreme Court.

The sixth man facing the death chair is Lawrence Brown, 19-year-old Philadelphia negro, convicted of murder in the hammer slaying of a Philadelphia bootblack. His execution has been scheduled for October 27.

Credit For Newsprint Sources Abroad Urged

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (AP) —Sen. Wiley (R-Wis) proposed today that "ample credit" be extended foreign sources of newsprint, needed by American newspapers.

Wiley made public a letter to the Export-Import Bank, dated last Wednesday, saying he was advised that the government had supported granting a $20,000,000 credit through the bank to Finland to bolster lumber and paper production for export. He said it is a fine example and is deserving of "duplication elsewhere."

Gene Tierney Suspended

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 28 — (AP) —Twentieth Century Fox Studio disclosed today that Act Gene Tierney has been suspended "indefinitely."

The actress admitted that her refusal to accept a role in a forthcoming production brought the action.

BRIDE FAINTS—Mrs. Mary Wasniewski (center), 23, is supported by a bystander as she faints at her Chicago wedding party, which ended in near bedlam when one of the guests drew a pistol and shot another. Her brother-in-law, Stanley Wasniewski, was seriously wounded and Police Capt. George Homer said the bride's father, Anthony Buccieri, was being sought for questioning. Man at right is unidentified.

McGrath Rejects Reports Of Democratic Party Split

Convinced Unanimity Behind His Selection

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28—(INS)—Democratic Chairman-Designate J. Howard McGrath indicated today that he had been assured of party unanimity behind his selection as successor to Robert E. Hannegan before agreeing to accept the post.

McGrath rejected reports of a Democratic split in the wake of his nomination by Hannegan, with the "indicated approval of President Truman," to head the national committee.

The Rhode Island senator, who plans to assume his new office October 29 while retaining his Senate seat, said that rumors some Democrats were trying to force Federal Judge James P. McGranery, Philadelphia, into the chairmanship were "without foundation."

McGranery "Close Friend"

McGrath pointed out that as Solicitor General he had worked closely with McGranery, who then was an Assistant Attorney General. He said that McGranery was "a close friend and a wonderful fellow." McGrath asserted:

"I don't believe any friction will occur.

"I am convinced that the party is 100 per cent behind the recommendations of Mr. Hannegan and President Truman that I become Democratic National Chairman."

The New Deal Senator who already has stated that the "first job" is to elect the President to a full White House term, declined to comment further on the political picture. He said:

"Anything else I have to say will have to await my taking office. I am not officially chairman yet."

McGrath maintained complete silence on the boom in some Republican circles to "draft" Gen. Eisenhower for the 1948 GOP presidential nomination. He said:

Eisenhower "Draft" Seen

"I shall make no statements beyond dispelling the inter-party dissension reports, which are right up my alley at the moment because they concern my new job."

The Eisenhower boom was thudding insistently, however, in the ears of both Republican and Democratic observers.

Some GOP quarters expressed belief that an Eisenhower "draft" in the Republican convention at Philadelphia next year was "inevitable" in event of a stalemate between Ohio's Sen. Taft and New York's Gov. Dewey.

Polls showing, in at least one instance, that Eisenhower currently is more popular than President Truman, were not going unnoticed in Republican quarters.

There also was a belief in some GOP circles that the popularity upswing of Taft, due to his western tour, was hurting the chances of Dewey to recapture the presidential nomination.

President Walks To Church, Gives "Rally Day" Talk

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28—(AP)—President Truman walked eight blocks to the First Baptist Church this bright Sabbath morning and made a talk to the Sunday school children, then heard the sermon. He walked back to the White House.

Dr. Edward Hughes Pruden, the pastor, told a reporter he was "a little embarrased at first" that the President arrived for the 9:45 a. m. worship service when the children were assembled to receive their annual "Rally Day" promotion certificates in the presence of the congregation.

Mr. Truman spoke briefly to the youngsters, at the pastor's invitation, saying "you are studying the morals that will keep this country great."

Taft Not Opposed To Demo Proposal

PORTLAND, Ore., Sept. 28 (AP)—Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) today termed 'worthy of consideration" a Democratic suggestion for a "gentleman's agreement" between the White House and Congress on stopgap financial aid to Europe during the next three months.

Democratic Sens. Russell (Ga.) and McCellan (Ark.) made the proposal yesterday in Washington as one way to avoid a special session of Congress.

One of the sources of stopgap aid was suggested at the Export-Import Bank, which has $800,000,000 of uncommitted funds.

Taft, head of the Republican Senate Policy Committee, told a news conference it was his impression "the powers of the Export-Import Bank would permit" such use of its funds, although heretofore the "policy has been opposed."

"Certainly it is a proposal worthy of consideration," Taft said.

He was opposed, he added, to previous suggestions for utilization of the gold stabilization fund for such purposes.

"The Export-Import Bank certainly would be preferrable."

The "gentleman's agreement" between the Republican Congress and President Truman would be necessary because neither the Export-Import Bank, the Commodity Credit Corporation nor the RFC—as suitable money sources—was set up by Congress for the purpose of giving relief to foreign nations.

Freight Train Derailed

16 Reportedly Doomed To Die In Albania Plot

Charged U. S., Britain Involved In Scheme

BELGRADE, Sept. 28. (INS) —The Yugoslavia news agency said today that 16 Albanians have been sentenced to death in an alleged, abortive plot to land Anglo-American troops in Albania last September and overthrow the Soviet-supported regime of Enver Hoxha.

Five others received prison terms from 15 to 20 years.

Divulged Secret Data

(Tass further quoted the prosecutor as saying the defendants turned over to "foreigners" important military, economic and political information and engaged in sabotage and espionage, using "Albanian war criminals in Italy" as contacts.

(Tass claimed members of the British and American legations in Tirana promised the defendants Anglo-American troops would land in Albania as soon as conspirators seized the town of Scutari.

(The Soviet version of the Albanian charges declared the United States legation head in Tirana, who was identified only as "Fultz," summoned the defendants Bekir Sela and Sellahudin Toto for a secret meeting in June, 1945, at the beginning of the alleged conspiracy.

(Fultz was accused of taking over direction of the conspirators' activities "aimed at overthrow of the democratic system," with the moral encouragement of the British legation which was accused of urging the defendants to conduct an industrial sabotage campaign.)

U. S. Mission Withdrawn

Albania charged the conspiracy blossomed after liberation from the Nazis.

The American mission was withdrawn from Tirana last November, 10 months after a new Communist-dominated republic was proclaimed with Enver Hoxha as premier to replace the old regime of King Zog.

The United States Department gave as reason for the withdrawal the Hoxha regime's refusal to acknowledge validity of treaties concluded when King Zog was on the throne.

Earlier in 1946, Hoxha's government arrested and executed a number of key figures in the Zog regime as war criminals.

The sentences were handed down by the Albanian Supreme Court.

No Appeasement, Pearlman Asserts

BALTIMORE, Sept. 28. — (AP) —Philip Perlman, Solicitor General of the United States, said today efforts of totalitarian governments "to frighten us from abroad or penetrate from within" must be met firmly without question of appeasement.

In a speech before more than 1,000 persons attending the 57th anniversary of the founding of the Levindale Home and Infirmary, Perlman said of the present world situation:

"The physical combat is over, but the racial and religious antagonisms, the effort to achieve supremacy for ideologies destructive to individual rights and liberties, still goes on x x x.

"We have won two wars. Now we are falsely accused, when we try to help nations facing hunger and disease, of seeking to exploit them for profit. We are accused of seeking to dominate the world.

"Our motives on every international issue are questioned and criticised. We are made the victims of vicious propaganda at home and abroad, in an effort to mislead all the peoples who do not have access to the facts or who do not desire to know the facts."

The Solicitor General — a Baltimorean—declared "we must not x x x indulge in any appeasement of those who have designs against us.

"We must hold the line against the forces antagonistic to those who claim the individual right to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

Plane Hits Five Others In Emergency Landing

CHESAPEAKE, O., Sept. 28—(AP)—An Army C-47 made an emergency landing early today at the Huntington airport here and plowed into five private planes, Airport Manager Carlton Clark reported.

Blaming the accident on "inadequate lighting," Clark said none of the 14 military personnel aboard was injured.

The plane was en route from Bergstrom field at Austin, Tex., to Greenville, S. C., when it lost its course and the gasoline supply almost ran out.

Trainman Dies In Wreck

PASCO, Wash., Sept. 28 (INS)—A railroad engineer was killed and two trainmen were hurt early today when a Spokane, Portland and Seattle passenger train struck a landslide at Cliffs, Wash., 10 miles east of Wishram, Wash.

All Of Maryland Is Now In Step On Time Of Day

(By The Associated Press)

For the first time in five months all Maryland is in step on the time of the day.

Daylight time ended officially at 2 a. m. Sunday morning, bringing to an end the hour's difference that existed between various parts of that state.

Baltimore City, Annapolis, Frederick, Hagerstown and Cumberland and the majority of communities on the Western Shore went on daylight time last April. Salisbury, Cambridge and most of the rest of the Eastern Shore followed a few weeks later, as did the area contiguous to the District of Columbia.

Scattered communities, such as Hancock in Washington County, stayed on standard time.

Government May Break Into Black This Fiscal Year

Revenue Reported Coming In Faster

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28—(AP)—The government is about to break into the black on its budget for this fiscal year.

An early deficit of $1,556,500,000 piled up just before mid-September has been driven down to $67,422,000 today by a tide of quarterly tax payments that is still rolling.

Budgetwise, the government is $185,363,000 better off than at this time last year. But the current year budget goal, set by President Truman last month, is a $4,667,000,000 surplus, whereas the surplus achieved last fiscal year was only $753,787,000.

Budget Receipts Soar

Government analysts told a reporter that the budget performance so far this fiscal year, which began last July 1, is better than would appear from the persistent early-year deficit and that it is in line with the President's expectations.

Revenue is coming in better than last year, partly because tax collections made by withholding from wages are higher in this time of unprecedented high employment, and budget receipts at $9,128,676,000 are nearly $239,000,000 above this time last year.

Expenditures, at $9,196,099,204, are slightly—$7,000,000—below what they were at this time last year despite such circumstances as:

Britain Using More Of Loan

1. Britain's withdrawal of a whopping $1,300,000,000 from her loan credit in the first three months of this year, compared with her expenditure of only $400,000,000 in the same period of last year. Britain now has only $400,0000,000 left to her credit from the $3,750,000,000 loan.

2. A bookkeeping quirk that resulted in $204,000,000 being charged to the railroad retirement trust fund in this fiscal year when original schedules called for it to be charged to closing-day expenditures last year.

Public Construction Booming In Maryland

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (AP) —Public construction work in Maryland is booming.

Federal Works Agency report today showed state and local public work started in the first six months of this year more than doubled the value of such projects in the corresponding period in 1946.

New public works projects amounted to $32,989,000 in the first half of 1947 as compared with $15,745,000 in the first six months of last year, an increase of $17,244,000.

This increase of more than 100 per cent in Maryland compares with a national average increase of 43 per cent.

Of the 1947 contracts, the state let $2,920,000, counties $3,864,000 and cities $26,205,000.

Congressional Chiefs, Truman To Meet Today

Stopgap European Aid Plan Expected

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (AP) —Two key Democratic spokesmen —Sens. Connally, of Texas, and Lucas, of Illinois—minimized talk about a special session of Congress today as leading lawmakers assembled on the eve of an extraordinary White House Conference on foreign aid and the related question of high prices at home.

President Truman included Connally and Lucas along with other available congressional chieftains asked to confer here at 10 a. m. (EST) tomorrow about the twin problems of aiding friendly European nations and finding a solution to the price spiral in this country.

"I can't see how we could accomplish much by a special session at this time," Lucas acting Senate Democratic leader, told a reporter in advance of the conference. "Unless there are some facts we do not know, I'm afraid Congress would spend most of its time on politics and the 1948 election."

Stopgap Aid Plan Likely

Connally, veteran Democratic leader in foreign affairs said "I hope we can avoid a special session but I have not been informed of what is involved, other than the Marshall plan."

Other congressional sources expected Presiodent Truman, Secretary of State Marshall and other administration leaders to propose some stopgap air plan. This might be devised to provide food and monetary relief on a short-term basis until Congress is organized to tackle the complicated self-help Marshall plan calling for $22,400,000,000 or more outside aid for 16 European nations over the next four years.

Officials familiar with the problem reported tonight that Western Europe's stopgap needs for the next six months will run around $750,000,000. But none would advance an opinion as to the final figure the President will suggest.

Mr. Truman broke the aid picture into two parts last week by saying that the overall program was under study while other problems "in connection with the economic situation in Europe" are "of an emergency nature which demand immediate attention."

Congressional speculation so far centers on some proposal to utilize the government's Export-Import Bank or some other agency for a temporary fund or credit to meet food and economic needs of Italy, France and possibly Great Britain.

"Self-Help" Program Favored

If congressional leaders agreed informally on such a solution, a special session before the regular January meeting might be avoided. There was not advance indication of such agreement.

Sen. Flanders (R-Vt) said he favors a "self-help" plan and believes that "Congress eventually will enact one."

Sen. Edward V. Robertson (R-Wyo) said he found "grass roots" sentiment opposed to "any more blank checks by Congress for European aid."

Indications that Congress may attach numerous strings to any proposal came from Sen. A. Willis Robertson (D-Va), who said that any credit or funds must be met from "current revenue."

"In addition to considering the monetary size of foreign and, we must likewise consider its character," the Virginia Senator said in a statement. "The type of food furnished must be from our surpluses and not from our shortages. We cannot afford to furnish foreign nations dollars with which to compete with us and with others in a scramble for short items."

Yugoslav Troops "Handled Us With Kid Gloves," Released Yank Says

TRIESTE, Sept. 28 (AP)—Lt. William T. Van Atten, back from Yugoslav territory with two United States enlisted men after five days in captivity, said today he thought the Yugoslavs "handled us with kid gloves."

The other Americans were Pfc. Glen C. Meyer, Edgeley, N. Dak., and Pfc. Earl Hendricks, Jr., Arlington, Va. Van Atten is 24 and from East Orange, N. J.

"The Yugoslavs kept repeating to us that Russia was strong and kept pointing out pictures of Tito, Stalin, and Lenin," he said. "They only questioned us formally once, when we first got to headquarters in Goriano."

He added that he was questioned in Italian concerning very general military matters while his two men were interrogated separately.

"We couldn't understand how they could be so belligerent out there on the line and then treat us so well once we were prisoners," the lieutenant continued.

"They gave us the same food they ate—coffee, soup, sauerkraut, and lots of bread and explained the food was not better because the army lived off the land and the land was poor."

Van Atten and the members of his patrol were captured at a disputed section of the new frontier between the Free Territory and Yugoslavia. He said he could not be certain whether he crossed the line.

"Even if we were over it," he continued, "it was only five or six feet."

While gray-clad Yugoslav soldiers encircled them, Van Atten related, a Yugoslav officer with whom he had talked several times before insisted they come for a short talk with his commander about the disputed line.

Freed after an American protest, the three returned to the Free Territory under a guard of two mounted soldiers and one officer.

Lawyers Offer Aid To Grace F. Smith

Headed by former Attorney General William C. Walsh, 14 lawyers who have offices in the Liberty Trust Building have offered to assist Miss Grace F. Smith, 20, who faces a federal charge of sending threatening letters through the United States Mail.

In a letter written to United States Attorney Wayne Brooks of Federal Court, Fairmont, W. Va., the attorneys declare that Miss Smith, who operated an elevator in the Liberty Trust Building, "is entirely harmless" and offered to send at least one of their number to appear as her counsel when she is given a hearing.

Miss Smith is being held on a charge of threatening M. E. Ketchum, former warden at the West Virginia penitentiary, Moundsville, if he didn't send Mark McCauley, convicted killer of Sgt. Joseph P. Horne, West Virginia State Policeman, back to Keyser for a new trial.

"We are volunteering in this matter," the attorneys wrote, "without having any opportunity to talk to either Miss Smith or her mother, but we are advising her mother of our action and are asking the mother to notify Miss Smith.

"We are all convinced that this young lady is entirely harmless, and that the letters she may have written were the result of bad judgment and perhaps an over indulgence in reading detective thrillers, rather than any evidence of criminality on her part."

Woman Duped By Fortune Teller Found Wounded

CHICAGO, Sept. 28—(AP)—A 23-year-old mother of three lay critically wounded, a pistol bullet below her heart, today, after a fortune teller ha dduped her out of $60.

Victor Vullo, 27, driver of a laundry truck, told police that he heard a shot from the kitchen of his apartment yesterday as his youngsters rushed to greet him upon his return from work.

He said he found his wife, Nellie, 23, lying on the floor, a .45 caliber pistol in her hand. On the kitchen was a note:

"Dearest darling: x x x An old lady came here today who wanted to read my palm. She said she would take the curse off us so we could be happy.

"She told me to get all the money in the house. She would walk to the corner and pray as she went, and then she would come back.... she didn't come back."

NATS TOP BOSTON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28 (INS)—Washington captured the final game of the season from the Boston Red Sox here today 5 to 1.

Mickey Haefner of the Nats, though hit freely, was stingy with hits with runners in scoring position. Earl Johnson started for the Sox and after giving up two runs in the second, gave way to Chuck Stobbs. Box:

PITCHING HORSESHOES by Billy Rose

Last week I had a sign painter letter up a little placard which read, "Through these portals pass the most beautiful potato pancakes in the world." I figured I'd hand my Aunt Frieda a kick by tacking it up over her kitchen door.

Billy Rose

Yesterday evening I put the sign and myself in a taxi and headed for the East Side where Aunt Frieda and my Uncle Charlie (the inventor) have been living since a candy apple on a stick cost a penny.

As I climbed the three flights of their walk-up tenement, I kept sniffing for the fragrance of Aunt Frieda's cooking. I wanted to get the proper feeling of reverence in my nose. As I reached the third landing, my nostrils were assaulted by the smell of something burning—and it was like the funeral pyre of a pair of old gym socks.

I opened the door and saw the outline of my Uncle Charlie's figure through yellowish smoke. He was puffing on a pipe. "What are you burning in there?" I choked. "A death certificate?"

In front of Uncle Charlie on the parlor table was a little brownish mound of tobacco. Charlie looked up at me with the eyes of a man who had been fighting a forest fire.

"I am experimenting with science," he announced, and blew a cloud of smoke in my face.

I coughed, grabbed the back of a chair, and hung on. "That kind of warfare was outlawed by the Geneva Convention," I yelped. "What's this all about?"

"I am rich," said Uncle Charlie. "From my new invention I will make a million."

"From his new invention," hollered Aunt Frieda from the kitchen, "he will break the lease yet. The neighbors are complaining we are keeping in here a goat."

I opened the windows. "Begin at the beginning," I said.

"Two weeks ago," said Charlie, "the candy store is raising the price of my favorite brand smoking tobacco five cents. To help the President bring down high prices, I am resolving to buy various kinds tobacco and mix up my own mixture. I buy. I mix."

"And?" I asked, like an old vaudeville straight man.

"The first mixture is very interesting," said my uncle, "but lacks a little sweetness. So I am adding for ten cents maple syrup. This makes the mixture too wet. So I am adding a little cornstarch for body."

"Also," piped up Aunt Frieda, "cooking chocolate, holiday wine chopped-up zweiback and petals from the geranium plant."

"A woman's exaggeration," said Charlie. "Chocolate I never used."

"If your mixture didn't taste good," I offered, "why didn't you throw it away?"

"You must think I'm nutsy-dopey-crazy," said the inventor. "The mixture is already representing an investment of over a dollar. To protect my original investment, I must keep adding. And lucky I did, because from this is coming a great discovery."

"A tobacco that cures people of smoking?" I suggested.

"A much greater invention," said my uncle. "Better than DDT. One day, I'm noticing a strange thing. In the kitchen is flies. In the bedroom is flies. But in the parlor, where I am mixing, is no flies! I realize I am discovering an insecticide."

"Genius," said Frieda, "spelled backwards—jackass. The flies is naturally coming to the other rooms because they can't breathe good in the parlor."

"What's the difference why they go?" said Charlie. "The thing is—they go. I am labelling my preparation Bye-Bye Fly—the Humane Insecticide."

At this moment Uncle Charlie slapped himself on the neck.

"Wasn't that a fly?" I said. "I thought you told me your mixture chased them all away?"

"My mixture did," said Charlie. "But this isn't exactly my mixture. Yesterday while I am over at the coffee house, your Aunt Frieda threw my invention out with the garbage. A million dollars is somewhere in the barrels."

"Why don't you duplicate the original mixture?" I asked.

"The genius forgot what he put in it," said my Aunt Frieda.

Uncle Charlie sighed. "Again I must begin experimenting with science. But in this house an inventor gets no respect."

"Respect—no," said Aunt Frieda, coming out of the kitchen with a big platter. "Sauerbrauten—yes. Eat, eat, eat."

Walker Captures N. L. Batting Title

NEW YORK, Sept 28—(AP)—Harry (The Hat) Walker, who was traded by St. Louis to Philadelphia in early May, today won the National League batting championship with an unofficial final average of .362. It was the first time in the history of the league that brothers had captured the title. Harry's brother, Dixie Walker, Brooklyn, had won in 1944.

4 World Records Fall In Regatta

NEW MARTINSVILLE, W. Va., Sept. 28—(AP)—Four world records were shattered here today during the running of the eighth annual Ohio river regatta before a crowd estimated at 30,000 persons who lined both the West Virginia and Ohio banks of the stream.

In addition, Danny Foster, Detroit, Mich., was forced to call off his attempts for a new mark over a one-mile course because of darkness. He was shooting for the inboard record of 124.915 miles per hour set by Gar Wood at Algonac, Mich., in 1932.

Those setting new standards today in the program sponsored by the Magnolia Yacht Club and sanctioned by the American Power Boat Association were Jack Cooper, Kansas City, Mo., Franklin Foulke, Essex, Md., Edison Hedges, Wilmington, Del., and Phil Sharples, Philadelphia.

Lawyers Offer Aid To Grace F. Smith

Headed by former Attorney General William C. Walsh, 14 lawyers who have offices in the Liberty Trust Building have offered to assist Miss Grace F. Smith, 20, who faces a federal charge of sending threatening letters through the United States Mail.

In a letter written to United States Attorney Wayne Brooks of Federal Court, Fairmont, W. Va., the attorneys declare that Miss Smith, who operated an elevator in the Liberty Trust Building, "is entirely harmless" and offered to send at least one of their number to appear as her counsel when she is given a hearing.

Miss Smith is being held on a charge of threatening M. E. Ketchum, former warden at the West Virginia penitentiary, Moundsville, if he didn't send Mark McCauley, convicted killer of Sgt. Joseph P. Horne, West Virginia State Policeman, back to Keyser for a new trial.

"We are volunteering in this matter," the attorneys wrote, "without having any opportunity to talk to either Miss Smith or her mother, but we are advising her mother of our action and are asking the mother to notify Miss Smith.

"We are all convinced that this young lady is entirely harmless, and that the letters she may have written were the result of bad judgment and perhaps an over indulgence in reading detective thrillers, rather than any evidence of criminality on her part."

Woman Duped By Fortune Teller Found Wounded

CHICAGO, Sept. 28—(AP)—A 23-year-old mother of three lay critically wounded, a pistol bullet below her heart, today, after a fortune teller ha dduped her out of $60.

Victor Vullo, 27, driver of a laundry truck, told police that he heard a shot from the kitchen of his apartment yesterday as his youngsters rushed to greet him upon his return from work.

He said he found his wife, Nellie, 23, lying on the floor, a .45 caliber pistol in her hand. On the kitchen was a note:

"Dearest darling: x x x An old lady came here today who wanted to read my palm. She said she would take the curse off us so we could be happy.

"She told me to get all the money in the house. She would walk to the corner and pray as she went, and then she would come back.... she didn't come back."

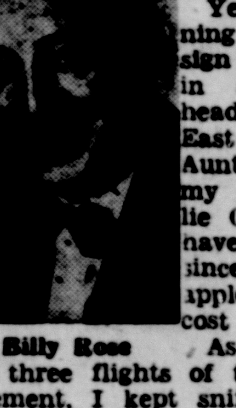
PITCHING HORSESHOES

by Billy Rose



Billy Rose

Last week I had a sign painter letter up a little placard which read, "Through these portals pass the most beautiful potato pancakes in the world." I figured I'd hand my Aunt Frieda a kick by tacking it up over her kitchen door,

Yesterday evening I put the sign and myself in a taxi and headed for the East Side where Aunt Frieda and my Uncle Charlie (the inventor) have been living since a candy apple on a stick cost a penny.

As I, climbed the three flights of their walk-up tenement, I kept sniffing for the fragrance of Aunt Frieda's cooking. I wanted to get the proper feeling of reverence in my nose. As I reached the third landing, my nostrils were assaulted by the smell of something burning—and it was like the funeral pyre of a pair of old gym socks.

I opened the door and saw the outline of my Uncle Charlie's figure through yellowish smoke. He was puffing on a pipe. "What are you burning in there?" I choked. "A death certificate?"

In front of Uncle Charlie on the parlor table was a little brownish mound of tobacco. Charlie looked up at me with the eyes of a man who had been fighting a forest fire.

"I am experimenting with science," he announced, and blew a cloud of smoke in my face.

I coughed, grabbed the back of a chair, and hung on. "That kind of warfare was outlawed by the Geneva Convention," I yelped. "What's this all about?"

"I am rich," said Uncle Charlie. "From my new invention I will make a million."

"From his new invention," hollered Aunt Frieda from the kitchen, "he will break the lease yet. The neighbors are complaining we are keeping in here a goat."

I opened the windows. "Begin at the beginning," I said.

"Two weeks ago," said Charlie, "the candy store is raising the price of my favorite brand smoking tobacco five cents. To help the President bring down high prices, I am resolving to buy various kinds tobacco and mix up my own mixture. I buy. I mix."

"And?" I asked, like an old vaudeville straight man.

"The first mixture is very interesting," said my uncle, "but lacks a little sweetness. So I am adding for ten cents maple syrup. This makes the mixture too wet. So I am adding a little cornstarch for body."

"Also," piped up Aunt Frieda, "cooking chocolate, holiday wine chopped-up zweiback and petals from the geranium plant."

"A woman's exaggeration," said Charlie. "Chocolate I never used."

"If your mixture didn't taste good," I offered, "why didn't you throw it away?"

"You must think I'm nutsy-dopey-crazy," said the inventor. "The mixture is already representing an investment of over a dollar. To protect my original investment, I must keep adding. And lucky I did, because from this is coming a great discovery."

"A tobacco that cures people of smoking?" I suggested.

"A much greater invention," said my uncle. "Better than DDT. One day, I'm noticing a strange thing. In the kitchen is flies. In the bedroom is flies. But in the parlor, where I am mixing, is no flies! I realize I am discovering an insecticide."

"Genius," said Frieda, "spelled backwards—jackass. The flies is naturally coming to the other rooms because they can't breathe good in the parlor."

"What's the difference why they go?" said Charlie. "The thing is—they go. I am labelling my preparation Bye-Bye Fly—the Humane Insecticide."

At this moment Uncle Charlie slapped himself on the neck.

"Wasn't that a fly?" I said. "I thought you told me your mixture chased them all away?"

"My mixture did," said Charlie. "But this isn't exactly my mixture. Yesterday while I am over at the coffee house, your Aunt Frieda threw my invention out with the garbage. A million dollars is somewhere in the barrels."

"Why don't you duplicate the original mixture?" I asked.

"The genius forgot what he put in it," said my Aunt Frieda.

Uncle Charlie sighed. "Again I must begin experimenting with science. But in this house an inventor gets no respect."

"Respect—no," said Aunt Frieda, coming out of the kitchen with a big platter. "Sauerbrauten—yes. Eat, eat, eat."

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 28—(AP)—The University of San Francisco Dons, passing and pounding in impressive fashion, rolled up a 37-13 victory here today over a hard fighting but outclassed University of Nevada eleven.

Walker Captures N. L. Batting Title

NEW YORK, Sept 28—(AP)—Harry (The Hat) Walker, who was traded by St. Louis to Philadelphia in early May, today won the National League batting championship with an unofficial final average of .362. It was the first time in the history of the league that brothers had captured the title. Harry's brother, Dixie Walker, Brooklyn, had won in 1944.

4 World Records Fall In Regatta

NEW MARTINSVILLE, W. Va., Sept. 28—(AP)—Four world records were shattered here today during the running of the eighth annual Ohio river regatta before a crowd estimated at 30,000 persons who lined both the West Virginia and Ohio banks of the stream.

In addition, Danny Foster, Detroit, Mich., was forced to call off his attempts for a new mark over a one-mile course because of darkness. He was shooting for the inboard record of 124.915 miles per hour set by Gar Wood at Algonac, Mich., in 1932.

Those setting new standards today in the program sponsored by the Magnolia Yacht Club and sanctioned by the American Power Boat Association were Jack Cooper, Kansas City, Mo., Franklin Foulke, Essex, Md., Edison Hedges, Wilmington, Del., and Phil Sharples, Philadelphia.

Herman Hamilton Heads Electronic Warfare Platoon

Members Will Meet Twice Each Week

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG—Herman G. Hamilton, 166 East Main Street, this city, received an appointment Saturday as officer in charge of an Electronic Warfare Platoon recently organized by the Fifth Naval Distritct, Norfolk, Va.

The platoon presently consists of nine men who will meet officially twice a week at the Frostburg headquarters, which will be housed in a small building, measuring 20 feet long, 12 feet wide and 10 feet high, now being erected in the rear of 166 East Main Street.

The building, Hamilton said, will be equipped with a large transmitter, receiver and radar gear capable of contacting points in practically every country of the world.

Platoon members will meet twice a week on Wednesdays and Thursdays and on these evenings will be required to establish regulation contact of the V-3 USNR program between Frostburg and the naval station at Norfolk. Other practice meetings will be devoted to contacting stations throughout the world.

Hamilton, who will be in charge of all meetings, is a Navy veteran of the second World War. He served nearly four years as an electronic technician in charge of 14 ships operating in the Mediterranean area during the war.

He said the local station will be an official communication point between Frostburg and Norfolk, Va. Any radio operator or technician interested in joining the platoon may obtain all necessary information from Hamilton at the Carl and Hamilton Studio, 45 East Main Street, Frostburg.

Lewis Rites Today

A funeral service or James W. Lewis, 79, retired mine worker and former employe at the Celanese plant, who died Friday night at his home, 245 Welch Hill, will be held today at 2:30 p. m., at the residence with Rev. W. D. Reese, pastor of Welsh Baptist Church, officiating. Burial will be in Allegany Cemetery.

Committee Named

The committee from Mt. Savage Volunteer Fire Company for Fire Prevention Week, October 5-11, consists of Richard Uhl, Fire Chief Joseph Carter, F. J. McDermott, James Birmingham, George Crump and John Graham. This committee will function in the area served by the Mt. Savage Volunteer Fire Company with a three-fold program of publicity, teaching and inspection.

Frostburg's Fire Prevention Week Committee will probably get the matter of inspection under way this week. It is requested that all teachers in the schools who may not know how to operate a fire extinguisher please speak to the Fire Prevention Week Committee in their area for instruction in the matter.

Persons interested in the purchase of a two and one-half gallon soda and acid fire extinguisher for public buildings or private homes should speak to Fire Chief Woodrow Layman or to any of the Fire Prevention Week Committee or to any member of the Fire Department.

Frostburg Briefs

The Ladies Social Club of the Fraternal Order of Eagles will meet tonight at 8 o'clock at the Eagles' Club, East Main and Uhl Streets.

A course in botany will be offered at Frostburg State Teachers College as an extension course with a credit of four hours. A preliminary meeting will be held Monday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock to determine whether the group prefers an evening meeting or a Saturday meeting. Interested persons, who cannot attend the preliminary meeting but wish to enroll, may write the college for detailed information.

Miss Anna B. Gray, faculty member of Frostburg State Teachers College, has announced that a class in woodcraft to be conducted at Beall High School, will be organized the first week in October when registrations will be held at the high school. The class will be formed shortly after registrations are completed. Miss Gray states that an announcement, previously published, that the classes would be held in State Teachers College, was incorrect.

PIRATES WIN FINAL

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 28 (INS)—The Pittsburgh Pirates closed out their most disastrous season in 30 years today by clubbing three Cincinnati pitchers for 13 hits, including two homers, to defeat the Reds 7-0 before 33,704 fans in Forbes Field.

Ernie (Tiny) Bonham, Yankee cast-off, stopped the Reds with two hits, and allowed only three to reach first base. He gave up no walks and hit one batter as he won his eleventh game of the season.

Ralph Kiner, trying to break his deadlock with Johnny Mize of the New York Giants for major league home run honors, singled once in four times at bat, and drove in one run. Box:

Catamounts Score Over Concord, 8-0

Safety And Touchdown Decide Tilt In Keyser

Potomac State School celebrated its home debut Saturday afternoon by defeating the Mountain Lions of Concord College in a West Virginia Collegiate Conference football game by the score of 8 to 0 before 1,500 fans at Stayman Field, Keyser.

After a scoreless first half, the Catamounts gained a 2-0 edge in the third period on an automatic safety. A bad pass from center caused the ball to roll out of the end zone for the safety. Fullback Joe Stanislawczyk, Conemaugh, Pa., whose brilliant punting kept the Lions in their own territory a greater part of the game, sprinted 32 yards for the game's lone touchdown in the final period.

Coach Lough's team reeled off 15 first downs to 7 for Concord and completed four of 12 passes for 48 yards. Two of the aerials were intercepted. Concord tried eight passes, completed three for 26 yards and had two intercepted. The Catamounts 231 net yards rushing and lost 65 yards on penalties while the Lions racked up 96 yards on ground plays and were penalized 15 yards. Lineups:

Boy Is Slightly Injured When Struck By Car

George Rosedale Has Lip Injury

By MRS. JOSEPH H. TAYLOR

KEYSER W. Va.—George Rosedale, 11, son of Mrs. Mona Rosedale, 488 South Main Street, was struck by an automobile driven by Grayson Miller, Keyser, late Saturday afternoon, and admitted to Potomac Valley Hospital for treatment.

The youth was reported as having run between two parked machines at the intersection of Potomac and Mineral Streets, directly in the path of Miller's automobile. No charges were placed against the driver. The child was treated for a laceration of the lip and returned to his home.

Dispensary For Students

Drs. Thad Huffman and Harry Coffman, who have been appointed as regular physicians for Potomac State School, have announced that they will alternate in attendance at the campus medical dispensary opened recently on the ground floor of Reynolds Hall. A suite of rooms including a consultation room and a bath have been redecorated and furnished to provide space for the dispensary.

Office hours are set temporarily for Monday through Saturday, 11 a. m. to noon, for the examination and treatment of ambulatory cases. Emergency cases will also be taken care of at any time. The dispensary is for the use of enrolled students only.

Trenter Is Arrested

Two arrests were made by City Police Friday. Clarence "Bud" Trenter, Keyser, was picked up on a charge of driving while intoxicated. He was lodged in the Mineral County jail until a date is set for his hearing.

M. R. Simmons was fined $10 for speeding on Mineral Street.

Open Membership Drive

The 1948 membership drive of Nancy Hanks Post No. 3518, Veterans of Foreign Wars, opened officially at the regular meeting of the Post Tuesday night, Adjutant L. C. Shuck announces. All veterans of foreign service and members of the Post are urged to pay their 1948 dues and attend the regular meetings of the Post held every Tuesday night at 8 o'clock, Shuck added.

Burial Squads To Practice

Burial Squads will hold drills every Tuesday night at 7 o'clock, in preparation and care for the bodies of veterans that will be returned to this country for interment.

The State Department reports that 4,000 bodies will be returned to West Virginia, and each Post, along with the American Legion and other military organizations, will have the responsibility of taking care of the military rites in each community. All veterans are urged to cooperate and to be present each Tuesday at 7 p. m. for drill.

Brief Mention

The A.T.G. Club will meet Monday evening at 8 o'clock at the home of Miss Jo Ann Deegan.

Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Shoemaker, Willow Avenue, Keyser, announce the birth of a son, born Saturday, September 27, at Memorial Hospital, Cumberland.

Timbermen Name Ankeney Manager

FROSTBURG — E. K. Ankeney Somerset, Pa., has been named acting manager by the board of directors of the newly organized Tri-State Timbermen's Association, which has announced an important meeting Tuesday evening at Arlington Inn, Grantsville, Garrett County.

The object of the new organization, Ankeney states, is to assist and advise all members of the lumber industry in the tri-state area of Maryland, West Virginia and Pennsylvania in the solution of their problems. An effort will also be made to stabilize wages and other matters in which both employers and employes are interested.

Meetings will be held from time to time in various localities where lumbermen are located in sufficient numbers to warrant this procedure.

Lumber operators desiring information concerning the purposes of the new organization may secure details from the association's office in Somerset.

Henry Holzappel, Gastonville, Pa., is president and W. O. Knotts, Morgantown, W. Va., vice president of the organization.

Lumbermen of the Frostburg area are asked to attend the meeting in Grantsville Tuesday evening.

Oldest Woman In Mt. Savage Dies

By MRS. ROSE O'ROURKE

MT. SAVAGE — Mrs. Elizabeth Markel Barth, 90, oldest woman and second oldest resident of Mt. Savage, died last night at Memorial Hospital where she was taken Saturday.

Born in nearby Pennsylvania, Mrs. Barth resided in Mt. Savage most of her life. Her husband, George Barth, a retired blacksmith of the Cumberland and Pennsylvania Railroad Company, died four years ago.

Mrs. Barth had been a very active woman for her age and spent most of her time during the summer in her flower gardens. An extensive reader, she had quite a collection of the best literary works of ancient and present day authors.

She was a member of St. Gorge's Episcopal Church and a charter member of the Senior Guild of the church.

Mrs. Barth is survived by one son, Rev. Theodore Barth, rector of Calvary Episcopal Church, Memphis, Tenn.; a stepson, John Barth, Omaha, Neb.; a stepdaughter, Mrs. Effie Massey, Florida, and two grandchildren, Theodore and Sarah White Barth, Florida.

Hiner Rites Today

A funeral service for John Hiner, 71, who died Friday at his home here, will be held this morning at 9 oclock in St. Patrick's Catholic Church. Burial will be in the church cemetery.

Bond Set At $500 For Man Held In Woman's Death

E. C. Gainer To Face Pendleton Grand Jury

By MYRTLE K. PARK

PETERSBURG, W. Va. — Ernest Charles Gainer, 34-year-old employe of a Clarksburg sign company, was released under $500 bond recently at Franklin, W. Va., to await action of the December grand jury, when he will face a charge that he was the operator of a one-ton truck that ran over and killed Mrs. Viola Luck at Mouth of Seneca a few minutes past Saturday midnight, August 9.

Gainer, a native of the Onego, Pendleton County section, who now maintains residence in Harrisonburg, Va., was arrested August 23 on a traffic violation charge by state troopers at Franklin who noticed the truck he was driving allegedly was one they sought in connection with Mrs. Luck's death.

An inspection of the under part of the truck chassis revealed human hair, blood and fragments of cloth, police said, and technologists at the Criminal Identification Bureau, Charleston, are making tests to see whether the hair, blood and cloth came from Mrs. Luck and her dress. Gainer said he did not know how the fragments happened to be on his truck and maintained he was innocent of running over the woman.

Trooper Robert Schnell and Sheriff Grant Alt, Franklin, went to Clarksburg and returned Gainer to Franklin Friday. That night he made a statement in which he said he picked up the Luck woman at the entrance to Monongahela National Forest near Log Cabin Inn, a few miles this side of Elkins, officers stated.

They added that he said the woman wanted him to take her to Petersburg, but that after driving down the Petersburg road a short distance, he came back and took her a few hundred yards toward Onego. Then he said he let her out of the truck, and went on to Bill Painter's place where he turned around and headed for Harrisonburg, according to the statement. He said when he passed Mrs. Luck she was standing by the side of the road where he let her out, and was evidently trying to thumb a ride. Gainer said she was "pretty drunk" but denied drinking any whiskey with her.

Capt. James H. Fillinger and Corp. Technician N. C. Reger, of the Criminal Identification Bureau, came to Franklin Saturday afternoon, and subjected Gainer to three lie detector tests. Results of the tests, Capt. Fillinger said, must await official study at the Charleston laboratory.

Gainer, who says he is married and has three children, lives in Harrisonburg but spends most of his time in Clarksburg, where he is employed. He said he usually came home every other week end or so to visit his wife and children, and it was on one of these trips that he picked up Mrs. Luck.

The dead woman, who was from near Clarksburg, had followed carnivals for many years and her husband was killed in a motordrome accident a few years ago.

Herman Hamilton Heads Electronic Warfare Platoon

Members Will Meet Twice Each Week

By RUDOLPH NICKEL

FROSTBURG—Herman G. Hamilton, 166 East Main Street, this city, received an appointment Saturday as officer in charge of an Electronic Warfare Platoon recently organized by the Fifth Naval District, Norfolk, Va.

The platoon presently consists of nine men who will meet officially twice a week at the Frostburg headquarters, which will be housed in a small building, measuring 20 feet long, 12 feet wide and 10 feet high, now being erected in the rear of 166 East Main Street.

The building, Hamilton said, will be equipped with a large transmitter, receiver and radar gear capable of contacting points in practically every country of the world.

Platoon members will meet twice a week on Wednesdays and Thursdays and on these evenings will be required to establish regulation contact of the V-3 USNR program between Frostburg and the naval station at Norfolk. Other practice meetings will be devoted to contacting stations throughout the world.

Hamilton, who will be in charge of all meetings, is a Navy veteran of the second World War. He served nearly four years as an electronic technician in charge of 14 ships operating in the Mediterranean area during the war.

He said the local station will be an official communication point between Frostburg and Norfolk, Va. Any radio operator or technician interested in joining the platoon may obtain all necessary information from Hamilton at the Carl and Hamilton Studio, 45 East Main Street, Frostburg.

Lewis Rites Today

A funeral service or James W. Lewis, 79, retired mine worker and former employe at the Celanese plant, who died Friday night at his home, 245 Welch Hill, will be held today at 2:30 p. m., at the residence with Rev. W. D. Reese, pastor of Welsh Baptist Church, officiating. Burial will be in Allegany Cemetery.

Committee Named

The committee from Mt. Savage Volunteer Fire Company for Fire Prevention Week, October 5-11, consists of Richard Uhl, Fire Chief Joseph Carter, F. J. McDermott, James Birmingham, George Crump and John Graham. This committee will function in the area served by the Mt. Savage Volunteer Fire Company with a three-fold program of publicity, teaching and inspection.

Frostburg's Fire Prevention Week Committee will probably get the matter of inspection under way this week. It is requested that all teachers in the schools who may not know how to operate a fire extinguisher please speak to the Fire Prevention Week Committee in their area for instruction in the matter.

Persons interested in the purchase of a two and one-half gallon soda and acid fire extinguisher for public buildings or private homes should speak to Fire Chief Woodrow Layman or to any of the Fire Prevention Week Committee or to any member of the Fire Department.

Frostburg Briefs

The Ladies Social Club of the Fraternal Order of Eagles will meet tonight at 8 o'clock at the Eagles' Club, East Main and Uhl Streets.

A course in botany will be offered at Frostburg State Teachers College as an extension course with a credit of four hours. A preliminary meeting will be held Monday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock to determine whether the group prefers an evening meeting or a Saturday meeting. Interested persons, who cannot attend the preliminary meeting but wish to enroll, may write the college for detailed information.

Miss Anna B. Gray, faculty member of Frostburg State Teachers College, has announced that a class in woodcraft to be conducted at Beall High School, will be organized the first week in October when registrations will be held at the high school. The class will be formed shortly after registrations are completed. Miss Gray states that an announcement, previously published, that the classes would be held in State Teachers College, was incorrect.

Safety And Touchdown Decide Tilt In Keyser

Potomac State School celebrated its home debut Saturday afternoon by defeating the Mountain Lions of Concord College in a West Virginia Collegiate Conference football game by the score of 8 to 0 before 1,500 fans at Stayman Field, Keyser.

After a scoreless first half, the Catamounts gained a 2-0 edge in the third period on an automatic safety. A bad pass from center caused the ball to roll out of the end zone for the safety. Fullback Joe Stanislawczyk, Conemaugh, Pa., whose brilliant punting kept the Lions in their own territory a greater part of the game, sprinted 32 yards for the game's lone touchdown in the final period.

Coach Lough's team reeled off 15 first downs to 7 for Concord and completed four of 12 passes for 48 yards. Two of the aerials were intercepted. Concord tried eight passes, completed three for 26 yards and had two intercepted. The Catamounts 231 net yards rushing and lost 65 yards on penalties while the Lions racked up 96 yards on ground plays and were penalized 15 yards. Lineups:

Former Resident Dies

Mrs. Jean Robertson Cuthbertson, 63, a former Lonaconing resident, died Friday afternoon at her home in McDonald, O., relatives here have been informed.

Born in Lonaconing, Mrs. Cuthbertson was a daughter of the late David and Elizabeth Robertson. She and her husband, Gordon Cuthbertson, moved to Ohio about 1925.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Cuthbertson is survived by two sons, Gordon, also of McDonald; and Ernest, Fresno, Calif.; two sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Woods, McDonald, and Mrs. Mary Lyons, Douglas Avenue, Lonaconing; two brothers, William and Harvey Robertson, both of Lonaconing; and seven grandchildren.

A funeral service was held Saturday afternoon in McDonald Methodist Church. The body arrived here early yesterday morning and was taken to the Lyons home, where a funeral service will be held today at 2 p. m.

Rev. John E. Stacks, pastor of First Methodist Church here, will officiate, and interment will be in Oak Hill Cemetery.

Boy Is Slightly Injured When Struck By Car

George Rosedale Has Lip Injury

By MRS. JOSEPH H. TAYLOR

KEYSER W. Va.—George Rosedale, 11, son of Mrs. Mona Rosedale, 488 South Main Street, was struck by an automobile driven by Grayson Miller, Keyser, late Saturday afternoon, and admitted to Potomac Valley Hospital for treatment.

The youth was reported as having run between two parked machines at the intersection of Potomac and Mineral Streets, directly in the path of Miller's automobile. No charges were placed against the driver. The child was treated for a laceration of the lip and returned to his home.

Dispensary For Students

Drs. Thad Huffman and Harry Coffman, who have been appointed as regular physicians for Potomac State School, have announced that they will alternate in attendance at the campus medical dispensary opened recently on the ground floor of Reynolds Hall. A suite of rooms including a consultation room and a bath have been redecorated and furnished to provide space for the dispensary.

Office hours are set temporarily for Monday through Saturday, 11 a. m. to noon, for the examination and treatment of ambulatory cases. Emergency cases will also be taken care of at any time. The dispensary is for the use of enrolled students only.

Trenter Is Arrested

Two arrests were made by City Police Friday. Clarence "Bud" Trenter, Keyser, was picked up on a charge of driving while intoxicated. He was lodged in the Mineral County jail until a date is set for his hearing.

M. R. Simmons was fined $10 for speeding on Mineral Street.

Open Membership Drive

The 1948 membership drive of Nancy Hanks Post No. 3518, Veterans of Foreign Wars, opened officially at the regular meeting of the Post Tuesday night, Adjutant L. C. Shuck announces. All veterans of foreign service and members of the Post are urged to pay their 1948 dues and attend the regular meetings of the Post held every Tuesday night at 8 o'clock, Shuck added.

Burial Squads To Practice

Burial Squads will hold drills every Tuesday night at 7 o'clock, in preparation and care for the bodies of veterans that will be returned to this country for interment.

The State Department reports that 4,000 bodies will be returned to West Virginia, and each Post, along with the American Legion and other military organizations, will have the responsibility of taking care of the military rites in each community. All veterans are urged to cooperate and to be present each Tuesday at 7 p. m. for drill.

Timbermen Name Ankeney Manager

FROSTBURG — E. K. Ankeney Somerset, Pa., has been named acting manager by the board of directors of the newly organized Tri-State Timbermen's Association, which has announced an important meeting Tuesday evening at Arlington Inn, Grantsville, Garrett County.

The object of the new organization, Ankeney states, is to assist and advise all members of the lumber industry in the tri-state area of Maryland, West Virginia and Pennsylvania in the solution of their problems. An effort will also be made to stabilize wages and other matters in which both employers and employes are interested.

Meetings will be held from time to time in various localities where lumbermen are located in sufficient numbers to warrant this procedure.

Lumber operators desiring information concerning the purposes of the new organization may secure details from the association's office in Somerset.

Henry Holzappel, Gastonville, Pa., is president and W. O. Knotts, Morgantown, W. Va., vice president of the organization.

Lumbermen of the Frostburg area are asked to attend the meeting in Grantsville Tuesday evening.

Oldest Woman In Mt. Savage Dies

By MRS. ROSE O'ROURKE

MT. SAVAGE — Mrs. Elizabeth Markel Barth, 90, oldest woman and second oldest resident of Mt. Savage, died last night at Memorial Hospital where she was taken Saturday.

Born in nearby Pennsylvania, Mrs. Barth resided in Mt. Savage most of her life. Her husband, George Barth, a retired blacksmith of the Cumberland and Pennsylvania Railroad Company, died four years ago.

Mrs. Barth had been a very active woman for her age and spent most of her time during the summer in her flower gardens. An extensive reader, she had quite a collection of the best literary works of ancient and present day authors.

She was a member of St. Gorge's Episcopal Church and a charter member of the Senior Guild of the church.

Mrs. Barth is survived by one son, Rev. Theodore Barth, rector of Calvary Episcopal Church, Memphis, Tenn.; a stepson, John Barth, Omaha, Neb.; a stepdaughter, Mrs. Effie Massey, Florida, and two grandchildren, Theodore and Sarah White Barth, Florida.

Hiner Rites Today

A funeral service for John Hiner, 71, who died Friday at his home here, will be held this morning at 9 oclock in St. Patrick's Catholic Church. Burial will be in the church cemetery.

Bond Set At $500 For Man Held In Woman's Death

E. C. Gainer To Face Pendleton Grand Jury

By MYRTLE K. PARK

PETERSBURG, W. Va. — Ernest Charles Gainer, 34-year-old employe of a Clarksburg sign company, was released under $500 bond recently at Franklin, W. Va., to await action of the December grand jury, when he will face a charge that he was the operator of a one-ton truck that ran over and killed Mrs. Viola Luck at Mouth of Seneca a few minutes past Saturday midnight, August 9.

Gainer, a native of the Onego, Pendleton County section, who now maintains residence in Harrisonburg, Va., was arrested August 23 on a traffic violation charge by state troopers at Franklin who noticed the truck he was driving allegedly was one they sought in connection with Mrs. Luck's death.

An inspection of the under part of the truck chassis revealed human hair, blood and fragments of cloth, police said, and technologists at the Criminal Identification Bureau, Charleston, are making tests to see whether the hair, blood and cloth came from Mrs. Luck and her dress. Gainer said he did not know how the fragments happened to be on his truck and maintained he was innocent of running over the woman.

Trooper Robert Schnell and Sheriff Grant Alt, Franklin, went to Clarksburg and returned Gainer to Franklin Friday. That night he made a statement in which he said he picked up the Luck woman at the entrance to Monongahela National Forest near Log Cabin Inn, a few miles this side of Elkins, officers stated.

They added that he said the woman wanted him to take her to Petersburg, but that after driving down the Petersburg road a short distance, he came back and took her a few hundred yards toward Onego. Then he said he let her out of the truck, and went on to Bill Painter's place where he turned around and headed for Harrisonburg, according to the statement. He said when he passed Mrs. Luck she was standing by the side of the road where he let her out, and was evidently trying to thumb a ride. Gainer said she was "pretty drunk" but denied drinking any whiskey with her.

Capt. James H. Pillinger and Corp. Technician N. C. Reger, of the Criminal Identification Bureau, came to Franklin Saturday afternoon, and subjected Gainer to three lie detector tests. Results of the tests, Capt. Pillinger said, must await official study at the Charleston laboratory.

Gainer, who says he is married and has three children, lives in Harrisonburg but spends most of his time in Clarksburg, where he is employed. He said he usually came home every other week end or so to visit his wife and children, and it was on one of these trips that he picked up Mrs. Luck.

The dead woman, who was from near Clarksburg, had followed carnivals for many years and her husband was killed in a motordrome accident a few years ago.

Demonstrations Against Taft Not American-Made

Senator Robert H. Taft's journey along the Pacific Coast, to sound out sentiment on the presidential campaign has been marked by a series of demonstrations by hoodlums parading under the name of union labor. Pickets, carrying insulting signs, have paraded before entrances to halls and hotels in which Mr. Taft was to speak or where he was billeted during his stay in various cities. Banners bearing such slogans as "Rat Taft" and "Hitler, Mussolini, Tojo and Taft" have been carried by the pickets. Missiles have been thrown.

Like campaigning, picketing is an institution well defined by American tradition. But a new note is being introduced into both of them. It is the note foreign to America. It violates all our principles of fair play. This note is the use of picketing as a means of political action and intimidation. It has been used that way in certain European countries for a long time.

Picketing—peacefully, that is—is a proper and lawful weapon long used by organized labor to help win disputes with employers. But more and more it is being perverted and abused through use on all sorts of occasions. Communists picketed the White House in behalf of Hitler up to the time Hitler attacked Russia. Public men, congressional hearings, civic groups and many other individuals and organizations have been picketed in recent years in behalf of all sorts of causes. Picketing has been made cheap and commonplace by those who use it as a form of mob action and intimidation.

Let it be said that those tactics do not spring from the desires of American Unionists. They are the work of the Communists and their fellow-travelers who are trying to seize the labor movement for their own ends. They are of alien birth and inspiration. They are merely a little forerunner of what the Communists would like to do—and would do—if they could get away with it. They are off the same bolt of cloth which in Bulgaria, a day or so ago, led to the hanging of the leader of the opposition political party.

They are part of the spirit which in certain European countries makes a dissenting vote a matter of peril of violence or death. They are of the same spirit which allows only one party in Russia. They are just a little taste of what the Communists have in mind for America—come the revolution.

Of course, the cruel part of the campaign against Senator Taft is that it is being carried on in the name of organized labor—in the name of 15,000,000 men and women who are decent and fair-minded American citizens.

This abuse of picketing should emphasize to union men and women the fact that they, above all others, are menaced by Communist infiltration. That they have more to gain than anybody else by stopping the misuse of their name and their institutions by people whose sole interest in unionism is as a tool to do the work of a foreign master.

The glory of our system of politics has been that an aspirant for public office was entitled to be heard —even if you didn't like him or his policies. Whatever one may think of Senator Taft or what he advocates, he has a right to a decent hearing.

The wise boys in Washington continue to talk about the "foreseeable future," without indicating in which direction they are looking.

Retailer Blues

In this price boom cycle the retailers of America are having their troubles. Marked up price tags lack much of being undiluted gravy for them.

A nationwide survey shows that while dollar sales are approximately equal to last year, unit sales are down 5 to 15 per cent. The consumer hasn't the money to meet rising costs.

As unit sales decline, the retailer is adopting a policy of caution. Inventories in many cases are only one-half of the figures they totaled a year ago. But this doesn't solve the problem because margins of profit are being reduced.

Often the manufacturer will raise an item and insist that the retailer hold to the former price tag. Retailers themselves are holding their mark-ups as low as possible in an effort to avert buyer resistance. Items that soar sharply frequently are boycotted by consumers.

While this is going on and profit margins shrink, the cost of operating a retail store continues to climb. Such items as selling, delivering and warehousing have mounted 10 to 20 per cent in the last year.

Retailers would welcome lower price levels as conducive to greater volume of turnover and more profitable operation. But, as one of them says, how can manufacturers lower prices when the unions demand a raise every six months?

The entire country is crying for price stability. When it comes it is to be hoped it isn't in reverse, shoving far into deflationary ground.

Dividing the Fort Knox gold between all the peoples of the world would give each person $10. But Americans already have $10 if they haven't purchased a steak lately.

Potlikker, They Mean

One way to beat the high cost of living, says the Department of Agriculture, is to consume the juice that remains in the pot after greens are cooked. It is "rich and inexpensive source of minerals and vitamins. The old Southern custom of serving pot liquor as well as the greens insures against loss of soluble nutrients."

That's a tip, even if the Yankee who wrote it didn't know how to spell potlikker. Take turnip greens, for preference. Simmer them gently in enamel ware with a plump cut of pork taken low down on the hog. Serve the potlikker steaming, with plenty of unsweetened corn pone to dunk. If it doesn't taste better than you expect, perhaps you've been eating high on the hog too long.

Huey Long, who had dangerous political ideas, was a sound man on potlikker. He sang its praises everywhere, and introduced it to some of his northern colleagues. It is good to see that the Department of Agriculture is catching up with him.

Food expert says people should eat candy instead of meat, which will be good news to the young fry.

British get 20 cents worth of meat a week. Over here that would be one whiff.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

SAFEGUARDING PREMATURE BABIES

OF the approximately 3,000,000 babies born each year, 5 per cent, or about 150,000, are premature. These early arrivals are handicapped from the start and nearly half do not survive. Since less than two per cent, or 60,000, of full term babies die, we see that almost 50 per cent of the total mortalities in infants are due to prematurity. In 1945, the process held ninth place in deaths from all causes among the general population.

The little tikes usually weigh less than five and one-half pounds at birth and have difficulty in adjusting to a new environment. They have been denied the privilege of continuing to exist as parasites within the uterus and are now on their own, and what happens from this point on depends upon the next pitch. Furthermore, the reason many were born ahead of time was because the mother was ill or suffering from other abnormalities. As a result, labor may have been complicated or, in delivery, anesthetics or operative procedures were required.

The excessive mortality rate does not exist everywhere and is considerably lower in communities where special programs have been arranged for the care of these totas. To a great extent, their fate hangs on what is done during the first 48 hours; consequently, a birth of this type represents a real emergency. The child should be placed immediately in a sterile, warmed, cotton blanket and carried to a heated crib or incubator where oxygen can be administered. Stimulants may be necessary to encourage breathing and care must be taken to remove mucus from the respiratory passageways. Meanwhile, physical defects are investigated because they are most likely to occur in prematures.

Thereafter they must be watched like a hawk, preferably by nurses specially trained along this line. Any irregularities in color, changes in respiration and stools, or distension of the abdomen are reported immediately. Occasionally, breathing ceases and stimulants or artificial respiration must be given at once. Since these babies are extremely susceptible to bacterial invasion, everything is done to ward off infections. A strict aseptic technic is followed and no one with a cold is allowed to come near them.

The hands of the attendants must be washed and scrubbed periodically and physicians who examine the youngsters must wear masks. Some nurseries are equipped with ultraviolet light to sterilize the air; at the first sign of impetigo, penicillin is administered; pneumonia is suspected should a slight nasal discharge or cough appear; and diarrhea is closely guarded against.

During the first week, small feedings are given at frequent intervals via nipple, tube, or medicine dropper. Breast feeding is allowed only if they are strong enough to take nourishment in this way. The physician will decide whether human, half-skim, or evaporated milk is indicated as each has certain merits. By the time the child gains a few pounds, he has passed most of the dangers and is ready to begin life on a par with his huskier brothers and sisters.

With special care, more prematures can be saved. In the future, the problem will probably be attacked from the maternal side. If more pregnancies could continue to full term, there would be a marked decrease in infant mortality.

THE GAPES

L. G. writes: I yawn 10 to 15 times an hour. Is this dangerous?

REPLY

The phenomenon is probably a habit pattern that is more annoying than serious. On the other hand, examination is suggested since acidosis or other disorder may be to blame.

CLOSE-SET OPTICS

V. M. G. writes: If the eyes are too close together, is there any way that they can be set further apart?

REPLY

I can think of several procedures but they are too brutal. Plastic surgery could not be done as the eyes are set in bony sockets which cannot be moved.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

The mighty arm of education will soon be raised against the lowly cockroach and kindred household pests. Penn State College is offering a new course demonstrating the latest technique in eliminating troublesome pests.

When the course first started, the school had a little trouble. The only ones who enrolled were a couple of anteaters.

But they have a wonderful new idea for eliminating pests. When they infest your house—move.

Of course, the graduates don't receive diplomas—instead, they get flit guns.

And everybody graduates with a degree—DDT.

This being a new course at the college everyone started from scratch.

Those specializing in ants have to do their homework on picnics.

For exercise all the students play badminton with fly swatters.

My brother is the smartest one in the class. My father told him all about the birds and the bees—and he's been going steady with several insects all summer.

The class has its problems though. The termites keep coming in at night and stealing the desks.

And the cockroaches are organizing to protest—why did they have to hold the first meeting at my house?

I enrolled in the course but I had to quit. They told us the way to get rid of the nation's worst household pest was to turn off the radio on Tuesday nights.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—The British Secret Service, recognized as one of the most efficient in the world, has just submitted a confidential and highly important report to the British Foreign Office regarding the inner debates of the Soviet Politburo—the 14-man council which really rules Russia.

This British report indicates that the Soviet Union has just made a historic decision, namely to give up all pretense of friendship with the United States.

The report, which goes into detail regarding the new Soviet policy, also reveals:

1. That Stalin apparently was reluctant to go along with the change toward the USA but was overruled.

2. That Russia will now intensively woo the Arabs, using the partition of Palestine as a weapon to strengthen Russia's position in the oil-rich Near East.

3. That Russian strategy in Europe will be to defeat the Marshall plan and create as much European chaos as possible.

This column has been able to obtain a copy of the confidential British report, and because of its great importance to the American public, publishes herewith a summary of its most pertinent parts. In order to prevent disclosure of secret diplomatic codes, the text has been partially paraphrased. It follows:

USA-USSR Friendship Written Off

"The Soviet authorities have now reached several decisive decisions, following an extended series of plenums of the Political Bureau in August and September.

"It has now been decided by the policy makers of the Kremlin that the United States is to be written off as a possible friendly power.

"The Soviet government has decided that only the coldest type of formal diplomatic relations will be continued between Moscow and Washington. These relations will be purely pro forma. No further expensive or lavish efforts will be undertaken to influence American public opinion.

"Propaganda efforts will be directed solely at using the United States as a sample of the evil influence of a 'resurgent American imperialism' to be used, according to the new Agitators Handbook, as the theme for all Russian opinion-making efforts.

"The Russian leadership has decided to concentrate its forces in the labour movements of Western Europe in order to consolidate the entire continent (of Europe) under Moscow domination.

The threat of atomic war from the United States is to be used as a fear propaganda weapon designed to keep the peoples of Western Eurpe too tensed to adequately perform their daily task on an efficient, planned long-range basis.

"A combination of economic chaos, political confusion and psychological fear is judged by the Kremlin as the proper recipe for successfully conquering Europe without direct use of armed force in the next 12 months.

Wooing The Arabs

"It is judged likely that the Soviet government will now make increased impassioned efforts to develop new and stronger ties with the Arab nations of the Middle East. This will be done through negotiation by Soviet diplomats and secret agents travelling through Lebanon, Syria, Egypt, Saudi Arabia, Afghanistan, Iran and Iraq. Russian diplomats at the United Nations will conform with this pattern in negotiations concerning Palestine.

"Our informants report that at the recent Kremlin conversations only slight objections were encountered to the new strategy and tactics outlined by Mr. Molotov. Mr. Josef Stalin is reported to have reluctantly assented to the new position. Mr. Vishinsky, the Acting Chief Soviet Delegate to the United Nations did not participate in the talks. He is not a member of the Political Bureau.

"The so-called Marshall Plan advanced by the United States figured strongly in the discussion. Mr. Molotov and Mr. Laurenti Beria, explained their positions in effect as follows:

"If the 16 powers who have joined in the Marshall Plan are permitted to wrestle with their problems alone, inevitable contradictions of capitalism will prevent their unity. However, it was pointed out, that if the sixteen powers were joined in the Marshall Plan by the Soviet group of nations, they would be able to abandon their differences, thus establishing a unity against the Soviet powers which might make the Marshall Plan succeed.

"Congress Won't Back Marshall Plan"—Molotov.

"Mr. Molotov, in his report, said his information indicated that the American Congress would never vote billions for a Marshall Plan. He believes, he said, that America is on the road back to isolation and would not back a powerful anti-Russian coalition with cash and weapons if the people of the United States felt war was a possible outcome.

"The Soviet Minister for Foreign Affairs also held the view that his government's propaganda efforts would be far superior to that of the American group throughout the world.

"It was also agreed in the conversations that Mr. Stalin is to refrain from making any further optimistic speeches or gestures towards the United States as has been his habit since the end of the last great conflict.

Thus the decision implies a united Soviet policy of vigorously pursuing its dynamic offensive for a Communist Europe on a united, determined basis.

"Soviet overnment hopes Togliatti in Italy and Thorez in France will be able to force Communist reentry into present governments, preferably in high policy-making positions so as to enable them to control use of Marshall Plan funds. By this, the Russians hope to be able to intimidate the American Congress into withholding funds from governments which contain powerful Communist representation.

"Russia wants Belgian Communists to step up propaganda against Belgian-American uranium agreements which give the United States a monopoly on uranium ore from the Belgian Congo.

"The Politburo proposes to concentrate its anti-British fire on Bevin and Churchill, but keep up appearance of utmost friendship for the British people, being careful not to offend the United Kingdom in any way."

INSIDE WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28—(CP)—President Truman finds himself in the middle of the toughest squeeze play of his White House career as the related issues of foreign aid and high domestic prices boil toward an inevitable crisis in coming months.

President Truman

White House aides and the top echelon of the administration are busily at work trying to develop a program which will strike a balance between spiraling food and other prices and the necessity of maintaining European governments to keep them from chaos and Communism.

Any course to be pursued will require Congressional action unless the chief executive decides the situation is too explosive to bring it up for solution. But inaction, the responsible capital sources believe, may well result either in a runaway domestic inflation or a disintegration of pro-democratic governments in western Europe—possibly both.

Mr. Truman has been long committed to a program of American-supported relief for Europe's ailing economy. Should Congress fail to back his policy, it is likely that commodity prices would halt their upward climb — probably drop sharply to relieve the present clamor against the high cost of living.

The long-term cost of such solution, however, might well be the establishment of an entirely new balance of power lineup in Europe, with Russia in control of the heavy side of the international scale.

Powerful Political Whirlpools and eddies are churning in the wake of the abortive Eisenhower-for-president boom, disavowed by the Army chief of staff, but thundering louder day by day in Republican circles.

Should a Taft-Dewey stalemate or any other combination of the political numbers result in an Eisenhower "draft" at the GOP national convention next year, the result would be an almost certain "draft" of Defense Secretary James Forrestal as President Truman's running mate.

Obviously, the Democrats would feel that they must counter an Eisenhower ticket with a man whose war record was almost as brilliant. The Democrats will claim Forrestal's record as wartime Undersecretary, then Secretary of the Navy, is as distinguished as Eisenhower's.

Forrestal, in event of an Eisenhower nomination, will have no choice but to run with Truman. He will be told it is his duty. At present, Forrestal is content to be the nation's first defense secretary, but an Eisenhower nomination would change all that.

Strong feeling now exists in the GOP that if "Ike" is "drafted" to head the ticket, either Minnesota's former Gov. Harold Stassen or California's Gov. Earle Warren must be his running mate.

Stassen is believed willing to run with Eisenhower. Should Warren decline, certain GOP elements would go after Speaker Joe Martin.

Senator Elmer Thomas (D), Okla., has returned from Europe convinced that the world would be better off economically if all countries adopted the gold ounce as the monetary unit.

He says the problem now is very much like that of the 13 states after the Revolutionary war. Each had its own type of money. He says some states used nails, others tobacco, still others wampum.

They had trouble because states using nails could not get wampum to trade with wampum states. They cured their troubles by adopting the same standard of money — the dollar.

Thomas declares that if all nations adopted the gold ounce as a standard, European countries would not have the "dollar shortage" ailment from which they now suffer.

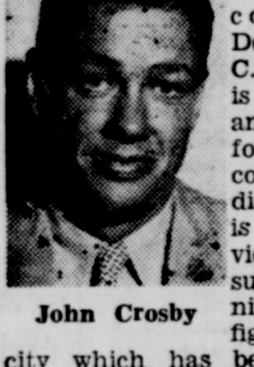
The senator has laid his proposal before the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization.

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

Success Story in Seven Figures

Radio stations, I find, are reflections of the community in which they are located and take on after a time the personality of the community. In Detroit WJR, the C.B.S. outlet here, is an excellent example of this form of protective coloration. As radio stations go, it is violently individualist; it is a success story running into seven figures; and, in a city which has been torn many times by racial and religious hatreds, it was the mouthpiece for the most controversial racial and religious spokesman radio ever produced.



John Crosby

WJR has a couple of other distinctions which mark it off from other radio stations. It is one of the few, possibly the only radio station in the country, owned by seven hundred stockholders; it is certainly the only radio station whose controlling stockholder has at times forbidden mention of President Truman. This last named distinction, incidentally, comes perilously close to violating the Federal Communications Commission's ruling against editorializing on the part of radio stations.

The controlling interest in WJR is owned by George A. — better known as Dick—Richards, a man whose racial, religious and political convictions are alarming even to the most right-wing elements in Detroit. Richards is a man with a Midas touch whose business acumen, if nothing else, is greatly respected here.

When he owned the Detroit Lions football team which he picked up for buttons, as the saying goes here, and sold for a great deal more than that, he used to call Detroit from California before their games and exhort each player individually to get in there and fight.

He has also been known to call his radio commentators long distance to impress upon them the necessity for lighting into Communism whether or not the news warranted it. When the Detroit Symphony was tottering financially, as symphonies everywhere are wont to do, a group of prominent Detroit citizens, Richards among them, banded together in an attempt to save it.

Richards clambered to his feet at this meeting and declared: "You want to know how I'd save the Detroit Symphony? I'd fire Ossip Gabrilo-witsch (son-in-law of Mark Twain and conductor of the Symphony), I wouldn't have any regular conductors, only guest conductors, and the first guest conductor would be Cab Calloway." This lurid experiment was never attempted.

Despite the idiosyncrasies of its controlling stockholders, WJR was and still is in many ways a great radio station, largely through the efforts of Leo Fitzpatrick, one of the best liked and most respected figures both in Detroit and national radio circles. Richards who is primarily a financier rather than a broadcaster, left the management of the station in Fitzpatrick's hands.

Fitzpatrick is a former reporter on "The Kansas City Star" who got into radio more or less by accident. In the early '20's, "The Star" dispatched him to New York to write some feature stories on that new novelty, radio. This series automatically made him an expert in the field and, when "The Star" founded a small station of its own, Fitzpatrick was made its manager. "I didn't know a heterodyne from an iodine," he confessed.

Fitzpatrick was announcer, manager and, among other things, the "Merry Old Chief" or master of ceremonies of the Kansas City Nighthawks (later known as Coon-Sanders Orchestra) whose fame soon resounded through the Mid-West. The Jewett Company, which then owned WJR, heard of the young man and offered him $6,000 a year, about twice as much as he was making with "The Star," to come to Detroit.

Six months after he arrived, the Jewett Company went bankrupt. Fitzpatrick and Richards borrowed $90,000 to buy the station, which is valued at current market rates at seven and a half million dollars. They paid off their loans out of the first year's earnings. Fitzpatrick, who expended twenty years, a prodigious amount of effort but not one red cent in cash on WJR, recently sold his 30 per cent interest. The price: two and one half million dollars, which is peanuts by Detroit success standards but is still considered a nice haul in broadcasting circles.

(This is the first of two articles on WJR in Detroit).

Baering Down On The News

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

How about going back to black market days when extortion was economy. I know there were two prices on everything. But they didn't add them together.

I know there are laws against it. But the law is like salt on the table. Always there in plain view. But you have to shake it up to get it.

In ratio to the garroting of the ultimate consumer I hope to hark back to 1945 when things were merely impossible.

Do you know in the package stores they even have cellophane on the sniffs?

That fellow Vishinsky sure opened a swell keg of wolf chatter. If he talked five minutes like that in Moscow he would be dead four of them.

It has been Stalin's aim to gimmick up the United Nations from the opening gun. Joe may be beating us to the punch. But he is leading with his chin.

It was American supplies that saved Russia when its future was a combined bruise of a black yesterday and a blue tomorrow.

Now Russia turns on us like an ingrown toenail. Well, the next time we feed the world we will not include the silverware.

THESE DAYS

By George E. Sokolsky

The Freedom Pledge

I have before me a circular issued in connection with the Freedom Train. It says: "Freedom is everybody's job!," ond then announces the celebration of "Rededication Week." The public is invited to visit the Freedom Train—Admission Free—to see the Declaration of Independence, Bill of Rights, Emancipation Proclamation and 100 other historic decuments.

Then it recites "The Freedom Pledge," which follows:

"I am an American, a free American
Free to speak—without fear
Free to worship my own God
Free to stand for what I think right
Free to oppose what I believe wrong
Free to choose those who govern my country
This heritage of freedom I pledge to uphold
For myself and all mankind."

It is "The Freedom Pledge" that I want to discuss today. It seems to me to omit too much—it omits the Flag and the Commission. When I was a boy, the pledge was worded this way:

I pledge allegiance to the flag and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

We used to say that every day at school. Then we saluted the flag and sang "The Star Spangled Banner."

In recent years the words "of the United States of America" were included to make sure that everybody knows which country it meant. In my day, nobody had any doubts about that. We only knew one country. We only loved one country. We were not One Worldish or Two Worldish. Simply, we were Americans.

In 1918, William Tyler Page wrote a piece called "The American Creed," which was accepted by the House of Representatives. I think this is a better statement of American principles than appears on the Freedom Train circular. It reads:

"I believe in the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people, for the people; whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a republic; a sovereign nation of many sovereign states; a perfect union, one and inseperable; established upon those principles of freedom, equality, justice, and humanity for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes: I therefore believe it is my duty to my country to love it; to support its Constitution; to obey its laws, to respect its flag, and to defend it against all enmies."

That is very complete and understandable and leaves no room for any doubt. It is a take-it-or-leave-it statement and anybody who cannot take it, has no place in this country.

At any rate, the Freedom Train circular should be revised to include a pledge to the Flag of this country, to its history and traditions. It should contain a pledge to uphold and maintain the Constitution of the United States, including its Bill of Rights, which is the foundation of our liberties and without which we might readily become the slaves of a tyrant, as has happened to so many millions of human beings during the past quarter of a century. Without even a casual mention of the Constittition. rededication means nothing. To what is one to be rededicated?

Whoever wrote the Freedom Train pledge missed the spirit of his task. It is not that an American is "free to oppose what I believe wrong." An American is free to speak or write his opposition to the Constitution of the United States; he is free to hold mass meetings or to petition the Congress for redress of grievances. He is free to oppose evils and to support the good.

But no American, no matter how much he may believe it to be wrong, is free to take an overt step to overthrow this government, to change its form, to abridge the rights of the people, to make it subservient to a foreign dictator

In a word, no American is free to be a Fifth Columnist for a foreign power, to join in an international conspuiracy to abolisth the Constitution. No American is free to oppose America, although he might object to a few politicians who hold office.

The Freedom Train pledge needs rewriting to make it American.

Five Reasons Are Put Forth As Reasons For High Farm Prices

By ROGER W. BABSON

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 28 — During the past 24 hours I have been flying over the great farming area of the Central West. I have not only seen things with my eyes, but also heard things with my ears.

Let me first say that farmers are not being fooled by these high prices. They know that $2.90 for wheat and $2.65 for corn is not going to hold. They remember that, throughout all U. S. history, only during and directly after wars, have farmers made much money. Moreover, the wise ones are now using their profits to get out of debt, to buy for cash new machinery, and lay up a good bank balance for the future.

They also tell me that although farm prices rise gradually during boom time, yet when prices fall, they collapse all at once. This is because farmers get panic stricken when they see prices begin to fall and all farmers try to dump at once. They admit they are now playing the same game with wheat and corn as investors, in 1929, played with stocks and bonds.

Reasons For High Prices

(1) Exports to Europe. During 1946 more than 15,000,000 tons of food were shipped to Europe. Heavy movements of foodstuffs to Europe will continue due to its poor crop condtions.

(2) POOR U. S. WEATHER CONDITIONS. The American grain harvest will be 15,000,000 tons under normal, due to spring floods and unsatisfactory growing conditions, with a constantly increasing population.

(3) WASTEFUL AMERICAN EATING HABITS. Americans have always been the most wasteful people in the world when it comes to food consumption. High consumer income has increased this wastefulness.

(4) PUTTING SO MUCH GRAIN INTO LIQUOR. The eight billion dollar liquor business consumes huge quantities of grain for brewing of alcoholic beverages. Despite starvation abroad, this "non-essential" industry continues uninterrupted in the production of liquor.

(5) INCRASE IN THE CURRENCY FROM $7,000,000,000 to $27,000,000,000. The tremendous increase in currency since before the war has greatly stimulated the power of the American public to purchase food products.

Waiting For The 1948 Tax Bill

There is good reason to believe that large amounts of grain are held on the farm. This is not just a case where farmers are gambling that prices will continue to rise above present inflated levels. Grain farmers are fully aware that there is an excellent chance that personal income taxes may be reduced in 1948. The farmer asks himself the question:

"Why should I sell my grain now and pay an income tax on the proceeds at the 1947 rate when I can wait until 1948 and take advantge of new tax law more favorable to the taxpayer?" Certainly with an election year coming up, politicians will look with great favor on some sort of reduction in personal income taxes in 1948.

Present Food Price Investigations

There is much talk in the newspapers about distributors and processors of food products taking advantage of the present squeeze in food prices and systematically gouging the poor consumer. Quite frankly, I think this is plainly propaganda. The fact is that in most instances the farmers' percentage profit margins today are no greater than normal. What has happened is that, due to a higher dollar volume of business, the normal profit margin produces more dollar profits. Hence, don't blame the farmers.

The real VILLIAN IN THE PICTURE IS UNPRECEDENTED DEMAND for farm products both at home, where consumer income has never been so high, and from Europe where famine conditions are so prevalent. We are eating more and wasting a greater volume of food, per capita, than ever before. Even a very small reduction in our consumption of food would prevent the serious squeeze on food prices which we now face. It is most desirable to be frugal at this time, not only to assist those who are less fortunate, but to help avoid a drastic deflation as a result of further price rises. Food is the most important item in the average family pudget. This is the basic answer to the problem of food prices today.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

Misunderstanding

When you come right down to it, we have to confess that most of our bitter words, and most of our unhappy thoughts, have their origin in misunderstanding. And back of almost all disputes, and even war itself, is this thing of misunderstanding.

There have been something like 2,000 separate meetings in connection with the recently organized United Nations—but what has been accomplished? This great idea was first called into being with the hope and prayer that it might bring about understanding among all nations—but how far away is such an understanding!

Russia seems to be the stumbling block. But any intelligent human being has an admiration for the Russian people. They are great people. They have enriched art, science, music, the theatre, and literature. Their form of government is their own affair, as our form is our affair, and we want no interference, but this should not prevent us from being friends, and seeking to help each other, thus blotting out all fear and assuring peace and happiness to the peoples of each country.

It is regrettable that there couldn't be an exchange of people between the countries. Preferably young people—students. Imagine how soon we could create a better understanding could, say, a thousand students be interchanged each year, and each given free rein to look about and learn of each country. All suspicion dismissed and freedom of movement guaranteed! Why should the terror of the atomic bomb hang over intelligent people?

How easy it is to understand another human being after all suspicion has been dismissed and his or her honesty and sincerity have been accepted at face value! It is unnatural to hate. It was never intended that we should fight each other—no matter what the provocation. We were put upon this globe to be friends, to work out a useful and happy existence—and to co-operate in friendly fashion with one another.

Demonstrations Against Taft Not American-Made

Senator Robert H. Taft's journey along the Pacific Coast, to sound out sentiment on the presidential campaign has been marked by a series of demonstrations by hoodlums parading under the name of union labor. Pickets, carrying insulting signs, have paraded before entrances to halls and hotels in which Mr. Taft was to speak or where he was billeted during his stay in various cities. Banners bearing such slogans as "Rat Taft" and "Hitler, Mussolini, Tojo and Taft" have been carried by the pickets. Missiles have been thrown.

Like campaigning, picketing is an institution well defined by American tradition. But a new note is being introduced into both of them. It is the note foreign to America. It violates all our principles of fair play. This note is the use of picketing as a means of political action and intimidation. It has been used that way in certain European countries for a long time.

Picketing—peacefully, that is—is a proper and lawful weapon long used by organized labor to help win disputes with employers. But more and more it is being perverted and abused through use on all sorts of occasions. Communists picketed the White House in behalf of Hitler up to the time Hitler attacked Russia. Public men, congressional hearings, civic groups and many other individuals and organizations have been picketed in recent years in behalf of all sorts of causes. Picketing has been made cheap and commonplace by those who use it as a form of mob action and intimidation.

Let it be said that those tactics do not spring from the desires of American Unionists. They are the work of the Communists and their fellow-travelers who are trying to seize the labor movement for their own ends. They are of alien birth and inspiration. They are merely a little forerunner of what the Communists would like to do—and would do—if they could get away with it. They are off the same bolt of cloth which in Bulgaria, a day or so ago, led to the hanging of the leader of the opposition political party.

They are part of the spirit which in certain European countries makes a dissenting vote a matter of peril of violence or death. They are of the same spirit which allows only one party in Russia. They are just a little taste of what the Communists have in mind for America—come the revolution.

Of course, the cruel part of the campaign against Senator Taft is that it is being carried on in the name of organized labor—in the name of 15,000,000 men and women who are decent and fair-minded American citizens.

This abuse of picketing should emphasize to union men and women the fact that they, above all others, are menaced by Communist infiltration. That they have more to gain than anybody else by stopping the misuse of their name and their institutions by people whose sole interest in unionism is as a tool to do the work of a foreign master.

The glory of our system of politics has been that an aspirant for public office was entitled to be heard—even if you didn't like him or his policies. Whatever one may think of Senator Taft or what he advocates, he has a right to a decent hearing.

The wise boys in Washington continue to talk about the "foreseeable future," without indicating in which direction they are looking.

Retailer Blues

In this price boom cycle the retailers of America are having their troubles. Marked up price tags lack much of being undiluted gravy for them.

A nationwide survey shows that while dollar sales are approximately equal to last year, unit sales are down 5 to 15 per cent. The consumer hasn't the money to meet rising costs.

As unit sales decline, the retailer is adopting a policy of caution. Inventories in many cases are only one-half of the figures they totaled a year ago. But this doesn't solve the problem because margins of profit are being reduced.

Often the manufacturer will raise an item and insist that the retailer hold to the former price tag. Retailers themselves are holding their mark-ups as low as possible in an effort to avert buyer resistance. Items that soar sharply frequently are boycotted by consumers.

While this is going on and profit margins shrink, the cost of operating a retail store continues to climb. Such items as selling, delivering and warehousing have mounted 10 to 20 per cent in the last year.

Retailers would welcome lower price levels as conducive to greater volume of turnover and more profitable operation. But, as one of them says, how can manufacturers lower prices when the unions demand a raise every six months?

The entire country is crying for price stability. When it comes it is to be hoped it isn't in reverse, shoving far into deflationary ground.

Dividing the Fort Knox gold between all the peoples of the world would give each person $10. But Americans already have $10 if they haven't purchased a steak lately.

Potlikker, They Mean

One way to beat the high cost of living, says the Department of Agriculture, is to consume the juice that remains in the pot after greens are cooked. It is "rich and inexpensive source of minerals and vitamins. The old Southern custom of serving pot liquor as well as the greens insures against loss of soluble nutrients."

That's a tip, even if the Yankee who wrote it didn't know how to spell potlikker. Take turnip greens, for preference. Simmer them gently in enamel ware with a plump cut of pork taken low down on the hog. Serve the potlikker steaming, with plenty of unsweetened corn pone to dunk. If it doesn't taste better than you expect, perhaps you've been eating high on the hog too long.

Huey Long, who had dangerous political ideas, was a sound man on potlikker. He sang its praises everywhere, and introduced it to some of his northern colleagues. It is good to see that the Department of Agriculture is catching up with him.

Food expert says people should eat candy instead of meat, which will be good news to the young fry.

British get 20 cents worth of meat a week. Over here that would be one whiff.

SAFEGUARDING PREMATURE BABIES

Of the approximately 3,000,000 babies born each year, 5 per cent, or about 150,000, are premature. These early arrivals are handicapped from the start and nearly half do not survive. Since less than two per cent, or 60,000, of full term babies die, we see that almost 50 per cent of the total mortalities in infants are due to prematurity. In 1945, the process held ninth place in deaths from all causes among the general population.

The little tikes usually weigh less than five and one-half pounds at birth and have difficulty in adjusting to a new environment. They have been denied the privilege of continuing to exist as parasites within the uterus and are now on their own, and what happens from this point on depends upon the next pitch. Furthermore, the reason many were born ahead of time was because the mother was ill or suffering from other abnormalities. As a result, labor may have been complicated or, in delivery, anesthetics or operative procedures were required.

The excessive mortality rate does not exist everywhere and is considerably lower in communities where special programs have been arranged for the care of these totas. To a great extent, their fate hangs on what is done during the first 48 hours; consequently, a birth of this type represents a real emergency. The child should be placed immediately in a sterile, warmed, cotton blanket and carried to a heated crib or incubator where oxygen can be administered. Stimulants may be necessary to encourage breathing and care must be taken to remove mucus from the respiratory passageways. Meanwhile, physical defects are investigated because they are most likely to occur in prematures.

Thereafter they must be watched like a hawk, preferably by nurses specially trained along this line. Any irregularities in color, changes in respiration and stools, or distension of the abdomen are reported immediately. Occasionally, breathing ceases and stimulants or artificial respiration must be given at once. Since these babies are extremely susceptible to bacterial invasion, everything is done to ward off infections. A strict aseptic technic is followed and no one with a cold is allowed to come near them.

The hands of the attendants must be washed and scrubbed periodically and physicians who examine the youngsters must wear masks. Some nurseries are equipped with ultraviolet light to sterilize the air; at the first sign of impetigo, penicillin is administered; pneumonia is suspected should a slight nasal discharge or cough appear; and diarrhea is closely guarded against.

During the first week, small feedings are given at frequent intervals via nipple, tube, or medicine dropper. Breast feeding is allowed only if they are strong enough to take nourishment in this way. The physician will decide whether human, half-skim, or evaporated milk is indicated as each has certain merits. By the time the child gains a few pounds, he has passed most of the dangers and is ready to begin life on a par with his huskier brothers and sisters.

With special care, more prematures can be saved. In the future, the problem will probably be attacked from the maternal side. If more pregnancies could continue to full term, there would be a marked decrease in infant mortality.

THE GAPES

L. G. writes: I yawn 10 to 15 times an hour. Is this dangerous?

REPLY

The phenomenon is probably a habit pattern that is more annoying than serious. On the other hand, examination is suggested since acidosis or other disorder may be to blame.

CLOSE-SET OPTICS

V. M. G. writes: If the eyes are too close together, is there any way that they can be set further apart?

REPLY

I can think of several procedures but they are too brutal. Plastic surgery could not be done as the eyes are set in bony sockets which cannot be moved.

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

The mighty arm of education will soon be raised against the lowly cockroach and kindred household pests. Penn State College is offering a new course demonstrating the latest technique in eliminating troublesome pests.

When the course first started, the school had a little trouble. The only ones who enrolled were a couple of anteaters.

But they have a wonderful new idea for eliminating pests. When they infest your house—move.

Of course, the graduates don't receive diplomas—instead, they get flit guns.

And everybody graduates with a degree—DDT.

This being a new course at the college everyone started from scratch.

Those specializing in ants have to do their homework on picnics.

For exercise all the students play badminton with fly swatters.

My brother is the smartest one in the class. My father told him all about the birds and the bees—and he's been going steady with several insects all summer.

The class has its problems though. The termites keep coming in at night and stealing the desks.

And the cockroaches are organizing to protest—why did they have to hold the first meeting at my house?

I enrolled in the course but I had to quit. They told us the way to get rid of the nation's worst household pest was to turn off the radio on Tuesday nights.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—The British Secret Service, recognized as one of the most efficient in the world, has just submitted a confidential and highly important report to the British Foreign Office regarding the inner debates of the Soviet Politburo—the 14-man council which really rules Russia.

This British report indicates that the Soviet Union has just made a historic decision, namely to give up all pretense of friendship with the United States.

The report, which goes into detail regarding the new Soviet policy, also reveals:

1. That Stalin apparently was reluctant to go along with the change toward the USA but was overruled.

2. That Russia will now intensively woo the Arabs, using the partition of Palestine as a weapon to strengthen Russia's position in the oil-rich Near East.

3. That Russian strategy in Europe will be to defeat the Marshall plan and create as much European chaos as possible.

This column has been able to obtain a copy of the confidential British report, and because of its great importance to the American public, publishes herewith a summary of its most pertinent parts. In order to prevent disclosure of secret diplomatic codes, the text has been partially paraphrased. It follows:

USA-USSR Friendship Written Off

"The Soviet authorities have now reached several decisive decisions, following an extended series of plenums of the Political Bureau in August and September.

"It has now been decided by the policy makers of the Kremlin that the United States is to be written off as a possible friendly power.

"The Soviet government has decided that only the coldest type of formal diplomatic relations will be continued between Moscow and Washington. These relations will be purely pro forma. No further expensive or lavish efforts will be undertaken to influence American public opinion.

"Propaganda efforts will be directed solely at using the United States as a sample of the evil influence of a 'resurgent American imperialism' to be used, according to the new Agitators Handbook, as the theme for all Russian opinion-making efforts.

"The Russian leadership has decided to concentrate its forces in the labour movements of Western Europe in order to consolidate the entire continent (of Europe) under Moscow domination.

The threat of atomic war from the United States is to be used as a fear propaganda weapon designed to keep the peoples of Western Europe too tensed to adequately perform their daily task on an efficient, planned long-range basis.

"A combination of economic chaos, political confusion and psychological fear is judged by the Kremlin as the proper recipe for successfully conquering Europe without direct use of armed force in the next 12 months.

Wooing The Arabs

"It is judged likely that the Soviet government will now make increased impassioned efforts to develop new and stronger ties with the Arab nations of the Middle East. This will be done through negotiation by Soviet diplomats and secret agents travelling through Lebanon, Syria, Egypt, Saudi Arabia, Afghanistan, Iran and Iraq. Russian diplomats at the United Nations will conform with this pattern in negotiations concerning Palestine.

"Our informants report that at the recent Kremlin conversations only slight objections were encountered to the new strategy and tactics outlined by Mr. Molotov. Mr. Josef Stalin is reported to have reluctantly assented to the new position. Mr. Vishinsky, the Acting Chief Soviet Delegate to the United Nations did not participate in the talks. He is not a member of the Political Bureau.

"The so-called Marshall Plan advanced by the United States figured strongly in the discussion. Mr. Molotov and Mr. Laurenti Beria, explained their positions in effect as follows:

"If the 16 powers who have joined in the Marshall Plan are permitted to wrestle with their problems alone, inevitable contradictions of capitalism will prevent their unity. However, it was pointed out, that if the sixteen powers were joined in the Marshall Plan by the Soviet group of nations, they would be able to abandon their differences, thus establishing a unity against the Soviet powers which might make the Marshall Plan succeed.

"Congress Won't Back Marshall Plan"—Molotov.

"Mr. Molotov, in his report, said his information indicated that the American Congress would never vote billions for a Marshall Plan. He believes, he said, that America is on the road back to isolation and would not back a powerful anti-Russian coalition with cash and weapons if the people of the United States felt war was a possible outcome.

"The Soviet Minister for Foreign Affairs also held the view that his government's propaganda efforts would be far superior to that of the American group throughout the world.

"It was also agreed in the conversations that Mr. Stalin is to refrain from making any further optimistic speeches or gestures towards the United States as has been his habit since the end of the last great conflict.

Thus the decision implies a united Soviet policy of vigorously pursuing its dynamic offensive for a Communist Europe on a united, determined basis.

"Soviet overnment hopes Togliatti in Italy and Thorez in France will be able to force Communist reentry into present governments, preferably in high policy-making positions so as to enable them to control use of Marshall Plan funds. By this, the Russians hope to be able to intimidate the American Congress into withholding funds from governments which contain powerful Communist representation.

"Russia wants Belgian Communists to step up propaganda against Belgian-American uranium agreements which give the United States a monopoly on uranium ore from the Belgian Congo.

"The Politburo proposes to concentrate its anti-British fire on Bevin and Churchill, but keep up appearance of utmost friendship for the British people, being careful not to offend the United Kingdom in any way."

INSIDE WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON, Sept. 28—(CP)—President Truman finds himself in the middle of the toughest squeeze play of his White House career as the related issues of foreign aid and high domestic prices boil toward an inevitable crisis in coming months.

President Truman

White House aides and the top echelon of the administration are busily at work trying to develop a program which will strike a balance between spiraling food and other prices and the necessity of maintaining European governments to keep them from chaos and Communism.

Any course to be pursued will require Congressional action unless the chief executive decides the situation is too explosive to bring it up for solution. But inaction, the responsible capital sources believe, may well result either in a runaway domestic inflation or a disintegration of pro-democratic governments in western Europe—possibly both.

Mr. Truman has been long committed to a program of American-supported relief for Europe's ailing economy. Should Congress fail to back his policy, it is likely that commodity prices would halt their upward climb — probably drop sharply to relieve the present clamor against the high cost of living.

The long-term cost of such solution, however, might well be the establishment of an entirely new balance of power lineup in Europe, with Russia in control of the heavy side of the international scale.

Powerful Political Whirlpools and eddies are churning in the wake of the abortive Eisenhower-for-president boom, disavowed by the Army chief of staff, but thundering louder day by day in Republican circles.

Should a Taft-Dewey stalemate or any other combination of the political numbers result in an Eisenhower "draft" at the GOP national convention next year, the result would be an almost certain "draft" of Defense Secretary James Forrestal as President Truman's running mate.

Obviously, the Democrats would feel that they must counter an Eisenhower ticket with a man whose war record was almost as brilliant. The Democrats will claim Forrestal's record as wartime Undersecretary, then Secretary of the Navy, is as distinguished as Eisenhower's.

Forrestal, in event of an Eisenhower nomination, will have no choice but to run with Truman. He will be told it is his duty. At present, Forrestal is content to be the nation's first defense secretary, but an Eisenhower nomination would change all that.

Strong feeling now exists in the GOP that if "Ike" is "drafted" to head the ticket, either Minnesota's former Gov. Harold Stassen or California's Gov. Earle Warren must be his running mate.

Stassen is believed willing to run with Eisenhower. Should Warren decline, certain GOP elements would go after Speaker Joe Martin.

Senator Elmer Thomas (D), Okla., has returned from Europe convinced that the world would be better off economically if all countries adopted the gold ounce as the monetary unit.

He says the problem now is very much like that of the 13 states after the Revolutionary war. Each had its own type of money. He says some states used nails, others tobacco, still others wampum.

They had trouble because states using nails could not get wampum to trade with wampum states. They cured their troubles by adopting the same standard of money — the dollar.

Thomas declares that if all nations adopted the gold ounce as a standard, European countries would not have the "dollar shortage" ailment from which they now suffer.

The senator has laid his proposal before the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization.

RADIO IN REVIEW

By JOHN CROSBY

Success Story in Seven Figures

Radio stations, I find, are reflections of the community in which they are located and take on after a time the personality of the community. In Detroit WJR, the C.B.S. outlet here, is an excellent example of this form of protective coloration. As radio stations go, it is violently individualist; it is a success story running into seven figures; and, in a city which has been torn many times by racial and religious hatreds, it was the mouthpiece for the most controversial racial and religious spokesman radio ever produced.

John Crosby

WJR has a couple of other distinctions which mark it off from other radio stations. It is one of the few, possibly the only radio station in the country, owned by seven hundred stockholders; it is certainly the only radio station whose controlling stockholder has at times forbidden mention of President Truman. This last named distinction, incidentally, comes perilously close to violating the Federal Communications Commission's ruling against editorializing on the part of radio stations.

The controlling interest in WJR is owned by George A. — better known as Dick—Richards, a man whose racial, religious and political convictions are alarming even to the most right-wing elements in Detroit. Richards is a man with a Midas touch whose business acumen, if nothing else, is greatly respected here.

When he owned the Detroit Lions football team which he picked up for buttons, as the saying goes here, and sold for a great deal more than that, he used to call Detroit from California before their games and exhort each player individually to get in there and fight.

He has also been known to call his radio commentators long distance to impress upon them the necessity for lighting into Communism whether or not the news warranted it. When the Detroit Symphony was tottering financially, as symphonies everywhere are wont to do, a group of prominent Detroit citizens, Richards among them, banded together in an attempt to save it.

Richards clambered to his feet at this meeting and declared: "You want to know how I'd save the Detroit Symphony? I'd fire Ossip Gabrilo-witsch (son-in-law of Mark Twain and conductor of the Symphony). I wouldn't have any regular conductors, only guest conductors, and the first guest conductor would be Cab Calloway." This lurid experiment was never attempted.

Despite the idiosyncrasies of its controlling stockholders, WJR was and still is in many ways a great radio station, largely through the efforts of Leo Fitzpatrick, one of the best liked and most respected figures both in Detroit and national radio circles. Richards who is primarily a financier rather than a broadcaster, left the management of the station in Fitzpatrick's hands.

Fitzpatrick is a former reporter on "The Kansas City Star" who got into radio more or less by accident. In the early '20's, "The Star" dispatched him to New York to write some feature stories on that new novelty, radio. This series automatically made him an expert in the field and, when "The Star" founded a small station of its own, Fitzpatrick was made its manager. "I didn't know a heterodyne from an iodine," he confesses.

Fitzpatrick was announcer, manager and, among other things, the "Merry Old Chief" or master of ceremonies of the Kansas City Nighthawks (later known as Coon-Sanders Orchestra) whose fame soon resounded through the Mid-West. The Jewett Company, which then owned WJR, heard of the young man and offered him $6,000 a year, about twice as much as he was making with "The Star," to come to Detroit.

Six months after he arrived, the Jewett Company went bankrupt. Fitzpatrick and Richards borrowed $90,000 to buy the station, which is valued at current market rates at seven and a half million dollars. They paid off their loans out of the first year's earnings. Fitzpatrick, who expended twenty years, a prodigious amount of effort but not one red cent in cash on WJR, recently sold his 30 per cent interest. The price: two and one half million dollars, which is peanuts by Detroit success standards but is still considered a nice haul in broadcasting circles.

(This is the first of two articles on WJR in Detroit).

Baering Down On The News

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER

How about going back to black market days when extortion was economy. I know there were two prices on everything. But they didn't add them together.

I know there are laws against it. But the law is like salt on the table. Always there in plain view. But you have to shake it up to get it.

In ratio to the garroting of the ultimate consumer I hope to hark back to 1945 when things were merely impossible.

Do you know in the package stores they even have cellophane on the sniffs?

That fellow Vishinsky sure opened a swell keg of wolf chatter. If he talked five minutes like that in Moscow he would be dead four of them.

It has been Stalin's aim to gimmick up the United Nations from the opening gun. Joe may be beating us to the punch. But he is leading with his chin.

It was American supplies that saved Russia when its future was a combined bruise of a black yesterday and a blue tomorrow.

Now Russia turns on us like an ingrown toenail. Well, the next time we feed the world we will not include the silverware.

THESE DAYS

The Freedom Pledge

I have before me a circular issued in connection with the Freedom Train. It says: "Freedom is everybody's job!," and then announces the celebration of "Rededication Week." The public is invited to visit the Freedom Train—Admission Free—to see the Declaration of Independence, Bill of Rights, Emancipation Proclamation and 100 other historic decuments.

Then it recites "The Freedom Pledge," which follows:

"I am an American, a free American
Free to speak—without fear
Free to worship my own God
Free to stand for what I think right
Free to oppose what I believe wrong
Free to choose those who govern my country
This heritage of freedom I pledge to uphold
For myself and all mankind."

It is "The Freedom Pledge" that I want to discuss today. It seems to me to omit too much—it omits the Flag and the Commission. When I was a boy, the pledge was worded this way:

I pledge allegiance to the flag and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

We used to say that every day at school. Then we saluted the flag and sang "The Star Spangled Banner."

In recent years the words "of the United States of America" were included to make sure that everybody knows which country it meant. In my day, nobody had any doubts about that. We only knew one country. We only loved one country. We were not One Worldish or Two Worldish. Simply, we were Americans.

In 1918, William Tyler Page wrote a piece called "The American Creed," which was accepted by the House of Representatives. I think this is a better statement of American principles than appears on the Freedom Train circular. It reads:

"I believe in the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people, for the people; whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a republic; a sovereign nation of many sovereign states; a perfect union, one and inseperable; established upon those principles of freedom, equality, justice, and humanity for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes: I therefore believe it is my duty to my country to love it; to support its Constitution; to obey its laws, to respect its flag, and to defend it against all enmies."

That is very complete and understandable and leaves no room for any doubt. It is a take-it-or-leave-it statement and anybody who cannot take it, has no place in this country.

At any rate, the Freedom Train circular should be revised to include a pledge to the Flag of this country, to its history and traditions. It should contain a pledge to uphold and maintain the Constitution of the United States, including its Bill of Rights, which is the foundation of our liberties and without which we might readily become the slaves of a tyrant, as has happened to so many millions of human beings during the past quarter of a century. Without even a casual mention of the Constitition, rededication means nothing. To what is one to be rededicated?

Whoever wrote the Freedom Train pledge missed the spirit of his task. It is not that an American is "free to oppose what I believe wrong." An American is free to speak or write his opposition to the Constitution of the United States; he is free to hold mass meetings or to petition the Congress for redress of grievances. He is free to oppose evils and to support the good.

But no American, no matter how much he may believe it to be wrong, is free to take an overt step to overthrow this government, to change its form, to abridge the rights of the people, to make it subservient to a foreign dictator

In a word, no American is free to be a Fifth Columnist for a foreign power, to join in an international conspuiracy to abolisth the Constitution. No American is free to oppose America, although he might object to a few politicians who hold office.

The Freedom Train pledge needs rewriting to make it American.

Five Reasons Are Put Forth As Reasons For High Farm Prices

By ROGER W. BABSON

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 28 — During the past 24 hours I have been flying over the great farming area of the Central West. I have not only seen things with my eyes, but also heard things with my ears.

Let me first say that farmers are not being fooled by these high prices. They know that $2.90 for wheat and $2.65 for corn is not going to hold. They remember that, throughout all U. S. history, only during and directly after wars, have farmers made much money. Moreover, the wise ones are now using their profits to get out of debt, to buy for cash new machinery, and lay up a good bank balance for the future.

They also tell me that although farm prices rise gradually during boom time, yet when prices fall, they collapse all at once. This is because farmers get panic stricken when they see prices begin to fall and all farmers try to dump at once. They admit they are now playing the same game with wheat and corn as investors, in 1929, played with stocks and bonds.

Reasons For High Prices

(1) Exports to Europe. During 1946 more than 15,000,000 tons of food were shipped to Europe. Heavy movements of foodstuffs to Europe will continue due to its poor crop condtions.

(2) POOR U. S. WEATHER CONDITIONS. The American grain harvest will be 15,000,000 tons under normal, due to spring floods and unsatisfactory growing conditions, with a constantly increasing population.

(3) WASTEFUL AMERICAN EATING HABITS. Americans have always been the most wasteful people in the world when it comes to food consumption. High consumer income has increased this wastefulness.

(4) PUTTING SO MUCH GRAIN INTO LIQUOR. The eight billion dollar liquor business consumes huge quantities of grain for brewing of alcoholic beverages. Despite starvation abroad, this "non-essential" industry continues uninterrupted in the production of liquor.

(5) INCRASE IN THE CURRENCY FROM $7,000,000,000 to $27,000,000,000. The tremendous increase in currency since before the war has greatly stimulated the power of the American public to purchase food products.

Waiting For The 1948 Tax Bill

There is good reason to believe that large amounts of grain are held on the farm. This is not just a case where farmers are gambling that prices will continue to rise above present inflated levels. Grain farmers are fully aware that there is an excellent chance that personal income taxes may be reduced in 1948. The farmer asks himself the question:

"Why should I sell my grain now and pay an income tax on the proceeds at the 1947 rate when I can wait until 1948 and take advantge of new tax law more favorable to the taxpayer?" Certainly with an election year coming up, politicians will look with great favor on some sort of reduction in personal income taxes in 1948.

Present Food Price Investigations

There is much talk in the newspapers about distributors and processors of food products taking advantage of the present squeeze in food prices and systematically gouging the poor consumer. Quite frankly, I think this is plainly propaganda. The fact is that in most instances the farmers' percentage profit margins today are no greater than normal. What has happened is that, due to a higher dollar volume of business, the normal profit margin produces more dollar profits. Hence, don't blame the farmers.

The real VILLIAN IN THE PICTURE IS UNPRECEDENTED DEMAND for farm products both at home, where consumer income has never been so high, and from Europe where famine conditions are so prevalent. We are eating more and wasting a greater volume of food, per capita, than ever before. Even a very small reduction in our consumption of food would prevent the serious squeeze on food prices which we now face. It is most desirable to be frugal at this time, not only to assist those who are less fortunate, but to help avoid a drastic deflation as a result of further price rises. Food is the most important item in the average family budget. This is the basic answer to the problem of food prices today.

Today's Talk

Misunderstanding

When you come right down to it, we have to confess that most of our bitter words, and most of our unhappy thoughts, have their origin in misunderstanding. And back of almost all disputes, and even war itself, is this thing of misunderstanding.

There have been something like 2,000 separate meetings in connection with the recently organized United Nations—but what has been accomplished? This great idea was first called into being with the hope and prayer that it might bring about understanding among all nations—but how far away is such an understanding!

Russia seems to be the stumbling block. But any intelligent human being has an admiration for the Russian people. They are great people. They have enriched art, science, music, the theatre, and literature. Their form of government is their own affair, as our form is our affair, and we want no interference, but this should not prevent us from being friends, and seeking to help each other, thus blotting out all fear and assuring peace and happiness to the peoples of each country.

It is regrettable that there couldn't be an exchange of people between the countries. Preferably young people—students. Imagine how soon we could create a better understanding could, say, a thousand students be interchanged each year, and each given free rein to look about and learn of each country. All suspicion dismissed and freedom of movement guaranteed! Why should the terror of the atomic bomb hang over intelligent people?

How easy it is to understand another human being after all suspicion has been dismissed and his or her honesty and sincerity have been accepted at face value! It is unnatural to hate. It was never intended that we should fight each other—no matter what the provocation. We were put upon this globe to be friends, to work out a useful and happy existence—and to co-operate in friendly fashion with one another.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 28—(INS)—Van Johnson's friendship and admiration for Spencer Tracy is responsible for his acceptance of the role of the reporter in "State of the Union." Last week, Robert Walker, who was to have played the part, stepped out because of illness.

Diana Barrymore

Although the role is second fiddle to Tracy and Claudette Colbert, Van accepted it because he thought it was good for him, and because he has such confidence in Spencer Tracy, who gave him his first chance in "A Guy Named Joe."

Then, too, "State of the Union" is a fine play, and with Frank Capra directing, it will give you a shot in the arm. Let's face it: His last two pictures, "High Barbaree" and "Romance of Rosy Ridge," were disappointing to his fans.

Danny Kaye, Sylvia Fine and Jerry Wald have been looking at "The Man From Blankley's" and have practically decided on it for Danny's first at Warners.

It could be tailored to fit Danny, with not too much altercation. It's the hilarious comedy that Jack Barrymore made for Warners in 1930, when Jack was one of our top farceurs.

"I would never deny any statement made by my wife," Richard Ney told me.

"Greer will always be tops with me."

This telephone conversation was just a few days after Greer had tearfully obtained a divorce and the judge had insisted that she make specific charges against Richard.

Greer had no wish to do anything to hurt him.

But that's all over and now young Ney is very excited about his career. He has written and sold a story titled "A Legend of Love" to an Argentine film company, and he and Alan Curtis will probably go there to play in his own yarn.

Richard has also had a Broadway stage offer, "The Lucky One," but show me the actor who can resist emoting in his own story.

Ray bought the rights from Buddy De Sylva and will make the picture as soon as he finishes "Queen For A Day."

Whenever I think of "Peg O' My Heart" I think of Marion Davies. Her "Peg" was one of the best pictures she made. And then there was Laurette Taylor, who created the role on the stage and for years played it.

It's a wholesome, heartwarming story, and I'm glad it's being revived.

Adult, 3 Children Held In Theft

Charged with breaking into a home and stealing two guns and a quantity of food, three juvenile brothers and a 23-year-old Oldtown man were arrested Saturday night by Trooper William F. Baker.

The juveniles, ranging in age nine to 14, were released in the custody of their parents, while Charles F. Deffinbaugh, Route 2, the adult, is being held for further questioning in Allegany County Jail.

According to Trooper Baker, the quartet entered the home of George Athey, Town Creek Road, about 2:30 p. m. Saturday and commenced to eat four cans of meat, a loaf of bread and other food.

They then ransacked the living room, according to the trooper, and took a .16 gauge shotgun and a number of shells. Proceeding to the upstairs, Trooper Baker said, the quartet broke open two trunks and confiscated a .32 caliber revolver.

Once outside, the trooper said one of the quartet fired the shotgun. George Fletcher, Welsh Hill, Frostburg, brother-in-law of Athey, was enroute to Oldtown for a visit when he noticed the foursome walking down Town Creek Road. He observed the men and later furnished a description of them.

Deffinbaugh, Trooper Baker said, admitted breaking into the home. The two weapons were recovered.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Bride Of 17 Wants To Know How To Win Over Mother-In-Law

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

There seem to be a great many different kinds of relationships into which a young wife and her mother-in-law can fall.

The two may start off liking each other and find their friendship grows warmer all the time; that, of course, is the happiest thing that can happen. Or, in the beginning, there may be less friendliness on one side than on the other, and, as time goes on and the two get to know each other better, the initial differences may be overcome. That is the next best situation.

All the others that I have observed and heard of present hard problems. There is, for instance, the situation in which mother-in-law and daughter-in-law dislike each other heartily and never get over it; and the one in which the mother-in-law refuses to accept her son's wife; or the one in which the daughter-in-law is jealous of her mother-in-law's place in her husband's affections. The number of variations on the mother-in-law and daughter-in-law relationship may be infinitely varied and to solve any one of them happily is apt to be a major undertaking.

A young bride of 17, who writes me about her mother-inlaw problem, has one of the most difficult of all. Although she does not specifically say so, one draws the inference from her letter that she and her husband kept their marriage a secret from his mother until recently because of her obstructionist attitude toward it.

"When we were married a year ago, my mother and father approved of our marriage," she writes, "but I am afraid that my mother-in-law did not like me at all. A few weeks ago, I went to see her to tell her of our marriage. When I told her, she got so mad that she turned me out of her home and forbade me to come again. She didn't let me finish what I wanted to say, so the next day I tried to phone her, but she hung up. What I wanted to tell her was that I am going to have her son's baby.

"I really don't know what she has against me. It can't be very much because his father and sister like me. How can I make her like me and should I tell my father-in-law or mother-in-law of the baby first? My husband, who is 18 and in the Army, knows of the baby and so do my parents."

Since this girl is unable to put a finger on any definite reason for her mother-in-law's dislike of her, it may be an instance of maternal jealousy and unwillingness to give up a son to a wife. The fact that this is a common type of mother-in-law situation does not make it any easier to solve.

Of course it was a mistake for this young couple to have married without the mother's knowledge, if this was indeed the case. Sooner or later, they would have had to tell her, so that they were only postponing the bad moment and almost certainly making it worse, because to her original objections to the marriage itself would be added her feeling of having been tricked.

All that, however, is of course water over the dam, and nothing can be done about it now. The problem reduces itself to working out a plan to win over the hostile mother-in-law.

If nothing else is able to do this, it would seem that the coming baby should lead to a reconciliation, as few women can resist the appeal of a grandchild. Since the young mother-to-be has been unsuccessful in her efforts to acquaint her husband's mother with the fact that she is to have a child, I suggest that she tell her friendly father-in-law about it and, at the same time, write a nice note to the mother-in-law. She should explain to her father-in-law why.

In her note, I think she should tell her mother-in-law that she is sorry there should be any unfriendliness between them and that she, on her side, would like to try to overcome it. If the mother-in-law does not acknowledge the note in any way, then she might wait awhile and later perhaps write again and invite her to come and see the things she is getting ready for the baby. If she is patient enough to make these small gestures from time to time, she may, eventually, break down her mother-in-law's resistance. But it is quite possible that it may be a lengthy process, and that she will have to show a great deal of tact, forbearance and generosity of spirit.

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Sept. 28—(INS)—Van Johnson's friendship and admiration for Spencer Tracy is responsible for his acceptance of the role of the reporter in "State of the Union." Last week, Robert Walker, who was to have played the part, stepped out because of illness.

Diana Barrymore

Although the role is second fiddle to Tracy and Claudette Colbert, Van accepted it because he thought it was good for him, and because he has such confidence in Spencer Tracy, who gave him his first chance in "A Guy Named Joe."

Then, too, "State of the Union" is a fine play, and with Frank Capra directing, it will give you a shot in the arm. Let's face it: His last two pictures, "High Barbaree" and "Romance of Rosy Ridge," were disappointing to his fans.

Danny Kaye, Sylvia Fine and Jerry Wald have been looking at "The Man From Blankley's" and have practically decided on it for Danny's first at Warners.

It could be tailored to fit Danny, with not too much altercation. It's the hilarious comedy that Jack Barrymore made for Warners in 1930, when Jack was one of our top farceurs.

"I would never deny any statement made by my wife," Richard Ney told me.

"Greer will always be tops with me."

This telephone conversation was just a few days after Greer had tearfully obtained a divorce and the judge had insisted that she make specific charges against Richard.

Greer had no wish to do anything to hurt him.

But that's all over and now young Ney is very excited about his career. He has written and sold a story titled "A Legend of Love" to an Argentine film company, and he and Alan Curtis will probably go there to play in his own yarn.

Richard has also had a Broadway stage offer, "The Lucky One," but show me the actor who can resist emoting in his own story.

Just before Rita Hayworth took off for New York, she and Orson Welles agreed on a financial settlement and the final papers were signed. Now her lawyer, Frank Belchern can file her actual complaint any day.

Since Rita won't have to appear in court until around Oct. 20, she has two or three weeks to see the new shows, particularly "Born Yesterday" which she will do on the screen.

But first you'll see her as "Carmen," since a switch in plans puts this ahead of "Woman Order." The script of "Woman Order" isn't ready and "Carmen" is.

Chit-chat: A flash from Cannes says that Maurice Chevalier and his old flame, Nita Raye, have taken up where they left off during the war.

Many people said they were married. She was his leading lady and he was devoted to her. They parted and the whisper was that Maurice was carrying a torch. But apparently they are together again and happier than ever.

He comes back to America next month, and the $64 question is—will she come with him?

When Ray McCarey went looking for a "Peg O' My Heart," he didn't have to go outside of his own home.

His own 19-year-old daughter, Sharon, who is as pretty a colleen as you would find anywhere, will be the Peg in a revival of this famous old movie and screenplay which Ray is bringing to the screen.

Ray bought the rights from Buddy De Sylva and will make the picture as soon as he finishes "Queen For A Day."

Whenever I think of "Peg O' My Heart" I think of Marion Davies. Her "Peg" was one of the best pictures she made. And then there was Laurette Taylor, who created the role on the stage and for years played it.

It's a wholesome, heartwarming story, and I'm glad it's being revived.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random: — The Hank Daniels welcomed a baby last week.

I wonder why Diana Barrymore so heatedly denied she and her husband, John Howard, had separated, and then the next minute admitted it?

Mrs. Gene Fowler, who was operated on at St. Vincent's hospital about six weeks ago, is being brought home Sunday. Gene is assured she will be able to walk again.

Tyrone Power leaves Johannesburg, South Africa, next Friday to pay a personal visit to Haile Selassie, emperor of Ethopia.

Esther Williams still isn't out of the woods with her ear infection. She's in bed, has a trained nurse, and is unable to talk to anyone.

Adult, 3 Children Held In Theft

Charged with breaking into a home and stealing two guns and a quantity of food, three juvenile brothers and a 23-year-old Oldtown man were arrested Saturday night by Trooper William F. Baker.

The juveniles, ranging in age nine to 14, were released in the custody of their parents, while Charles F. Deffinbaugh, Route 2, the adult, is being held for further questioning in Allegany County Jail.

According to Trooper Baker, the quartet entered the home of George Athey, Town Creek Road, about 2:30 p. m. Saturday and commenced to eat four cans of meat, a loaf of bread and other food.

They then ransacked the living room, according to the trooper, and took a .16 gauge shotgun and a number of shells. Proceeding to the upstairs, Trooper Baker said, the quartet broke open two trunks and confiscated a .32 caliber revolver.

Once outside, the trooper said one of the quartet fired the shotgun. George Fletcher, Welsh Hill, Frostburg, brother-in-law of Athey, was enroute to Oldtown for a visit when he noticed the foursome walking down Town Creek Road. He observed the men and later furnished a description of them.

Deffinbaugh, Trooper Baker said, admitted breaking into the home. The two weapons were recovered.

Advice To The Lovelorn

Bride Of 17 Wants To Know How To Win Over Mother-In-Law

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage

There seem to be a great many different kinds of relationships into which a young wife and her mother-in-law can fall.

The two may start off liking each other and find their friendship grows warmer all the time; that, of course, is the happiest thing that can happen. Or, in the beginning, there may be less friendliness on one side than on the other, and, as time goes on and the two get to know each other better, the initial differences may be overcome. That is the next best situation.

All the others that I have observed and heard of present hard problems. There is, for instance, the situation in which mother-in-law and daughter-in-law dislike each other heartily and never get over it; and the one in which the mother-in-law refuses to accept her son's wife; or the one in which the daughter-in-law is jealous of her mother-in-law's place in her husband's affections. The number of variations on the mother-in-law and daughter-in-law relationship may be infinitely varied and to solve any one of them happily is apt to be a major undertaking.

A young bride of 17, who writes me about her mother-inlaw problem, has one of the most difficult of all. Although she does not specifically say so, one draws the inference from her letter that she and her husband kept their marriage a secret from his mother until recently because of her obstructionist attitude toward it.

"When we were married a year ago, my mother and father approved of our marriage," she writes, "but I am afraid that my mother-in-law did not like me at all. A few weeks ago, I went to see her to tell her of our marriage. When I told her, she got so mad that she turned me out of her home and forbade me to come again. She didn't let me finish what I wanted to say, so the next day I tried to phone her, but she hung up. What I wanted to tell her was that I am going to have her son's baby.

"I really don't know what she has against me. It can't be very much because his father and sister like me. How can I make her like me and should I tell my father-in-law or mother-in-law of the baby first? My husband, who is 18 and in the Army, knows of the baby and so do my parents."

Since this girl is unable to put a finger on any definite reason for her mother-in-law's dislike of her, it may be an instance of maternal jealousy and unwillingness to give up a son to a wife. The fact that this is a common type of mother-in-law situation does not make it any easier to solve.

Of course it was a mistake for this young couple to have married without the mother's knowledge, if this was indeed the case. Sooner or later, they would have had to tell her, so that they were only postponing the bad moment and almost certainly making it worse, because to her original objections to the marriage itself would be added her feeling of having been tricked.

All that, however, is of course water over the dam, and nothing can be done about it now. The problem reduces itself to working out a plan to win over the hostile mother-in-law.

If nothing else is able to do this, it would seem that the coming baby should lead to a reconciliation, as few women can resist the appeal of a grandchild. Since the young mother-to-be has been unsuccessful in her efforts to acquaint her husband's mother with the fact that she is to have a child, I suggest that she tell her friendly father-in-law about it and, at the same time, write a nice note to the mother-in-law. She should explain to her father-in-law why.

In her note, I think she should tell her mother-in-law that she is sorry there should be any unfriendliness between them and that she, on her side, would like to try to overcome it. If the mother-in-law does not acknowledge the note in any way, then she might wait awhile and later perhaps write again and invite her to come and see the things she is getting ready for the baby. If she is patient enough to make these small gestures from time to time, she may, eventually, break down her mother-in-law's resistance. But it is quite possible that it may be a lengthy process, and that she will have to show a great deal of tact, forbearance and generosity of spirit.

Building Permits Total $298,650

Twenty-nine building permits for construction estimated at a total of $289,650 were granted at the city engineer's office in September, according to a report.

The total is well above the normal monthly average because of a permit granted several days ago for construction of a new $250,000 telephone exchange building at the corner of Union and South Centre Streets.

Twenty of the permits were issued for new construction amounting to $293,800, while the remaining nine were additions and improvements estimated to cost $4,850.

During the same period, five applications were made for occupancy permits, and one, which was appealed to the Board of Zoning Appeals, is pending.

F. W. Armbruster secured a permit to build a two-room addition to a residence at 1303 Michigan Avenue. The two-story addition will measure 12 by 14 feet, with a concrete block foundation, frame walls and an asphalt shingle roof. Work will be done by A. L. Will and cost is estimated at $500.

A permit was granted to Vincent A. Buchholtz to build an addition to a service station at 852 North Mechanic Street. The one-story addition will measure 11 by 16 feet, and will be built by enclosing a corner of the present structure. Construction will be of concrete block and glass, with a three-ply compsition roof. J. V. Cookerly is the contractor and cost is estimated at $250.

Schmeling Scores KO In Seventh Round

FRANKFURT, Sept. 28—(INS)—Max Schmeling, former world heavyweight champion, won his first post-war "comeback" fight today wth a seventh-round knockout of Werner Vollmer.

Ticket scalpers got blackmarket prices in the hundreds of dollars for $5 seats. A crowd of 40,000 allied and German nationals jammed Frankfurt's victory stadium to watch the spectacle.

Vollmer was knocked down seven times, from the opening until the final round and suffered a bad one-inch cut over his right eye.

Navy Citations Awarded Here

Navy citations signed by James Forrestal, former Secretary of the Navy now Secretary of National Defense, have been received here for presentation to Mayor Thomas S. Post, Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of county schools, and John I. Spiker, chairman of a recruiting campaign for the Naval Reserve which was held here last May.

Lt. Comdr. Walter N. Hedrick, organizing officer of the Cumberland Organized Naval Reserve Division, has already presented Mayor Post and Kopp with their citations.

The mayor served as honorary chairman of the recruiting drive, while through Kopp's co-operation Navy recruiters were permitted to visit county schools during the campaign. The Naval Reserve Division has been using Fort Hill High School for its weekly drill sessions pending completion of the naval armory here.

The citations were awarded "for service rendered to the United States Naval Reserve in 1947."

Attend Convention

Mr. and Mrs. Lynn C. Lashley, 1901 Bedford Street, and Mr. and Mrs. William H. Kight, 311 Decatur Street, returned Friday morning from San Francisco, Cal., where Mr. Lashley and Mr. Kight attended the 55th annual convention of the United States Saving and Loan League.

Divorces Granted

Divorce decrees have been signed in Circuit Court in the following cases: Opal Louise Fetters by Elsie G. Robinett, her mother and next friend, vs. John J. Fetters; Edna Smiley vs. Charles Smiley; and Bernadine Sherman vs. Wayne Sherman.

Suit was docketed in equity by Lewis Eldon Mays vs. Virginia Elizabeth Mays.

Some of the first watches were of gloubular form and called "Nuernburg eggs," after the German city of their manufacture.

State Tax Rate Set At 11.13 For 1948

State tax on real estate and personal property, for the 1948 fiscal year has been set at a rate of 11.13 cents on each $100 of assessable property, James J. Lacy, state comptroller, informed the Allegany County Commissioners.

Lacy explained "this unusual rate is due to the fact that in addition to the regular levy of 10 cents, as passed by the General Assembly for 1948, the tax was increased to take care of two special bond issues."

The two special issues, passed at the last session, also ovide for .03 cents on each $100 assessment for the Armory Loan of 1947 and 1.10 cents on each $100 for the General Construction Loan of 1947. These two issues will be serviced by the 1.13 cents provided under the additional levy, it was explained.

Building Permits Total $298,650

Twenty-nine building permits for construction estimated at a total of $289,650 were granted at the city engineer's office in September, according to a report.

The total is well above the normal monthly average because of a permit granted several days ago for construction of a new $250,000 telephone exchange building at the corner of Union and South Centre Streets.

Twenty of the permits were issued for new construction amounting to $293,800, while the remaining nine were additions and improvements estimated to cost $4,850.

During the same period, five applications were made for occupancy permits, and one, which was appealed to the Board of Zoning Appeals, is pending.

F. W. Armbruster secured a permit to build a two-room addition to a residence at 1303 Michigan Avenue. The two-story addition will measure 12 by 14 feet, with a concrete block foundation, frame walls and an asphalt shingle roof. Work will be done by A. L. Will and cost is estimated at $500.

A permit was granted to Vincent A. Buchholtz to build an addition to a service station at 852 North Mechanic Street. The one-story addition will measure 11 by 16 feet, and will be built by enclosing a corner of the present structure. Construction will be of concrete block and glass, with a three-ply compsition roof. J. V. Cookerly is the contractor and cost is estimated at $250.

State Tax Rate Set At 11.13 For 1948

State tax on real estate and personal property, for the 1948 fiscal year has been set at a rate of 11.13 cents on each $100 of assessable property, James J. Lacy, state comptroller, informed the Allegany County Commissioners.

Lacy explained "this unusual rate is due to the fact that in addition to the regular levy of 10 cents, as passed by the General Assembly for 1948, the tax was increased to take care of two special bond issues."

The two special issues, passed at the last session, also ovide for .03 cents on each $100 assessment for the Armory Loan of 1947 and 1.10 cents on each $100 for the General Construction Loan of 1947. These two issues will be serviced by the 1.13 cents provided under the additional levy, it was explained.

Westvaco Sweeps Two-Game Series With Moorefield

See Is 7-2 Winner; Tysinger Hits Homer

MOOREFIELD, W. Va., Sept. 28—Westvaco of the Bi-State Baseball League made a clean sweep of its two-game series with the Moorefield American Legion, champions of the Interstate League, by winning today's game 7 to 2.

The Westernport team took the opening game on its home field last Sunday by the score of 3-0.

Charley Tysinger, Westvaco second sacker, hit the first pitched ball for a homer and Moorefield tied it up at 1-1 in the last of the first frame. Westvaco scored two in the third, three in the 7th and one in the ninth.

Bill See went the route for Westvaco, yielding nine hits while his strikeouts totaled seven. Elwood May was nicked for 13 safeties and whiffed 11.

Sallada and Pattison banged out three hits each while Tysinger turned in a leaping catch on Bob Keller's drive in the 7th inning for the fielding gem. Box:

Penner's Double Gives Lacy's Win Over Hagerstown

Delicatets Top Keedy's In Series Opener, 2-1

Vernon Penner's two-base wallop in the seventh and final inning scored Jim Roby from second base to give Lacy's Delicatets a 2 to 1 decision over Keedy's Insurance team, champions of the Hagerstown Softball League, in the opener of a home-and-home series yesterday at Community Park.

Roby walked to open the seventh and moved to second on one of two infield outs. Then Penner teed off. The inside-the-park wallop would have been good for a home run if that run were needed.

Hagerstown took a 1-0 lead in the third when Kerns tripled and Crockett singled. The City League champions knotted the count at 1-1 in the fourth when "Bee" Orndorff singled, advanced to second on Lapp's infield out and came home on Roby's single.

Roby pitched four-hit ball for the winners while Tratar held the locals to five sefeties.

The teams will clash in a return game next Sunday in Hagerstown. Box:

San Francisco Beats Buffalo Bills, 41-24

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 28—(INS)—Coming back with a vengeance in the second half, San Francisco's entry in the All-America Conference defeated the Buffalo Bills today by a 41 to 24 score.

The 49ers overcame a 17-point deficit in the final half in scoring five touchdowns.

Official attendance was 35,404, a new pro football record for Buffalo.

The San Francisco team was sparked by the passing and running of Frankie Albert, who struck touchdown pay dirt three times himself.

Outstanding for the Bills was the rifle forwarding of George (The Kid) Ratterman, one of his tosses being good for 58 yards that resulted in a score.

Chiefs Win Second Game From Brewers

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 28 (INS)—The Syracuse Chiefs, International League pennant winners, defeated the American Association Champions, the Milwaukee Brewers, 7 to 1, before 10,564 fans this afternoon and now hold a 2 to 0 advantage in the Little World Series.

The Chiefs led off on Vernon Bickford, Brewers' starter, with a six-run scoring spree in the first inning. Hits by Frankie Drews, Hank Sauer, Frank Davis and Al Mele.

Starter Howie Fox went all the way for the Chiefs, yielding seven hits. Score:

KEEGAN AND DAVIS WILL BE SPEAKERS AT LEAGUE DINNER

William V. Keegan, police and fire commissioner, and Frank J. Davis, former governor of the Loyal Order of Moose lodge, will be the principal speakers at the second annual dinner of the Interstate Baseball League tonight at 7 o'clock at the Moose Home.

John J. Long, president of the league, will present the pennant to the Moorefield (W. Va.) American Legion, in the championship series.

Prizes also will be awarded to individual players.

Fort Hill Seeks 12th Win In Row Over Explorers

Teams Clash Friday; Ridgeley Plays AHS

Fort Hill's powerful Sentinels will be striving for their 12th consecutive triumph in the series with LaSalle when Coach Bill Hahn's eleven tackles Coach Johnny Long's unbeaten Explorers Friday night at the local stadium at 8 p. m.

The Sentinels have beaten Moorefield and Keyser in their first two home starts after losing the opener to Washington-Lee High at Arlington, Va., and have rolled up a total of 88 points in three games to grab high-scoring honors in the district.

Fort Hill swamped Keyser 40-7 after LaSalle edged the Mineral countians 6-0 and this is a pretty good indication that the Hilltoppers should be installed favorites by a pretty good margin for Friday's encounter.

Teams Meet 20th Time

The Fort Hill-Penn Avenue series with LaSalle opened back in 1932 when "Bobby" Cavanaugh started football at the South End school. Friday night's game is the 19th meeting of the city schools on the gridiron. Only twice has LaSalle won, 6-0 in 1932, and 25-6 in 1933. Fort Hill has bagged 14 wins. The 1934 and 1936 games ended in scoreless ties. Since the last scoreless tie the Sentinels have bagged 11 in a row from LaSalle and the most one-sided game of the long series was 54-6 in 1944. The schools met twice in 1943, 1944 and 1945.

Five other district games are set for Friday afternoon.

Dick McElwee's undefeated Romney Pioneers (2-0) will play host to Franklin High in a Potomac Valley Conference tilt and Petersburg will oppose the high-powered Moorefield Yellow Jackets on the latter's field in a conference contest.

Homer Brooks' Parsons High Panthers will play Belington in Parsons, Keyser High is host to Emil Suder's Thomas High eleven, and in a night game at Bedford, Coach Bruce Fisher's Bisons with entertain Roaring Springs.

Martinsburg and Hagerstown, foes of AHS and Fort Hill later in the season, will clash on Friday night in Martinsburg, W. Va.

Ridgeley To Play AHS

Saturday night at the local stadium will entertain Jesse Riggleman's Ridgeley High Blackhawks in what gives promise of being a good game. In another nocturnal contest, Potomac State School of Keyser will play Morris Harvey College at Charleston.

Here are the records of district football teams to date:

Detroit Defeats Tribe To Finish In Second Place

Freddie Hutchinson Beats Cleveland, 1-0

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 28 (INS)—Freddie Hutchinson hurled the Detroit Tigers into second place in the American League today by blanking the Cleveland Indians 1 to 0 in the season finale before a crowd of 27,617.

It was the 18th triumph of the season for Detroit's ace righthander, who has lost 10. He gave the Indians six scattered hits, issued only one base on balls and struck out four.

Bob Feller was the loser for Cleveland. It was his 11th defeat of the year against 20 victories. A triple by Hoot Evers, who scored on an infield grounder, accounted for the only run. Box:

YANKEES WIN, 5-3

NEW YORK, Sept. 28—(INS)—The New York Yankees, new American League champions, closed their regular season today with 97 victories by beating the Philadelphia Athletics 5 to 3.

Bill Wight, young southpaw brought up by the Yanks from Kansas City but ineligible for the world series, pitched an eight-hitter.

In a two-inning exhibition before the game, an aggregation of ex-Yankees defeated a team of old-timers, the American League All-Stars, 3 to 0, thanks to Earle Combs' three-run homer over Tris Speaker's head. The All-Star lineup included Ty Cobb, Chief Bender, Cy Young, Home Run Baker, Jimmy Foxx and Mickey Cochrane. Box:

CHISOX WIN IN NINTH

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 28—(INS)—The Chicago White Sox exploded with five runs in the ninth inning to give them a 5 to 2 victory over the St. Louis Browns in the final game of the season.

A crowd of 15,916, third largest of the year for the Browns at home, turned out to see Dizzy Dean return to the mound for the first time in seven years. Nor did Dizzy disappoint the fans as he shut out the Sox with three hits in four innings. Dean also hit a single, but pulled his leg sliding into second and was forced to retire from the game. Glen Moulder was the loser. Box:

Green Bay Wins

GREEN BAY, Wis., Sept. 28 (INS)—An alert Green Bay Packer team outclassed the Champion Chicago Bears to win the season opener today, 29-20, before an overflow crowd of 25,461.

Quarterback Jack Jacobs sparked the Packer offense, scoring one touchdown in the closing minutes of the game and passing for two more.

The Bears were on the prowl until the last period drew to a close but a powerful Green Bay defense thwarted their offense time and again.

ANSWER TO QUERY

The following query has been received from a local boxing fan.

Q. How many times did Bob Pastor fight Joe Louis and what were the results.

A. They met in the ring twice. On January 27, 1937, Louis decisioned Pastor in a 10-round bout in New York City. Louis did not win the heavyweight title from Jimmie Braddock until June 22, 1937. On September 20, 1939 Louis knocked out Pastor in the 11th round at Detroit.

"Spec" Sanders Stars As Yankees Win, 21-7

BALTIMORE, Sept. 28 (INS)—The New York Yankees of the All-America Conference racked up their fourth straight triumph and took the lead in the eastern division today when they defeated the Baltimore Colts, 21-7, before a throng of 51,584.

Spec Sanders sparked the Yankees to victory. He had a hand in all three New York touchdowns, scoring a pair himself, and stepping out in front of the AAC parade with a total of seven.

Baltimore fumbles, however, set up two New York touchdowns in the opening quarter. New York returned the compliment when Dewey Proctor of the Yankees fumbled on his 16-yard line in the second period, leading to Baltimore's lone tally.

Quarterback Bud Schwenk completed 20 passes for Baltimore in 35 tries.

Score by periods:

NEW YORK YANKEES.....14 7 0 0—21
BALTIMORE COLTS ...... 0 7 0 0— 7

New York scoring: Touchdowns, Sanders 2, Burrus. Points after touchdown, H. Johnson (for Sweiger) 3 (placements).

Baltimore scoring: Touchdown, Mertes. Points after touchdown, Lio (placement).

Redskins Lose 45-42 Thriller

Eagles, Washington Set Scoring Marks

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 28 (INS)—Slingin' Sammy Baugh staged a one-man passing show today, but the Washington Redskins still lost a bruising 45-42 decision to the power-laden Philadelphia Eagles.

Baugh passed the 1,000 mark in completed forwards in 11 years of pro football and sparked his team's attack, but his remarkable performance wasn't enough.

The two clubs broke a National League scoring mark by amassing 87 points between them.

The 35,000 fans at Municipal Stadium saw everything — blocked kicks, sensational runs, remarkable passing.

Here's the way the marathon scoring went:

The Eagles scooted to a 3-0 lead three minutes after the opening kickoff on a 40-yard field goal by Fullback Joe Muha.

Several minutes later the rifle arm of Quarterback Tommy Thompson shot a 21-yard touchdown pass to Pete Pihos.

Baugh put the 'Skins back in the game just as the second period started with a 37-yard touchdown heave to Jenkins.

Sammy's 1,000th completed pass for 62 yards sent Eddie Saenz over for Washington's second touchdown and gave the 'Skins a brief 14-10 lead.

The Eagles' ace ball carrier, swivel-hipped Steve Van Buren, ran 95 yards through the entire Redskin team to put the Philadelphians back in the lead.

Just before the half ended Thompson rifled a 35-yard pass to Pihos for the Eagles third score.

Saenz electrified the crowd as he took the kickoff to open the second half and raced 94 yards for a Washington touchdown.

Again the Eagles attack exploded as Thompson fired a 34-yard heave to Jack Ferrante to the 'Skins six. Van Buren plunged for the score.

Thompson passed to Pihos a few minutes later and made the score 38-21, Eagles leading.

But the Redskins weren't giving up.

Baugh's accurate passing arm machine-gunned another 'Skins touchdown to boost Washington's point score to 28.

The Eagles' final marker—which proved to be the game winning touchdown—came in the last period on a 29-yard pass, Thompson to Armstrong.

Baugh tossed 34 passes during the thriller, completing 21 for 364 yards and five touchdowns.

Boston's Braves Win Over Dodgers In 9th Frame, 3-2

Johnny Sain Notches 21st Win Of Season

BOSTON, Sept. 28—(AP)—First Baseman Ed Stevens juggled Earl Torgeson's grounder with the bases loaded in the ninth inning to give the Boston Braves a 3-2 win over the championship Brooklyn Dodgers in the season's windup today before a 25,511 crowd. Johnny Sain chalked up his 21st pitching win in a relief role.

The game, with a makeshift Dodgers' lineup in action, saw the National League Champions drop their only series of the season to the Braves, who thus gained their 12th win over the pennant winners. Box:

HOGAN IS WINNER AT TAM O'SHANTER

CHICAGO, Sept. 28 (INS)—Ben Hogan fashioned his second straight round of sub-par golf today to win the highly select eight-man international championship at Tam O'Shanter in Chicago.

The leathery Texan's victory, worth $5,000 winner-take-all prize plus $2,000 of sponsor George S. May's expense money, made him the leading money winner of the year once more.

Hogan scored a smart two-under par 70 today to add to his blistering 65 yesterday to give him a 135 total for the 6,825 yard course.

Locke finished second, three strokes back of Hogan with a 68-70—138, and Jimmy Demart tied Lloyd Mangrum for third with a crisp 70-69—139

Kramer Whips Schroeder

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 28—(AP)—National Champion Jack Kramer beat his Davis Cup pal, Ted Schroeder, 10-8, 6-4, 6-4, for the second straight year in the men's singles finals of the Pacific Southwest Tennis Tournament today.

BUCKY HARRIS PICKS SHEA TO HURL FIRST WORLD SERIES GAME

NEW YORK, Sept. 28—(AP)—Manager Bucky Harris of the Yankees announced tonight that Frank Shea, 24-year-old rookie righthander, would be his starting pitcher in the first game of the world series against Brooklyn on Tuesday at Yankee Stadium.

Shea will be the first freshman ever to pitch a world series opener for an American League winner. Three National League first-year men have opened —Babe Adams for Pittsburgh in 1909, Jeff Tesreau for the New York Giants in 1912, and Paul Derringer for St. Louis in 1931.

Shea, who will not celebrate his 25th birthday until Oct. 2, won 14 games while losing five for the Yankees in his first season. He was out much of the campaign with a sore arm, returning to form only within the past fortnight.

His mound opponent in the first game likely will be Ralph Branca, 21-year-old Dodger righthander, who won 21 games while losing 12.

72,000 Will See Yankees, Dodgers Tangle Tomorrow

World Series Will Start At 1:30 P. M.

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (AP)—A new world series record for attendance at a single game is certain to be set when the New York Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers, deadly inter-borough rivals, clash Tuesday in the opening battle of the 1947 play-off at Yankee Stadium.

It is expected that around 72,000 paying fans will be jammed into the big Bronx arena — 7,000 of them standing—when the first strike is whizzed across at 1:30 (EST). They will have paid close to $300,000, another record, for the privilege.

7,000 Standees Pay $4

Every one of 52,975 reserved and box seats for the opener long since has been sold, and each of the 7,000 standees has contributed $4 in advance. Only 12,000 bleacher seats remain to go on sale at 8 a. m. the day of the game.

The present one-game record of 69,990 paid admissions was set at the stadium in the '43 series between the Yankees and the St. Louis Cardinals. The single game gross receipts mark of $269,408 was set in the '42 series between the same two clubs.

Both teams went through the motions of closing out their regular schedules in today's nippy weather, the Yanks at the stadium and the Dodgers in Boston. Neither will do more than limber up tomorrow. The Brooklyns never did officially ask permission to work out at the stadium, so each of the clubs will open the series in equal unfamiliarity with the other's park.

Yanks Are Favorites

Principally because of their deeper, more experienced pitching, the Yanks remained firm favorites both to capture the opener and to go on and clinch their 11th world championship in 15 attempts—a record without even a close approach. Anyone wishing to bet on the American League kings had to put up [illegible] to win $9.

Both clubs finished up with no additional injuries. It is doubtful any two series contenders ever approached the play-off in better physical shape. Every Yankee regular with the possible exception of Spud Chandler, veteran pitcher, is ready to take part, and the Dodgers are concerned only about the arm of Harry Taylor, their right-handed freshman ace.

Bruce Edwards, Brooklyn's crack young catcher, slightly injured another finger in his throwing hand yesterday, but it apparently was not serious enough to affect his efficiency in the series. Pete Reiser, the Dodgers' stellar outfielder, is in about as good condition as he has been all season between his bouts with the outer fences.

Meyersdale Tossers Trim Barrelville, 6-5

Meyerdale (Pa.) won the third and deciding game of their baseball series with Barrelville yesterday by winning at the latter place by the score of 6 to 5.

Murray held Barrelville hitless until the 6th inning.

Tuscano led the Meyersdale attack with three hits.

Aldridge, Barrelville, relief pitcher, fanned nine batters. Score:

MEYERSDALE ..... 110 400 000—6 11 5
BARRELVILLE ..... 010 003 100—5 6 5

Murray, Tuscano (7) and Lowery. Stitcher, Aldridge (4) and Deffenbaugh.

2 Unearned Runs Enable Amvets To Cop Thriller

Poffenberger And Clapper Hurl Well

The Cumberland Amvets defeated the Hyndman Firemen 3 to 1 in a fast game played at Hyndman yesterday afternoon in an hour and thirty-five minutes, before 2,500 to 3,000 persons to even the series in the playoff for the Championship of the Bi-State Baseball League.

"Boots" Poffenberger, for the Amvets, and Paul Clapper, of Hyndman, hooked up in a peach of a hurling duel but "lady luck" deserted Clapper, for the day at least, and two unearned runs enabled the Amvets to get even with Clapper for the licking he gave them a week ago. Clapper gave up only five hits, two of those of the scratch variety and Poffenberger yielded only seven.

Amvets Score First

The Amvets broke into the scoring column in the top of the third inning when Clapper lost his control momentarily and walked Riehl to start the inning. Clark laid down a sacrifice and Riehl beat Clapper's throw to second. It was a close decision and the Hyndman players protested Umpire Kelly's decision bitterly but, of course to no avail. Poffenberger then laid down a perfect sacrifice with both runners advancing. Clapper struck out Deluca for the second out and when Gerdeman hit to Deremer at shortstop it looked like Clapper had pitched himself out of trouble, but Deremer's throw to first was high and pulled Pete Cook off the bag, Riehl scoring. Joe Geatz then grounded out to end the inning.

In the fifth the Amvets addded another run. After Clark struck out Poffenberger singled and was forced at second by Deluca on a fielder's choice. Deluca then stole second and while sliding Nave's throw hit him on the shoulder with the ball bounding into left field. Deluca got up and kept right on going to score the second run of the game.

Hyndman's only run came in the last of the fifth when Manges opened with a triple to right center and scored on Bruner's infield out.

Scarpelli Gets Homer

"Bee" Scarpelli, first batter up in the ninth, got an inside-the-park home run when the ball he lined into right field took a bad hop over Miller's head and "Bee" easily beat the throw to the plate. Clapper then struck out the next three batters.

Hyndman threatened in the ninth with P. Cook and Manges getting singles but. Poffenberger got the last batter on a liner to Deluca to end the game and squaring the series at one all.

Clapper struck out seven of the Amvets while Poffenberger sent six of the firemen back to the bench via the strikeout route. Poffenberger walked one and Clapped two, but Poffenberger hit Miller and R. Cook with pitched balls. Both hurlers were effective whenever in trouble. The only error of the game to get more than one hit. The only double play was turned in by Gerdeman, Geatz and Deluca.

Hundreds of Cumberlanders went to Hyndman for the game and the crowd was so large that it was necessary to put up ropes to keep the spectators off the field. Hundreds lined the field down in the first and third base foul lines and countless others watched the contests from windows in houses and barns.

The third and deciding game of the series will be played at Community Park next Sunday, Cumberland winning the toss for the right to select the site for the game.

Pirates Release Wolff To Sacramento Outfit

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 28 (INS)—The Pittsburgh Pirates announced tonight the release of Roger Wolff, veteran knuckle ball pitcher, to Sacramento, of the Pacific Coast League.

Wolff goes to the Solons as part of the Price for Catcher Eddie Fitzgerald, recently purchased by the Bucs for a consideration that involved cash, three players outright and two under option in 1948.

The big right-handed hurler came to Pittsburgh from Cleveland in June of this year. Previously he had played with Philadelphia and Washington in the American League.

Loyola Wins Easily

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 28 (INS)—Loyola University's football squad scored almost at will in overwhelming the Cadets from Mexico's West Point, Colegio Militar, 67 to 2, today.

Although the Cadets showed world's of fighting spirit, they were handicapped by a lack of weight in the line and their inexperience was shown in mistakes that benefitted the Loyola Lions.

The game was played at Gilmore Stadium before a crowd of about 10,000.

Westvaco Sweeps Two-Game Series With Moorefield

See Is 7-2 Winner; Tysinger Hits Homer

MOOREFIELD, W. Va., Sept. 28—Westvaco of the Bi-State Baseball League made a clean sweep of its two-game series with the Moorefield American Legion, champions of the Interstate League, by winning today's game 7 to 2.

The Westernport team took the opening game on its home field last Sunday by the score of 3-0.

Charley Tysinger, Westvaco second sacker, hit the first pitched ball for a homer and Moorefield tied it up at 1-1 in the last of the first frame. Westvaco scored two in the third, three in the 7th and one in the ninth.

Bill See went the route for Westvaco, yielding nine hits while his strikeouts totaled seven. Elwood May was nicked for 13 safeties and whiffed 11.

Sallada and Pattison banged out three hits each while Tysinger turned in a leaping catch on Bob Keller's drive in the 7th inning for the fielding gem. Box:

Penner's Double Gives Lacy's Win Over Hagerstown

Delicatets Top Keedy's In Series Opener, 2-1

Vernon Penner's two-base wallop in the seventh and final inning scored Jim Roby from second base to give Lacy's Delicatets a 2 to 1 decision over Keedy's Insurance team, champions of the Hagerstown Softball League, in the opener of a home-and-home series yesterday at Community Park.

Roby walked to open the seventh and moved to second on one of two infield outs. Then Penner teed off. The inside-the-park wallop would have been good for a home run if that run were needed.

Hagerstown took a 1-0 lead in the third when Kerns tripled and Crockett singled. The City League champions knotted the count at 1-1 in the fourth when "Bee" Orndorff singled, advanced to second on Lapp's infield out and came home on Roby's single.

Roby pitched four-hit ball for the winners while Tratar held the locals to five sefeties.

The teams will clash in a return game next Sunday in Hagerstown. Box:

San Francisco Beats Buffalo Bills, 41-24

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 28—(INS)—Coming back with a vengeance in the second half, San Francisco's entry in the All-America Conference defeated the Buffalo Bills today by a 41 to 24 score.

The 49ers overcame a 17-point deficit in the final half in scoring five touchdowns.

Official attendance was 35,404, a new pro football record for Buffalo.

The San Francisco team was sparked by the passing and running of Frankie Albert, who struck touchdown pay dirt three times himself.

Outstanding for the Bills was the rifle forwarding of George (The Kid) Ratterman, one of his tosses being good for 58 yards that resulted in a score.

Chiefs Win Second Game From Brewers

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 28 (INS)—The Syracuse Chiefs, International League pennant winners, defeated the American Association Champions, the Milwaukee Brewers, 7 to 1, before 10,564 fans this afternoon and now hold a 2 to 0 advantage in the Little World Series.

The Chiefs led off on Vernon Bickford, Brewers' starter, with a six-run scoring spree in the first inning. Hits by Frankie Drews, Hank Sauer, Frank Davis and Al Mele.

Starter Howie Fox went all the way for the Chiefs, yielding seven hits. Score:

William V. Keegan, police and fire commissioner, and Frank J. Davis, former governor of the Loyal Order of Moose lodge, will be the principal speakers at the second annual dinner of the Interstate Baseball League tonight at 7 o'clock at the Moose Home.

John J. Long, president of the league, will present the pennant to the Moorefield (W. Va.) American Legion, in the championship series.

Prizes also will be awarded to individual players.

Fort Hill Seeks 12th Win In Row Over Explorers

Teams Clash Friday; Ridgeley Plays AHS

Fort Hill's powerful Sentinels will be striving for their 12th consecutive triumph in the series with LaSalle when Coach Bill Hahn's eleven tackles Coach Johnny Long's unbeaten Explorers Friday night at the local stadium at 8 p. m.

The Sentinels have beaten Moorefield and Keyser in their first two home starts after losing the opener to Washington-Lee High at Arlington, Va., and have rolled up a total of 88 points in three games to grab high-scoring honors in the district.

Fort Hill swamped Keyser 40-7 after LaSalle edged the Mineral countians 6-0 and this is a pretty good indication that the Hilltoppers should be installed favorites by a pretty good margin for Friday's encounter.

Teams Meet 20th Time

The Fort Hill-Penn Avenue series with LaSalle opened back in 1932 when "Bobby" Cavanaugh started football at the South End school. Friday night's game is the 19th meeting of the city schools on the gridiron. Only twice has LaSalle won, 6-0 in 1932, and 25-6 in 1933. Fort Hill has bagged 14 wins. The 1934 and 1936 games ended in scoreless ties. Since the last scoreless tie the Sentinels have bagged 11 in a row from LaSalle and the most one-sided game of the long series was 54-6 in 1944. The schools met twice in 1943, 1944 and 1945.

Five other district games are set for Friday afternoon.

Dick McElwee's undefeated Romney Pioneers (2-0) will play host to Franklin High in a Potomac Valley Conference tilt and Petersburg will oppose the high-powered Moorefield Yellow Jackets on the latter's field in a conference contest.

Homer Brooks' Parsons High Panthers will play Belington in Parsons, Keyser High is host to Emil Suder's Thomas High eleven, and in a night game at Bedford, Coach Bruce Fisher's Bisons with entertain Roaring Springs.

Martinsburg and Hagerstown, foes of AHS and Fort Hill later in the season, will clash on Friday night in Martinsburg, W. Va.

Ridgeley To Play AHS

Saturday night at the local stadium will entertain Jesse Riggleman's Ridgeley High Blackhawks in what gives promise of being a good game. In another nocturnal contest, Potomac State School of Keyser will play Morris Harvey College at Charleston.

Detroit Defeats Tribe To Finish In Second Place

Freddie Hutchinson Beats Cleveland, 1-0

CLEVELAND, O., Sept. 28 (INS)—Freddie Hutchinson hurled the Detroit Tigers into second place in the American League today by blanking the Cleveland Indians 1 to 0 in the season finale before a crowd of 27,617.

It was the 18th triumph of the season for Detroit's ace righthander, who has lost 10. He gave the Indians six scattered hits, issued only one base on balls and struck out four.

Bob Feller was the loser for Cleveland. It was his 11th defeat of the year against 20 victories. A triple by Hoot Evers, who scored on an infield grounder, accounted for the only run. Box:

YANKEES WIN, 5-3

NEW YORK, Sept. 28—(INS)—The New York Yankees, new American League champions, closed their regular season today with 97 victories by beating the Philadelphia Athletics 5 to 3.

Bill Wight, young southpaw brought up by the Yanks from Kansas City but ineligible for the world series, pitched an eight-hitter.

In a two-inning exhibition before the game, an aggregation of ex-Yankees defeated a team of old-timers, the American League All-Stars, 3 to 0, thanks to Earle Combs' three-run homer over Tris Speaker's head. The All-Star lineup included Ty Cobb, Chief Bender, Cy Young, Home Run Baker, Jimmy Foxx and Mickey Cochrane. Box:

CHISOX WIN IN NINTH

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 28—(INS)—The Chicago White Sox exploded with five runs in the ninth inning to give them a 5 to 2 victory over the St. Louis Browns in the final game of the season.

A crowd of 15,916, third largest of the year for the Browns at home, turned out to see Dizzy Dean return to the mound for the first time in seven years. Nor did Dizzy disappoint the fans as he shut out the Sox with three hits in four innings. Dean also hit a single, but pulled his leg sliding into second and was forced to retire from the game. Glen Moulder was the loser. Box:

Green Bay Wins

GREEN BAY, Wis., Sept. 28 (INS)—An alert Green Bay Packer team outclassed the Champion Chicago Bears to win the season opener today, 29-20, before an overflow crowd of 25,461.

Quarterback Jack Jacobs sparked the Packer offense, scoring one touchdown in the closing minutes of the game and passing for two more.

The Bears were on the prowl until the last period drew to a close but a powerful Green Bay defense thwarted their offense time and again.

ANSWER TO QUERY

The following query has been received from a local boxing fan.

Q. How many times did Bob Pastor fight Joe Louis and what were the results.

A. They met in the ring twice. On January 27, 1937, Louis decisioned Pastor in a 10-round bout in New York City. Louis did not win the heavyweight title from Jimmie Braddock until June 22, 1937. On September 20, 1939 Louis knocked out Pastor in the 11th round at Detroit.

"Spec" Sanders Stars As Yankees Win, 21-7

BALTIMORE, Sept. 28 (INS)—The New York Yankees of the All-America Conference racked up their fourth straight triumph and took the lead in the eastern division today when they defeated the Baltimore Colts, 21-7, before a throng of 51,584.

Spec Sanders sparked the Yankees to victory. He had a hand in all three New York touchdowns, scoring a pair himself, and stepping out in front of the AAC parade with a total of seven.

Baltimore fumbles, however, set up two New York touchdowns in the opening quarter. New York returned the compliment when Dewey Proctor of the Yankees fumbled on his 16-yard line in the second period, leading to Baltimore's lone tally.

Quarterback Bud Schwenk completed 20 passes for Baltimore in 35 tries.

Score by periods:

NEW YORK YANKEES.....14 7 0 0—21
BALTIMORE COLTS ...... 0 7 0 0— 7

New York scoring: Touchdowns, Sanders 2, Burrus. Points after touchdown, H. Johnson (for Sweiger) 3 (placements).

Baltimore scoring: Touchdown, Mertes. Points after touchdown, Lio (placement).

Redskins Lose 45-42 Thriller

Eagles, Washington Set Scoring Marks

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 28 (INS)—Slingin' Sammy Baugh staged a one-man passing show today, but the Washington Redskins still lost a bruising 45-42 decision to the power-laden Philadelphia Eagles.

Baugh passed the 1,000 mark in completed forwards in 11 years of pro football and sparked his team's attack, but his remarkable performance wasn't enough.

The two clubs broke a National League scoring mark by amassing 87 points between them.

The 35,000 fans at Municipal Stadium saw everything — blocked kicks, sensational runs, remarkable passing.

Here's the way the marathon scoring went:

The Eagles scooted to a 3-0 lead three minutes after the opening kickoff on a 40-yard field goal by Fullback Joe Muha.

Several minutes later the rifle arm of Quarterback Tommy Thompson shot a 21-yard touchdown pass to Pete Pihos.

Baugh put the 'Skins back in the game just as the second period started with a 37-yard touchdown heave to Jenkins.

Sammy's 1,000th completed pass for 62 yards sent Eddie Saenz over for Washington's second touchdown and gave the 'Skins a brief 14-10 lead.

The Eagles' ace ball carrier, swivel-hipped Steve Van Buren, ran 95 yards through the entire Redskin team to put the Philadelphians back in the lead.

Just before the half ended Thompson rifled a 35-yard pass to Pihos for the Eagles third score.

Saenz electrified the crowd as he took the kickoff to open the second half and raced 94 yards for a Washington touchdown.

Again the Eagles attack exploded as Thompson fired a 34-yard heave to Jack Ferrante to the 'Skins six. Van Buren plunged for the score.

Thompson passed to Pihos a few minutes later and made the score 38-21, Eagles leading.

But the Redskins weren't giving up.

Baugh's accurate passing arm machine-gunned another 'Skins touchdown to boost Washington's point score to 28.

The Eagles' final marker—which proved to be the game winning touchdown—came in the last period on a 29-yard pass, Thompson to Armstrong.

Baugh tossed 34 passes during the thriller, completing 21 for 364 yards and five touchdowns.

U. S. Retains World Weight-Lifting Title

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 28 (AP)—The United States successfully defended its world weight-lifting championship as its 12-man team swept to victory in all six title divisions.

Stanley Stanczyk, York Pa., middleweight and captain of the American team, set three world records and equalled another as he paced the United States to victory last night. John Davis, Brooklyn, N. Y., negro heavyweight, also smashed three records.

The United States finished with 27 points. Korea was second with three markers, followed by Canada and Great Britain with two each, and Finland and Czechoslovakia one each.

Dr. Heintz Beats C.S. Catherman, Jr., In Golf Tournament At Country Club

Van Roby Defeats Garlitz On 20th

Dr. K. P. Heintz, scored an upset when he defeated C. S. Catherman, Jr., winner of the spring tournament of the Cumberland Country Club, 2 to 1 in one of the matches played in the Championship flight of the fall tournament at the club yesterday. Dr. Heintz, a former club champion, resumed playing regularly this year after giving up golf several years due to ill health.

The longest match in the Championship Flight yesterday was between Clifton Van Roby and George Garlitz with Van Roby winning the match one up on the 20th hole.

R. King defeated J. Manley, Sr., one up on the 18th while Kenneth Fletcher turned back Richard Zembower 4 and 3 and Morgan C. Harris defeated Russ Fonton 3 and 1 in other matches in the Championship Flight.

Results of other matches yesterday were:

SECOND FLIGHT—J. McClure defeated D. Sigel 3 and 2. George Schwarzenbach won over J. Land 3 and 1.

THIRD FLIGHT—Porter Collins defeated Dr. F. Cawley 3 and 2. H. Aikman won over W. Jenkins, Sr., one up on the 18th.

FOURTH FLIGHT—A. W. Keight won over F. W. Eiler, 2 and 1.

FIFTH FLIGHT—Robert Stallings defeated Kenneth Beck 5 and 4. Dr. F. Whitworth turned back Dr. Wylie Faw 5 and 4. Dr. W. Ryan defeated Paul Fletcher 5 and 4.

SIXTH FLIGHT—Judge George Henderson defeated K. Killackey two up on the 18th.

Dr. H. B. Wood won the "Straight Handicap" tournament held at the club yesterday coming out victorious in a field of 19 entries. Winners, whose drives were nearest the cup were:

Dr. Heintz, No. 1; Rev. C. H Bogan, No. 6; Dr. A. P. Heintz, No. 10; Dr. Wood, No. 12; J. McClure, No. 13 and J. Davies, No. 15.

Boston's Braves Win Over Dodgers In 9th Frame, 3-2

Johnny Sain Notches 21st Win Of Season

BOSTON, Sept. 28—(AP)—First Baseman Ed Stevens juggled Earl Torgeson's grounder with the bases loaded in the ninth inning to give the Boston Braves a 3-2 win over the championship Brooklyn Dodgers in the season's windup today before a 25,511 crowd. Johnny Sain chalked up his 21st pitching win in a relief role.

The game, with a makeshift Dodgers' lineup in action, saw the National League Champions drop their only series of the season to the Braves, who thus gained their 12th win over the pennant winners. Box:

CURT SIMMONS WINS

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 28—(AP)—The New York Giants and Philadelphia Phillies divided a doubleheader here today before 14,004, the Giants winning the first game 4 to 1 and the Phillies the second 3 to 1. By winning the nightcap the Phillies tied Pittsburgh for seventh place.

In the first game the Giants took advantage of three Phil errors in the seventh inning and combined them with three hits to score three runs and break a 1 to 1 tie. In the afterpiece Curt Simmons, spectacular young southpaw rookie of the Phillies, held the Giants to five hits and fanned nine. Box:

HOGAN IS WINNER AT TAM O'SHANTER

CHICAGO, Sept. 28 (INS)—Ben Hogan fashioned his second straight round of sub-par golf today to win the highly select eight-man international championship at Tam O'Shanter in Chicago.

The leathery Texan's victory, worth $5,000 winner-take-all prize plus $2,000 of sponsor George S. May's expense money, made him the leading money winner of the year once more.

Hogan scored a smart two-under par 70 today to add to his blistering 65 yesterday to give him a 135 total for the 6,825 yard course.

Locke finished second, three strokes back of Hogan with a 68-70—138, and Jimmy Demart tied Lloyd Mangrum for third with a crisp 70-69—139

BUCKY HARRIS PICKS SHEA TO HURL FIRST WORLD SERIES GAME

NEW YORK, Sept. 28—(AP)—Manager Bucky Harris of the Yankees announced tonight that Frank Shea, 24-year-old rookie righthander, would be his starting pitcher in the first game of the world series against Brooklyn on Tuesday at Yankee Stadium.

Shea will be the first freshman ever to pitch a world series opener for an American League winner. Three National League first-year men have opened—Babe Adams for Pittsburgh in 1909, Jeff Tesreau for the New York Giants in 1912, and Paul Derringer for St. Louis in 1931.

Shea, who will not celebrate his 25th birthday until Oct. 2, won 14 games while losing five for the Yankees in his first season. He was out much of the campaign with a sore arm, returning to form only within the past fortnight.

His mound opponent in the first game likely will be Ralph Branca, 21-year-old Dodger righthander, who won 21 games while losing 12.

72,000 Will See Yankees, Dodgers Tangle Tomorrow

World Series Will Start At 1:30 P. M.

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (AP)—A new world series record for attendance at a single game is certain to be set when the New York Yankees and Brooklyn Dodgers, deadly inter-borough rivals, clash Tuesday in the opening battle of the 1947 play-off at Yankee Stadium.

It is expected that around 72,000 paying fans will be jammed into the big Bronx arena — 7,000 of them standing—when the first strike is whizzed across at 1:30 (EST). They will have paid close to $300,000, another record, for the privilege.

7,000 Standees Pay $4

Every one of 52,975 reserved and box seats for the opener long since has been sold, and each of the 7,000 standees has contributed $4 in advance. Only 12,000 bleacher seats remain to go on sale at 8 a. m. the day of the game.

The present one-game record of 69,990 paid admissions was set at the stadium in the '43 series between the Yankees and the St. Louis Cardinals. The single game gross receipts mark of $269,408 was set in the '42 series between the same two clubs.

Both teams went through the motions of closing out their regular schedules in today's nippy weather, the Yanks at the stadium and the Dodgers in Boston. Neither will do more than limber up tomorrow. The Brooklyns never did officially ask permission to work out at the stadium, so each of the clubs will open the series in equal unfamiliarity with the other's park.

Yanks Are Favorites

Principally because of their deeper, more experienced pitching, the Yanks remained firm favorites both to capture the opener and to go on and clinch their 11th world championship in 15 attempts—a record without even a close approach. Anyone wishing to bet on the American League kings had to put up $[illegible] to win $9.

Both clubs finished up with no additional injuries. It is doubtful any two series contenders ever approached the play-off in better physical shape. Every Yankee regular with the possible exception of Spud Chandler, veteran pitcher, is ready to take part, and the Dodgers are concerned only about the arm of Harry Taylor, the right-handed freshman ace.

Bruce Edwards, Brooklyn's crack young catcher, slightly injured another finger in his throwing hand yesterday, but it apparently was not serious enough to affect his efficiency in the series. Pete Reiser, the Dodgers' stellar outfielder, is in about as good condition as he has been all season between his bouts with the outer fences.

Meyersdale Tossers Trim Barrelville, 6-5

Meyerdale (Pa.) won the third and deciding game of their baseball series with Barrelville yesterday by winning at the latter place by the score of 6 to 5.

Murray held Barrelville hitless until the 6th inning.

Tuscano led the Meyersdale attack with three hits.

Aldridge, Barrelville, relief pitcher, fanned nine batters. Score:

MEYERSDALE ..... 110 400 000—6 11 5
BARRELVILLE ..... 010 003 100—5 6 5

Murray, Tuscano (7) and Lowery. Stitcher, Aldridge (4) and Deffenbaugh.

2 Unearned Runs Enable Amvets To Cop Thriller

Poffenberger And Clapper Hurl Well

The Cumberland Amvets defeated the Hyndman Firemen 3 to 1 in a fast game played at Hyndman yesterday afternoon in an hour and thirty-five minutes, before 2,500 to 3,000 persons to even the series in the playoff for the Championship of the Bi-State Baseball League.

"Boots" Poffenberger, for the Amvets, and Paul Clapper, of Hyndman, hooked up in a peach of a hurling duel but "lady luck" deserted Clapper, for the day at least, and two unearned runs enabled the Amvets to get even with Clapper for the licking he gave them a week ago. Clapper gave up only five hits, two of those of the scratch variety and Poffenberger yielded only seven.

Amvets Score First

The Amvets broke into the scoring column in the top of the third inning when Clapper lost his control momentarily and walked Riehl to start the inning. Clark laid down a sacrifice and Riehl beat Clapper's throw to second. It was a close decision and the Hyndman players protested Umpire Kelly's decision bitterly but, of course to no avail. Poffenberger then laid down a perfect sacrifice with both runners advancing. Clapper struck out Deluca for the second out and when Gerdeman hit to Deremer at shortstop it looked like Clapper had pitched himself out of trouble, but Deremer's throw to first was high and pulled Pete Cook off the bag, Riehl scoring. Joe Geatz then grounded out to end the inning.

In the fifth the Amvets addded another run. After Clark struck out Poffenberger singled and was forced at second by Deluca on a fielder's choice. Deluca then stole second and while sliding Nave's throw hit him on the shoulder with the ball bounding into left field. Deluca got up and kept right on going to score the second run of the game.

Hyndman's only run came in the last of the fifth when Manges opened with a triple to right center and scored on Bruner's infield out.

Scarpelli Gets Homer

"Bee" Scarpelli, first batter up in the ninth, got an inside-the-park home run when the ball he lined into right field took a bad hop over Miller's head and "Bee" easily beat the throw to the plate. Clapper then struck out the next three batters.

Hyndman threatened in the ninth with P. Cook and Manges getting singles but Poffenberger got the last batter on a liner to Deluca to end the game and squaring the series at one all.

Clapper struck out seven of the Amvets while Poffenberger sent six of the firemen back to the bench via the strikeout route. Poffenberger walked one and Clapped two, but Poffenberger hit Miller and R. Cook with pitched balls. Both hurlers were effective whenever in trouble. The only error of the game to get more than one hit. The only double play was turned in by Gerdeman, Geatz and Deluca.

Hundreds of Cumberlanders went to Hyndman for the game and the crowd was so large that it was necessary to put up ropes to keep the spectators off the field. Hundreds lined the field down in the first and third base foul lines and countless others watched the contests from windows in houses and barns.

The third and deciding game of the series will be played at Community Park next Sunday, Cumberland winning the toss for the right to select the site for the game.

Pirates Release Wolff To Sacramento Outfit

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 28 (INS)—The Pittsburgh Pirates announced tonight the release of Roger Wolff, veteran knuckle ball pitcher, to Sacramento, of the Pacific Coast League.

Wolff goes to the Solons as part of the Price for Catcher Eddie Fitzgerald, recently purchased by the Bucs for a consideration that involved cash, three players outright and two under option in 1948.

The big right-handed hurler came to Pittsburgh from Cleveland in June of this year. Previously he had played with Philadelphia and Washington in the American League.

Loyola Wins Easily

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 28 (INS)—Loyola University's football squad scored almost at will in overwhelming the Cadets from Mexico's West Point, Colegio Militar, 67 to 2, today.

Although the Cadets showed world's of fighting spirit, they were handicapped by a lack of weight in the line and their inexperience was shown in mistakes that benefitted the Loyola Lions.

The game was played at Gilmore Stadium before a crowd of about 10,000.

FRAMING
You will appreciate this fine, high grade Pine and Hemlock Framing. Surfaced 4 sides — Full thickness — The best is not too good for your home.

SHEATHING
We can surely accommodate you when it comes to Sheathing . . . We have it in Pine, Hemlock, or Oak. For real economy and a fair job we recommend Oak Sheathing surfaced 2 sides.

PINE FLOORING
Carload just in — All grades. This is fine stock, well manufactured.

ROOFERS
Ample stock — This is high grade, well manufactured.

SHELVING
If it is Shelving . . . This White Pine will please you.

OAK FLOORING
All grades, 1½ and 2¼ inch face. Kiln dried, end matched, well manufactured.

PLYWOOD
SHEATHING GRADE
5-16" Thick
This is a lower grade at a lower price. It is especially suitable as a linoleum base, or for lining in cabinet or other work.
PRICE—12c PER SQ. FT.
SEE IT—ON DISPLAY

INSULATION
The two kinds of insulation described here will give you the best protection for every insulating need. Use the kind that is most practical for the job at hand. Some installations require both ZONOLITE and FIBERGLAS WOOL.

FIBERGLAS WOOL
This we believe to be the best in this type of insulation. It comes in rolls 16 and 24 inches wide, and is installed by unrolling it between the studs, joists, and rafters.
PRICE—$75 PER M. SQ. FT.

ZONOLITE
ZONOLITE granular fill is easily and quickly installed — Simply pour it in place. It is practical and efficient for almost any insulation need.
PRICE—$1.25 PER BAG
4 cu. ft. per bag

TITE-ON SHINGLES
STAY PUT
This shingle gives double coverage over the entire roof. It also gives roofs beauty to an amazing degree.
These are that good Ruberoid brand.

FRAMING
You will appreciate this fine, high grade Pine and Hemlock Framing. Surfaced 4 sides — Full thickness — The best is not too good for your home.

SHEATHING
We can surely accommodate you when it comes to Sheathing . . . We have it in Pine, Hemlock, or Oak. For real economy and a fair job we recommend Oak Sheathing surfaced 2 sides.

PINE FLOORING
Carload just in — All grades. This is fine stock, well manufactured.

ROOFERS
Ample stock — This is high grade, well manufactured.

SHELVING
If it is Shelving . . . This White Pine will please you.

OAK FLOORING
All grades, 1½ and 2¼ inch face. Kiln dried, end matched, well manufactured.

PLYWOOD
SHEATHING GRADE
5-16" Thick
This is a lower grade at a lower price. It is especially suitable as a linoleum base, or for lining in cabinet or other work.
PRICE—12c PER SQ. FT.

INSULATION
The two kinds of insulation described here will give you the best protection for every insulating need. Use the kind that is most practical for the job at hand. Some installations require both ZONOLITE and FIBERGLAS WOOL.

FIBERGLAS WOOL
This we believe to be the best in this type of insulation. It comes in rolls 16 and 24 inches wide, and is installed by unrolling it between the studs, joists, and rafters.
PRICE—$75 PER M. SQ. FT.

ZONOLITE
ZONOLITE granular fill is easily and quickly installed — Simply pour it in place. It is practical and efficient for almost any insulation need.
PRICE—$1.25 PER BAG
4 cu. ft. per bag

TITE-ON SHINGLES
STAY PUT
This shingle gives double coverage over the entire roof. It also gives roofs beauty to an amazing degree.
These are that good Ruberoid brand.

Another Flock Of Changes Coming To Three Networks

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Sept. 28—First Monday back under standard time is bringing another flock of changes to networking activities.

But first (as they say in radio) MBS, in anticipation of its annual World Series broadcasting starting Tuesday afternoon will do a 9:30 preview of the event with an interview series by baseball notables headed by Commissioner A. B. Chandler.

Now to get back to the developments: ABC at 8 is starting a new Paul Whiteman series titled On Stage America. It will be an addition to the growing list of shows in which new talent, no matter its category, is being displayed a la the former amateur show idea.

The changing scenes: Lum and Abner, formerly ABC so long, move to CBS and expand from four to five times a week at 5:45, with a west repeat at 6:30 . . . Collyer and his Superman return from vacation to MBS at 5:15, repeat at 6:15. . . . The Andrews sisters join the Bob Crosby club on CBS at 7:30.

Transfer of Lowell Thomas to CBS after his long tenure on NBC is to produce some shifting along with other changes in newscasts. The lineup: Lowell Thomas at 6:45, the same time he had on NBC, but with an 11 repeat; Three newscasters, Ray Henle, Felix Morley and Ned Brooks taking over Thomas' old time on NBC at 6:45; the Morgan Beatty newscast at 7:15 adding a west repeat at 11:15; Edward R. Murrow replacing Bob Trout in the 7:45 period, which has a 12:45 rebroadcast.

Then these time changes: NBC—10 a. m. Fred Waring; 11 Jack Kilty song, 11:15 Katie's Daughter . . . CBS—2:20 p. m. Look Your Best; 3:30 House party; 4:30 Winner Take All; 5 Give and Take . . . ABC—8:30 Phil Silvers comedy, 9 Candid Microphone.

WHO USED MY MANICURE SCISSORS AND DIDN'T RETURN THEM?
MAMA USED THEM
WHEN A WIFE BORROWS HER HUSBAND'S MANICURE SCISSORS, SHE'S SUPPOSED TO PUT THEM BACK WHERE SHE FOUND THEM!
I DON'T REMEMBER ANYTHING IN OUR WEDDING CEREMONY ABOUT PUTTING BACK MANICURE SCISSORS!
WHY DOESN'T THE WEDDING CEREMONY COVER ALL THESE THINGS?

Another Flock Of Changes Coming To Three Networks

By C. E. BUTTERFIELD

NEW YORK, Sept. 28—First Monday back under standard time is bringing another flock of changes to networking activities.

But first (as they say in radio) MBS, in anticipation of its annual World Series broadcasting starting Tuesday afternoon will do a 9:30 preview of the event with an interview series by baseball notables headed by Commissioner A. B. Chandler.

Now to get back to the developments: ABC at 8 is starting a new Paul Whiteman series titled On Stage America. It will be an addition to the growing list of shows in which new talent, no matter its category, is being displayed a la the former amateur show idea.

The changing scenes: Lum and Abner, formerly ABC so long, move to CBS and expand from four to five times a week at 5:45, with a west repeat at 6:30 . . . Collyer and his Superman return from vacation to MBS at 5:15, repeat at 6:15. . . . The Andrews sisters join the Bob Crosby club on CBS at 7:30.

Transfer of Lowell Thomas to CBS after his long tenure on NBC is to produce some shifting along with other changes in newscasts. The lineup: Lowell Thomas at 6:45, the same time he had on NBC, but with an 11 repeat; Three newscasters, Ray Henle, Felix Morley and Ned Brooks taking over Thomas' old time on NBC at 6:45; the Morgan Beatty newscast at 7:15 adding a west repeat at 11:15; Edward R. Murrow replacing Bob Trout in the 7:45 period, which has a 12:45 rebroadcast.

Then these time changes: NBC—10 a. m. Fred Waring; 11 Jack Kilty song, 11:15 Katie's Daughter . . . CBS—2:20 p. m. Look Your Best; 3:30 House party; 4:30 Winner Take All; 5 Give and Take . . . ABC—8:30 Phil Silvers comedy, 9 Candid Microphone.

LaVale Child, 6, Fatally Injured In Auto Accident

Police Say Miller Boy Fell From Car

A 6-year-old LaVale boy who accidentally opened the door of his father's moving automobile fell to the road and was fatally injured yesterday at 12:50 p. m., a quarter of a mile south of the Clary Club on Vale Summit Road, according to State Police.

Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, said David Gene Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Miller, LaVale, died instantly of a brain concussion after he suffered a slight fracture of the skull and a fractured neck.

Trooper Jack Browning, who investigated, said the child was riding in the front seat of the two-door coach with his father, who was en route to Lonaconing to visit the boy's grandfather, Henry Miller, when he began playing with the door handle.

Police explained that the door opened toward the front of the car, and after the child released the lock a gust of wind pulled the door open and dragged him from the car.

Dr. Deming said the child apparently landed on his head. He was taken to Miners Hospital, Frostburg, where he was pronounced dead upon admittance. Investigating officials said they believed the car was traveling at a moderate rate of speed at the time of the accident.

David was a second grade student at LaVale Elementary School and would have been 7 years old in December.

The boy's parents said last night that another son, Bobby John, 3, died accidentally in 1938 when he was thrown from a wagon he was riding on a brick-paved street. The youth, they said, was thrown from the wagon, when the wheels became lodged in the brick. He suffered a broken neck.

A funeral service will be delayed pending the return of an older brother, Pvt. William Francis Miller, who is serving with the United States Army in Germany. Mrs. Miller, the former Miss Irene Holmes, Lonaconing, said the local chapter of the American Red Cross has been contacted in an effort to have the older son returned to this country.

The body will be brought to the LaVale home at the corner of Park Heights and Route 40.

Two sisters also survive. They are Betty Miller, 23, and Marie Miller, 10, both at home.

FATALLY INJURED — Falling from a moving car, when he accidentally opened the door, David Gene Miller, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Miller, LaVale, was pronounced dead yesterday upon admittance to Miners Hospital, Frostburg. Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, said the child died of a brain concussion.

Brothers Are Held On Alleged Threat To Shoot Yeager

Troopers Arrest Pair In Midland

Two Cumberland brothers were being held in the County Jail last night after their arrest following a disturbance at a Midland bowling alley in which State Police said they broke two windows and threatened to shoot the proprietor, John Yeager, 74 Greene Street, Cumberland.

State Trooper A. M. Spioch who, with Trooper Jack Browning, conducted the investigation, identified the brothers as William Jeffries, 22, and Alfred Jeffries, 36, both of 218 Glenn Street, this city.

Charges Not Disclosed

Charges against the two men were not disclosed pending a conference with the State's Attorney, and completion of the investigation.

Both Jeffries brothers had been drinking when they entered the bowling alley late Saturday night, police stated, and after one of them allegedly broke a window Yeager asked them to pay for the damage and leave.

After settling for the damage to the window, the Jeffries brothers left, and in a short time two objects, believed to be pieces of pipe, came hurtling through another window, police said.

When Yeager went outside and ordered the Jeffries to leave, they threatened him, one word led to another and a fight ensued, according to officers, who said that Alfred Jeffries then went to an automobile, got an "Army gun," pointeted it at Yeager and declared he was going to kill him.

Harrison Grabs Gun

Joseph Harrison, Boulevard Apartments, Cumberland, an employe of Yeager, grabbed the gun and attempted to take it away and another scuffle followed before someone notified State police, officers related.

When the Jeffries brothers left the scene, Alfred had the weapon in his possession, Trooper Spioch said. He added that the Jeffries returned to the bowling alley in about five minutes and were immediately arrested by himself and Trooper Browning who had arrived in the meantime.

The Jeffries were held at the Frostburg Jail until yesterday morning when they were removed to the County Jail.

Local Polio Group Receives Charter

A charter was presented last week to the Cumberland Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, at a meeting held in the headquarters of Allegany County League for Crippled Children.

Institution of the chapter, which has been functioning as a branch unit of the Baltimore Chapter of the National Foundation, will not affect its long connection with the more general aid to handicapped children carried on by the League for Crippled Children.

While the chapter will concern itself only with polio cases, the league will continue its aid to victims of cerebral palsy, speech defects, orthopedic sufferers, cardiac cases and other crippling diseases.

Officers of Cumberland Chapter are Tasker G. Lowndes, chairman; Miss Henrietta Schwarzenbach, vice chairman; John H. Mosner, treasurer; J. William Hunt, secretary; and Mrs. Hume O. Annan, executive secretary.

Meanwhile, two more suspected polio cases, one in this county and the other in Preston County, W. Va., were reported here yesterday following Saturday's notification of two positive cases in Hampshire County, W. Va.

The latest county suspect is Leroy Bland, nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bland, Luke, whose right leg has become affected. A student at Luke Elementary School, he has been ill a "couple days" at home.

From Parsons, W. Va., came word that Terry Vandevender, six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Troy Vandevender, Aurora, was taken yesterday to the polio center in Milton. He was admitted to Tucker County Hospital, Parsons, last Monday.

Hampshire County's most recent victims are four-year-old Linda Jean Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Baker, Slanesville, and James Parker, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Parker, Vanderlip.

Schlosser Hearing Postponed Indefinitely

The preliminary hearing for Ralph A. Schlosser, 21, Cresaptown, identified as the driver of a car which struck and fatally injured Doris Elaine Rosenberger, 16, Roberts Place, September 20, has been postponed indefinitely, according to State's Attorney Morgan C. Harris.

Schlosser was scheduled for a hearing Saturday morning, but because the victim's mother was unable to appear, the case was delayed. The Rosenberger girl died in Allegany Hospital 15 minutes after she was struck by a car as she attempted to cross the highway in front of her home.

A concentrated State Police campaign to reduce speeding on Route 220, along which Roberts Place is located, resulted Saturday in 11 drivers either being fined or forfeiting bonds on charges of violating state motor laws.

Sgt. W. E. O'Hara, commander of the LaVale sub-station of the Maryland State Police, said every effort will be made to enforce traffic regulations along 220 and reduce the accidents.

Temperature Reading

The temperature was down to 48 degrees at 9:30 last night after reaching a maximum of 64 during the afternoon, rising from an overnight low of 30 degrees for the second straight day. However, it was not expected to drop that low by this morning and warmer weather is in prospect for today. Readings of 26 and 22 degrees were reported at Oakland last week.

News Briefs

Circle No. 5, WSCS of Centre Street Methodist Church, will hold a rummage sale tomorrow at 6:30 p. m. in the church basement.

Emory Stevens, general secretary of the Elizabeth, N. J., Y. M. C. A., visited Central Y. M. C. A Saturday.

Arthur Verner, manager of the export division of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, will address the Cumberland Rotary Club on "The International Dollar Problem," at the meeting in Central W. M. C. A. at 12:15 p. m. Tuesday.

Police Seek Watch

Anna M. T. Webster, 445 Cumberland Street, Saturday notified police of the loss or theft of a yellow gold wrist watch. Police are also investigating the breaking of a window glass in a store room of the Queen City Paint and Glass Company, 415 Henderson Avenue.

Maryland Constitution In Need Of Streamlining, Henderson Says

The state constitution of Maryland "needs streamlining," but any changes should be made by amendments rather than by a "blank check," Associate Judge George Henderson said at a dinner meeting of the state executive committee of the Maryland Junior Association of Commerce in Hagerstown Saturday night.

Judge Henderson was guest speaker at the baquet, held at the Hotel Alexander as one of the features of the regular quarterly meeting of the state executive committee, state officers and state chairman of the Jaycees. Approximately 60 persons attended, including a delegation from Cumberland.

Judge Henderson pointed out that the state constitution provides that every 20 years the residents of Maryland may decide if they wish to call a constitutional convention. He said that 1950 will be the next year in which the voters can decide whether they wish any constitutional changes to be made.

A special section of the constitution, he said, deals with Baltimore, which has about half the population of the state but only about one-quarter representation in the state legislature.

He said it is his opinion that Baltimore should not be given full representation, stating that it would "not be wise" for the state as a whole.

Another speaker was John Jacobs, president of the Maryland Jaycees, who reiterated a committee recommendation that the federal government should equalize income tax laws.

A business session yesterday morning concluded the two-day meeting.

Beer Distributors Offer Drivers Pay Hike Of 11 1-2 Cents

Strike Scheduled For Today Averted

A flat 11½ cent hourly pay hike offer to 75 drivers of 23 area beer distributors averted a strike scheduled for this morning that would have seriously curtailed delivery of local beer to points outside the city, according to C. E. Stutzman, business agent of Local 453, Teamsters and Chauffeurs Union, AFL.

Stutzman said the offer was made by the distributors at a meeting Friday night after 30 days of negotiating to replace a contract that expired September 1. Members of the union had voted to strike this morning if an agreement was not reached.

While the offer, which also calls for seven paid holidays and two weeks' paid vacation after three years' employment, has not yet been approved by the union membership, Stutzman said the negotiating committee will recommend that the proposed contract be accepted at the membership meeting Thursday night.

The 11½ cent hourly pay hike will boost drivers' hourly pay to $1.20 and helpers' pay to $1.10, according to Stutzman, who said the seven paid holidays is a new clause in the contract, and added the vacation period previously has been one week with pay after one year's employment. The one-week pay for one-year employes will be continued, he said.

Provisions of the contract, which likely will be accepted with the committee's recommendation will be retroactive to September 1, the date the old contract expired, Stutzman declared.

Negotiations for the new contract have been underway for approximately 30 days, or shortly before the old contract expired. The membership last week rejected an offer of one and one-half cents per hour, and voted to strike this morning if a satisfactory contract was not reached at Friday night's meeting of the distributors and negotiating committee.

The distributors which the strike would have affected delivery of beer to points in Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Maryland, according to union officials.

Union members of the negotiating committee included Charles Wilhelm, R. C. Kergan, George Brode, Stutzman, Charles E. Bramble, president of the local, and Norman Kegler, Pittsburgh, representative of Teamsters Joint Council.

1,200 Persons Attend Annual Moose Picnic

Approximately 1,200 persons, members of Cumberland Lodge No. 271, Loyal Order of Moose, and their families, attended the annual picnic of the lodge yesterday at Fairgo.

The program featured a softball game, track and field events, and the showing of two movies, "The Child City," describing the Mooseheart home in Illinois, and a film on child delinquency.

Lodge officials said "The Child City" is available for showing at meetings of organizations in Cumberland and nearby communities.

Training Cruise Ends

Thomas E. Smith, electrician's mate, third class, USNR, husband of Mrs. Virginia O. Smith, 10 Altamont Terrace, has completed a two-week naval reserve training cruise to Hamilton, Bermuda, aboard the heavy cruiser USS Albany.

GRADUATE NURSES—Miss Bronwen Reese, Frostburg, Miss Mary Louise Smith, Eckhart, and Miss Suzanne Hosken, Frostburg (shown left to right), graduated from Union Memorial Hospital School of Nursing, Baltimore, Thursday. This afternoon they will take the State Board examination in Baltimore. Miss Reese and Miss Hosken will remain on the staff of Union Memorial while Miss Smith intends to go to school to take a course qualifying her to become an anesthetist. The three young women graduated from Beall High School in 1944 and were the only Allegany County residents in the hospital graduating class Thursday. The commencement exercises were attended by the graduates' parents. Rev. and Mrs. W. D. Reese, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin L. Smith, and Mrs. Frank Hosken.

National Dinner Club Announces Outstanding 1947-48 Speaking List

Officers and directors of the Cumberland National Dinner Club met with Miss Gwendolyn Hughes of the national office to perfect final arrangements for the clubs' 1947-1948 program of outstanding platform personalities.

The recently organized Dinner Club held its first meeting April 29 at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club, when Ely Culbertson, noted bridge expert, presented his famed "Quota Force Plan" for world peace. The club is unique in that it will personalize the town meeting idea by keeping Cumberland folks up-to-date through personal presentations of the important issues and by meeting the experts face-to-face. The club will hold seven dinner meetings each season, October through April. The local committee selects the seven speakers from a list of approximately 40 eminent platform personalities. These are the same speakers who appear at the famous New York Town Hall and other leading town halls in the country.

Since the Cumberland Dinner Club was organized, the National Dinner Clubs have become a part of the larger organization known as The Associated Clubs. This will allow local members to attend the Associated Club dinners and to hear their guest speakers in over 225 cities throughout the country and will afford a larger range of outstanding platform personalities.

The 1947-1948 season will open with a dinner meeting at the Shrine Country Club with Harold J. Kennedy, noted playwright, actor and producer as guest speaker. Orson Welles says that "Mr. Kennedy is the amusing and informative speaker on the theater today. He is so much fun to listen to, you are apt not to realize until hours later just how much you have learned." The program for the season is:

October 21 — Harold J. Kennedy. This playwright, author, producer in his informative address covers many aspects of the theater, screen, and radio with delightfully humorous commentaries.

November 11 — Henry Shapiro. Dean of foreign correspondents in the Soviet Union and former chief of the United Press Bureau in Moscow from 1934 to 1947. Shapiro will bring an objective and impersonal talk on a very timely subject.

December 9—Maxine Berlitz Vollmer. Granddaughter of Maxmillian D. Berlitz who founded the internationally known school of languages. With a solid foundation of knowledge and an irresistible humor, Miss Vollmer is well qualified to talk on her favorite subject: "Why We Talk The Way We Do."

January 13, 1948 — Hawthorne Daniel. A keen analyst, former editor of "The Commentator" and noted author presents a brilliant over-all picture of the trends of empire from the economic and scientific point of view when speaking on "America's New Pacific Empire."

February 17, 1948—Jesse Stuart. "The American Robert Burns". . . from farmboy to author, this poet springs straight from the American earth; and his poetry and stories are deeply rooted in our earth and the people who live upon it.

March 16, 1948—Ray Brock. This noted foreign correspondent, who at present is traveling through the Balkans, Palestine and the Middle East, will give the inside facts on the world-shaking events now taking place in these areas. Brock was the only foreign correspondent who served with the insurgent forces of Drazha Milhailovitch during the Balkan campaign. When Milhailovitch was brought to trial as a traitor by Tito's government, it was Brock who organized the committee of state and national leaders that demanded a fair trial for Milhailovitch, and who personally took the case to President Truman.

Keyser Cab Driver Hurt In Crash On Knobley Mountain

Car's Brakes Lock Going Down Slope

Theodore Wolford, 26-year-old taxi driver of Keyser, W. Va., was reported in good condition last night in Potomac Valley Hospital there, where he was admitted at 6:15 p. m. after suffering minor injuries in an accident on Routh 46 as he was driving down Knobley Mountain, about a mile east of Keyser.

Hospital attaches said Wolford suffered a laceration of the lip, and that several of his teeth were knocked out.

Wolford reported that he was en route back to Keyser after calling a Baltimore and Ohio Railroad employe in Fort Ashby to work, and that he was driving alone in a 1941 taxi of Mac's Taxi Company. While descending Knobley Mountain, he said, the car's brakes locked and the machine struck an embankment.

The headlights of the car were broken and the front end was smashed in the accident, Wolford said.

Treated in the same hospital was Alvin Carder, 24, 40 Central Avenue, Ridgeley, W. Va., who suffered a cut on the first finger of his left hand.

A 3-year-old girl, Darlene Porter, 457 Columbia Street, was treated in Allegany Hospital after she ran a nail into her right knee. Also treated were Edward Shober, 23, 536 North Mechanic Street, for a laceration of the left hand; and Joseph Click, 32, Mt. Savage, for a small laceration above the left eye.

Four persons, including two women, were treated Saturday in Allegany Hospital for injuries suffered in falls.

Mrs. Elizabeth McGann, 112 North Allegany Street, sustained a right wrist injury when she fell down several steps at her home, and Mrs. Blanche Sommerlatt, 73, Route 3, this city, fractured her left arm in a fall from a ladder.

Boyd H. Saulser, 44, Route 3, had a cast applied to his left ankle after he stepped into a hole and fell, and Herbert C. Silvious, 18, of 39 Offutt Street, also hurt his left ankle in a fall.

Frostburg Seaman Describes Storm

A Frostburg woman has received a letter from her son, stationed at the Mainside Naval Air Station near Pensacola, Fla., describing the hurricane which struck that section last week.

Seaman First Class Paul W. Hetz, son of Mrs. Laura E. Hetz, 124 McCulloh Street, Frostburg, wrote that winds reached 102 miles an hour, accompanied with rain, and that "even now the water is splashing right up to the back of my house."

Seaman Hetz took his wife, the former Miss Mabel Eichhorn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Eichhorn, Jr., 3 Park Street, Frostburg, and their infant son, Ronnie, to Corry Field at Pensacola, where they spent the night in brick barracks with other evacuated families. Few persons were injured in the storm because "we had time to prepare for it," he wrote.

Fire May Interrupt John T. Jones' Trip

LIVINGSTON, Mont., Sept. 28 (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. John T. Jones, Cumberland, Md., may not attend the American Federation of Labor's national convention opening in San Francisco October 6, as they had planned.

Their journey to the West Coast was interrupted Friday when flames destroyed their automobile near here. The Joneses were able to save but a portion of their belongings.

Jones, president of District 16, United Mine Workers and director of labor's Non-Partisan League, Washington, said he was undecided whether to attend the convention or entrain for home.

Third Body Found At Crashed Plane Piloted By Duncan

Discovered 150 Yards From Debris

The body of the third victim of a plane crash which claimed the life of a local pilot 15 miles east of Salisbury Saturday was found last night more than 24 hours after the twisted wreckage was discovered in a wooded sector.

Police said the third victim, identified as Richard Nelson, 40, Crisfield seafood packer and the father of two children, apparently fell or jumped before the crash which killed William Michael Duncan, 23, this city, identified as the pilot, and Preston Stirling, 19, Crisfield.

Nelson's body was found about 150 yards from the wreckage by two youthful members of a searching party. It was believed at first that only two persons had been in the plane, but police began searching the vicinity yesterday after they learned that Nelson also was a passenger.

Duncan, who resided at 729 Virginia Avenue, was a veteran of 50 missions in the European Theater during the war, when he piloted a B-24 Liberator. Police said he was flying a Bellanca four-seat monoplane when he crashed Saturday.

State Police said investigation showed the plane left Crisfield Friday afternoon. At the time it was believed to have been headed for Hagerstown, but police said it had not arrived there. The monoplane left Swanton, Garrett County, Saturday morning, according to the Associated Press.

The plane fell near the town of Wetipquin. A wing was shorn off and remained 30 feet high in a tree while the remainder of the craft crashed nose first into the ground. State Police attributed the crash to engine trouble.

George D. White, Wetipquin farmer and oysterman, said he saw the plane flying along at 150 feet when it suddenly lunged downward, hit a pine tree and crashed.

Duncan and a number of other Cumberland men, with whom he was engaged in business, owned the plane, and he was reportedly negotiating a sale of the plane at the time of the accident. The group recently started to develop an airport near Swanton in Garrett County.

Flew Fish Here

Duncan received much publicity a few months ago when he began flying fresh fish to Allegany and Garrett Counties from the Eastern Shore.

The former Air Force first lieutenant came to Cumberland about nine years ago from Maysville, Washington. He served several years in the Army Air Forces and escaped injury until he was slightly hurt in a landing just before the end of the war.

He was a son of Mrs. Margaret Hill, Maysville. Also surviving besides his widow, Mrs. Katherine Duncan, are two children, Judith and William Michael, Jr.; three half-brothers, Donald, Earl and James Hill, all of Maysville, and two half-sisters, Mary Lou and Helen Hill, also of Maysville. The body will be brought to Hafer's Funeral Home here late today or Tuesday morning.

Before entering the service, Duncan was employed by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

Minister Dies From Heart Attack On Way Home From Hunting Squirrel

The body of a Levels, W. Va., Methodist minister, was discovered less than a half mile from his home Saturday at 11:30 p. m., more than five hours after he picked up his rifle and told his wife he was going squirrel hunting.

Justice of the Peace A. L. Russell, acting coroner of Hampshire County, gave a verdict of death from natural causes, after Dr. J. F. Easton said Rev. Walter C. Snyder, died from a heart attack.

Authorities said Mrs. Snyder became alarmed when her husband did not return by dark, and informed his brother, Marshall Snyder that he had gone hunting but had not yet returned.

Several neighbors began searching the wooded sector in which they supposed the minister had gone to hunt, but did not find his body until they were returning on a frequently used dirt road a half-mile from home.

Police who were summoned after the body was found said the minister apparently suffered the attack as he was returning home and died instantly. The searchers found the body slumped over in the center of the road.

Rev. Mr. Snyder was pastor of the Wardensville Methodist Circuit and a native of Levels. He was a son of the late Martin L. and Ellen Miller Snyder.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Della Durst Snyder, he is survived by one son, Harry L. Snyder, Lynchburg, Va., four brothers, Marshall, Levels; Daniel L. Snyder, Huntington, W. Va., Luther M. Snyder, Hanover, Md., and Oscar L. Snyder, Martinsburg, W. Va., and one granddaughter.

A funeral service will be held today at 2 p. m. in the Methodist Church, Levels, with interment in the church cemetery.

Trooper E. D. Harbert was sent to the scene with Justice of the Peace Russell.

Cumberland Man Held On Manslaughter Charge

Arrested After Fatal Accident

Donald Lindberg Robinette, 607 Leiper Street, this city, was being held in Bedford County, Pa., Jail, Bedford, on a manslaughter charge last night after his car turned over on Route 220 a distance of 10 miles north of Bedford, fatally injuring one person and injuring seven others, including himself, Pennsylvania State Police reported.

Officers identified the dead girl as Ruth Pittman, 19, Clearville, Pa., and said she did after Robinette's car struck a truck, then rolled over and skidded "quite a distance" on its top before hitting a telephone pole.

Other victims in the accident were listed as Frances Pittman, 17, Clearville, abdominal injuries, possible fractured skull and extreme shock. Her condition was described as serious. May McGee, Everett, Pa., possible fractured skull; Herbert Forrester, 16, Clearville, brush burns and sprains; Kenneth Valentine, 14, Clearville, lacerations and sprains, and Robinette, cuts and sprains. Police said all were passengers in the Robinette car.

Passengers in the truck who suffered injuries were John Micko, Dunlo, Pa., lacerations, and Anna Micko, Dunlo, right ar minjury.

Police said Robinette was headed south on Route 220 when he passed one car headed in the same direction and then sideswiped the truck operated by George Jonosky, Dunlo. After hitting the truck, police said, the car turned over on its top and continued to skid for several yards before colliding with the telephone pole.

Miss Pittman, police said, died almost instantly, while her sister was removed to Timmons Hospital, Bedford. Miss McGee and Mrs. Micko were also admitted to the hospital where their conditions were described as serious.

The remainder were treated at the hospital and discharged, according to police.

Investigating officers said eight persons were riding in the Robinette car at the time of the collision, but two escaped injury.

Robinette, who was treated and discharged, is being held in jail on a charge of manslaughter by automobile pending a coroner's inquest into the death of Miss Pittman. Police said the inquest will likely be held this week.

Pvts. R. H. Simmons and E. L. Landis, of the Pennsylvania State Police, investigated the accident, according to Sgt. C. W. Grein, commander of the Bedford barracks.

First Methodist Pastor Resigns As Of October 15

Rev. Mr. Richards Accepts YMCA Post

Rev. James A. Richards, pastor of First Methodist Church, Bedford Street, since June, 1946, submitted his resignation last night at a special board meeting of the church.

The resignation will become effective October 15.

Rev. Mr. Richards has accepted a position as program chairman at the YMCA in Elizabeth, N. J. He and Mrs. Richards and their two children, Ruth and James Arthur, III, will leave for Elizabeth within two weeks.

Since coming to Cumberland, Rev. Mr. Richards has appeared in the Cumberland Choral Society's presentation of the "Messiah" and was a featured soloist on this year's spring program of the group.

He was to have appeared with Wilton Syckes, violinist, in a concert at Allegany High School in November under the auspices of the Music and Arts Club, as baritone soloist, but that appearance has been cancelled.

Rev. Mr. Richards, whose home is in Roanoke, Va., received his bachelor's and master's degrees at Westminster Theological Seminary, where he taught for six years before accepting his first pastorate, that of the Oldtown Methodist Circuit, 10 years ago.

Three years later he became paspastor of Freedom parish in Gamber, Carroll County, where he served for five years before receiving a call from the local church.

He was one of the organizers of the Cumberland Optimist Club, and served as chaplain o that organization last year. He is the present chaplain of Ohr Lodge No. 131, A.F. and A.M., and is secretary of the Cumberland sub-district of the Methodist Ministerium, as well as a member of the Cumberland Ministerial Association.

Mrs. Richards, the former Ruth Sherman Jones, is a graduate of Peabody Conservatory and taught for eight years in the music department at Western Maryland College. She has taken an active part in developing the choir at First Methodist, which now numbers 20 voices, and belongs to the Music and Arts Club. She is also president of the Cumberland sub-district of the Methodist Ministers' Wives Association.

A committee was named at the board meeting last night to contact Dr. William F. Wright, superintendent of the Hagerstown district, with regard to naming a successor to Rev. Mr. Richards.

Importance Of Good Meals Is Stressed

Nutritionally adequate meals can help school children to maintain the health and vigor needed to take the best advantage of their educational opportunity, according to Dr. R. H. Riley, director of the State Department of Health.

Dr. Riley emphasized the importance of three well-balanced meals each day, adding that if lunch is served at the school, parents should know what type of meal is provided and arrange the other two meals so that they will complete the day's nutritional requirements.

Dietary requirements include milk, fruit, vegetables, whole wheat or enriched bread and a protein food such as meat, poultry, fish, eggs or cheese, he said.

Two Area Men Join Naval Reserve Group

Two young men of the Cumberland area have been accepted for the Cumberland Organized Naval Reserve Division, according to Lt. Comdr. Walter N. Hedrick, organizing officer.

They are William Clifton Burkett, 212 Center Street, Frostburg, seaman first class, who served seven months in the Navy; and Jonathan Jacob Eckhart, apprentice seaman, whose home is in Eckhart.

In addition, a Little Orleans youth has enlisted in the regular Navy and has been sent to Great Lakes, Ill., for boot training, according to Chief Torpedoman Edgar L. Schrader, local recruiter.

He is Donald Lee Appel, 17, apprentice seaman. Appel enlisted for three years.

Driver Is Arrested

William Milton Duckworth, Cresaptown, was being held in City Jail last night on charges of violating two state motor vehicle laws. He was arrested on Route 40, LaVale, by Trooper William Baker, who said the driver was weaving across the road.

Mt. Savage Legion Post Opens Drive

Presentation of 52 paid-up membership cards for 1948 marked a rally held yesterday afternoon by Memorial Post No. 159, American Legion, Mt. Savage, at the beginning of the post's membership drive for the ensuing year.

The presentation was made by Joseph Carter, first commander of the post when it was organized in 1944, to Commander Joseph L. Lashley. Ten of the 52 paid-up members are World War I veterans.

Membership last year totaled 132, while in 1945 the post numbered 235 members. It is expected that before Armistice Night the latter figure will have been exceeded, with about 300 members estimated as the probable paid-up membership at that time.

Speakers at the rally included Thomas B. Finan and John T. Fey, Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion; Thomas F. Conlon, service officer; Commander Raymond T. Farrell of the local post, and Samuel A. Graham, past vice commander of Mountain District. Kenneth Rammage, a member of the local post, also attended.

Present Address Of Kuhne Woman Sought

An inquiry has been received by local Red Cross officials regarding the whereabouts of Therese Kuhne, about 68 or 70, who came to this country from Germany about 50 years ago and whose last known address was listed only as "Cumberland, U. S. A."

The woman's birthplace was listed as Ebeleben, Thuringen, Kreis Schwarzburg Sondershausen, according to Mrs. Louise C. Dean, home service secretary of Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross.

A niece, Mrs. Minna Jeske, who lives in Hannover, Germany, has asked the International Red Cross to aid in locating her aunt. Persons having information regarding Therese Kuhne are asked to contact the local Red Cross office.

Webster Completes Broadcasting Course

James Warren Webster, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Webster, Cumberland, was one of a class of 34 ex-Gis graduated from the National Academy of Broadcasting in Washington Saturday, and was emcee on the commencement ceremonies. His father is Inspector Warren of the U. S. Navy Yard in Washington.

Young Webster was graduated from Fort Hill High School in 1943. He was active in school sports, played football and was interested in boxing. In 1944 he joined the Army Air Forces and became a sergeant, spending two years in the Pacific area. He is particularly interested in sports announcing and dramatics and expects to make this his field in radio.

Cumberland Returns To Standard Time

Cumberland and the rest of the state went back on Standard Time yesterday, the official change taking place at 1 a. m. when clocks were due to be set back at that hour from 2 a. m. Daylight Time.

Most of this area has been on Daylight Time since April 27, and Cumberland will operate on fast time again next year unless the Mayor and Council repeals the ordinance passed last spring.

LaVale Child, 6, Fatally Injured In Auto Accident

Police Say Miller Boy Fell From Car

A 6-year-old LaVale boy who accidentally opened the door of his father's moving automobile fell to the road and was fatally injured yesterday at 12:50 p. m., a quarter of a mile south of the Clary Club on Vale Summit Road, according to State Police.

Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, said David Gene Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Miller, LaVale, died instantly of a brain concussion after he suffered a slight fracture of the skull and a fractured neck.

Trooper Jack Browning, who investigated, said the child was riding in the front seat of the two-door coach with his father, who was en route to Lonaconing to visit the boy's grandfather, Henry Miller, when he began playing with the door handle.

Police explained that the door opened toward the front of the car, and after the child released the lock a gust of wind pulled the door open and dragged him from the car.

Dr. Deming said the child apparently landed on his head. He was taken to Miners Hospital, Frostburg, where he was pronounced dead upon admittance. Investigating officials said they believed the car was traveling at a moderate rate of speed at the time of the accident.

David was a second grade student at LaVale Elementary School and would have been 7 years old in December.

The boy's parents said last night that another son, Bobby John, 3, died accidentally in 1938 when he was thrown from a wagon he was riding on a brick-paved street. The youth, they said, was thrown from the wagon, when the wheels became lodged in the brick. He suffered a broken neck.

A funeral service will be delayed pending the return of an older brother, Pvt. William Francis Miller, who is serving with the United States Army in Germany. Mrs. Miller, the former Miss Irene Holmes, Lonaconing, said the local chapter of the American Red Cross has been contacted in an effort to have the older son returned to this country.

The body will be brought to the LaVale home at the corner of Park Heights and Route 40.

Two sisters also survive. They are Betty Miller, 23, and Marie Miller, 10, both at home.

FATALLY INJURED — Falling from a moving car, when he accidentally opened the door, David Gene Miller, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Miller, LaVale, was pronounced dead yesterday upon admittance to Miners Hospital, Frostburg. Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, said the child died of a brain concussion.

Brothers Are Held On Alleged Threat To Shoot Yeager

Troopers Arrest Pair In Midland

Two Cumberland brothers were being held in the County Jail last night after their arrest following a disturbance at a Midland bowling alley in which State Police said they broke two windows and threatened to shoot the proprietor, John Yeager, 74 Greene Street, Cumberland.

State Trooper A. M. Spioch who, with Trooper Jack Browning, conducted the investigation, identified the brothers as William Jeffries, 22, and Alfred Jeffries, 36, both of 218 Glenn Street, this city.

Charges Not Disclosed

Charges against the two men were not disclosed pending a conference with the State's Attorney, and completion of the investigation.

Both Jeffries brothers had been drinking when they entered the bowling alley late Saturday night, police stated, and after one of them allegedly broke a window Yeager asked them to pay for the damage and leave.

After settling for the damage to the window, the Jeffries brothers left, and in a short time two objects, believed to be pieces of pipe, came hurtling through another window, police said.

When Yeager went outside and ordered the Jeffries to leave, they threatened him, one word led to another and a fight ensued, according to officers, who said that Alfred Jeffries then went to an automobile, got an "Army gun," pointeted it at Yeager and declared he was going to kill him.

Harrison Grabs Gun

Joseph Harrison, Boulevard Apartments, Cumberland, an employe of Yeager, grabbed the gun and attempted to take it away and another scuffle followed before someone notified State police, officers related.

When the Jeffries brothers left the scene, Alfred had the weapon in his possession, Trooper Spioch said. He added that the Jeffries returned to the bowling alley in about five minutes and were immediately arrested by himself and Trooper Browning who had arrived in the meantime.

The Jeffries were held at the Frostburg Jail until yesterday morning when they were removed to the County Jail.

Local Polio Group Receives Charter

A charter was presented last week to the Cumberland Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, at a meeting held in the headquarters of Allegany County League for Crippled Children.

Institution of the chapter, which has been functioning as a branch unit of the Baltimore Chapter of the National Foundation, will not affect its long connection with the more general aid to handicapped children carried on by the League for Crippled Children.

While the chapter will concern itself only with polio cases, the league will continue its aid to victims of cerebral palsy, speech defects, orthopedic sufferers, cardiac cases and other crippling diseases.

Officers of Cumberland Chapter are Tasker G. Lowndes, chairman; Miss Henrietta Schwarzenbach, vice chairman; John H. Mosner, treasurer; J. William Hunt, secretary; and Mrs. Hume O. Annan, executive secretary.

Meanwhile, two more suspected polio cases, one in this county and the other in Preston County, W. Va., were reported here yesterday following Saturday's notification of two positive cases in Hampshire County, W. Va.

The latest county suspect is Leroy Bland, nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bland, Luke, whose right leg has become affected. A student at Luke Elementary School, he has been ill a "couple days" at home.

From Parsons, W. Va., came word that Terry Vandevender, six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Troy Vandevender, Aurora, was taken yesterday to the polio center in Milton. He was admitted to Tucker County Hospital, Parsons, last Monday.

Hampshire County's most recent victims are four-year-old Linda Jean Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Baker, Slanesville, and James Parker, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Parker, Vanderlip.

Schlosser Hearing Postponed Indefinitely

The preliminary hearing for Ralph A. Schlosser, 21, Cresaptown, identified as the driver of a car which struck and fatally injured Doris Elaine Rosenberger, 16, Roberts Place, September 20, has been postponed indefinitely, according to State's Attorney Morgan C. Harris.

Schlosser was scheduled for a hearing Saturday morning, but because the victim's mother was unable to appear, the case was delayed. The Rosenberger girl died in Allegany Hospital 15 minutes after she was struck by a car as she attempted to cross the highway in front of her home.

A concentrated State Police campaign to reduce speeding on Route 220, along which Roberts Place is located, resulted Saturday in 11 drivers either being fined or forfeiting bonds on charges of violating state motor laws.

Sgt. W. E. O'Hara, commander of the LaVale sub-station of the Maryland State Police, said every effort will be made to enforce traffic regulations along 220 and reduce the accidents.

Temperature Reading

The temperature was down to 48 degrees at 9:30 last night after reaching a maximum of 64 during the afternoon, rising from an overnight low of 30 degrees for the second straight day. However, it was not expected to drop that low by this morning and warmer weather is in prospect for today. Readings of 26 and 22 degrees were reported at Oakland last week.

Beer Distributors Offer Drivers Pay Hike Of 11 1-2 Cents

Strike Scheduled For Today Averted

A flat 11½ cent hourly pay hike offer to 75 drivers of 23 area beer distributors averted a strike scheduled for this morning that would have seriously curtailed delivery of local beer to points outside the city, according to C. E. Stutzman, business agent of Local 453, Teamsters and Chauffeurs Union, AFL.

Stutzman said the offer was made by the distributors at a meeting Friday night after 30 days of negotiating to replace a contract that expired September 1. Members of the union had voted to strike this morning if an agreement was not reached.

While the offer, which also calls for seven paid holidays and two weeks' paid vacation after three years' employment, has not yet been approved by the union membership, Stutzman said the negotiating committee will recommend that the proposed contract be accepted at the membership meeting Thursday night.

The 11½ cent hourly pay hike will boost drivers' hourly pay to $1.20 and helpers' pay to $1.10, according to Stutzman, who said the seven paid holidays is a new clause in the contract, and added the vacation period previously has been one week with pay after one year's employment. The one-week pay for one-year employes will be continued, he said.

Provisions of the contract, which likely will be accepted with the committee's recommendation will be retroactive to September 1, the date the old contract expired, Stutzman declared.

Negotiations for the new contract have been underway for approximately 30 days, or shortly before the old contract expired. The membership last week rejected an offer of one and one-half cents per hour, and voted to strike this morning if a satisfactory contract was not reached at Friday night's meeting of the distributors and negotiating committee.

The distributors which the strike would have affected delivery of beer to points in Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Maryland, according to union officials.

Union members of the negotiating committee included Charles Wilhelm, R. C. Kergan, George Brode, Stutzman, Charles E. Bramble, president of the local, and Norman Kegler, Pittsburgh, representative of Teamsters Joint Council.

Maryland Constitution In Need Of Streamlining, Henderson Says

The state constitution of Maryland "needs streamlining," but any changes should be made by amendments rather than by a "blank check," Associate Judge George Henderson said at a dinner meeting of the state executive committee of the Maryland Junior Association of Commerce in Hagerstown Saturday night.

Judge Henderson was guest speaker at the baquet, held at the Hotel Alexander as one of the features of the regular quarterly meeting of the state executive committee, state officers and state chairman of the Jaycees. Approximately 60 persons attended, including a delegation from Cumberland.

Judge Henderson pointed out that the state constitution provides that every 20 years the residents of Maryland may decide if they wish to call a constitutional convention. He said that 1950 will be the next year in which the voters can decide whether they wish any constitutional changes to be made.

A special section of the constitution, he said, deals with Baltimore, which has about half the population of the state but only about one-quarter representation in the state legislature.

He said it is his opinion that Baltimore should not be given full representation, stating that it would "not be wise" for the state as a whole.

Another speaker was John Jacobs, president of the Maryland Jaycees, who reiterated a committee recommendation that the federal government should equalize income tax laws.

A business session yesterday morning concluded the two-day meeting.

National Dinner Club Announces Outstanding 1947-48 Speaking List

Officers and directors of the Cumberland National Dinner Club met with Miss Gwendolyn Hughes of the national office to perfect final arrangements for the clubs' 1947-1948 program of outstanding platform personalities.

The recently organized Dinner Club held its first meeting April 29 at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club, when Ely Culbertson, noted bridge expert, presented his famed "Quota Force Plan" for world peace. The club is unique in that it will personalize the town meeting idea by keeping Cumberland folks up-to-date through personal presentations of the important issues and by meeting the experts face-to-face. The club will hold seven dinner meetings each season, October through April. The local committee selects the seven speakers from a list of approximately 40 eminent platform personalities. These are the same speakers who appear at the famous New York Town Hall and other leading town halls in the country.

Since the Cumberland Dinner Club was organized, the National Dinner Clubs have become a part of the larger organization known as The Associated Clubs. This will allow local members to attend the Associated Club dinners and to hear their guest speakers in over 225 cities throughout the country and will afford a larger range of outstanding platform personalities.

The 1947-1948 season will open with a dinner meeting at the Shrine Country Club with Harold J. Kennedy, noted playwright, actor and producer as guest speaker. Orson Welles says that "Mr. Kennedy is the amusing and informative speaker on the theater today. He is so much fun to listen to, you are apt not to realize until hours later just how much you have learned." The program for the season is:

October 21 — Harold J. Kennedy. This playwright, author, producer in his informative address covers many aspects of the theater, screen, and radio with delightfully humorous commentaries.

November 11 — Henry Shapiro. Dean of foreign correspondents in the Soviet Union and former chief of the United Press Bureau in Moscow from 1934 to 1947. Shapiro will bring an objective and impersonal talk on a very timely subject.

December 9—Maxine Berlitz Vollmer. Granddaughter of Maxmillian D. Berlitz who founded the internationally known school of languages. With a solid foundation of knowledge and an irresistible humor, Miss Vollmer is well qualified to talk on her favorite subject: "Why We Talk The Way We Do."

January 13, 1948 — Hawthorne Daniel. A keen analyst, former editor of "The Commentator" and noted author presents a brilliant over-all picture of the trends of empire from the economic and scientific point of view when speaking on "America's New Pacific Empire."

February 17, 1948—Jesse Stuart. "The American Robert Burns". . . from farmboy to author, this poet springs straight from the American earth; and his poetry and stories are deeply rooted in our earth and the people who live upon it.

March 16, 1948—Ray Brock. This noted foreign correspondent, who at present is traveling through the Balkans, Palestine and the Middle East, will give the inside facts on the world-shaking events now taking place in these areas. Brock was the only foreign correspondent who served with the insurgent forces of Drazha Milhailovitch during the Balkan campaign. When Milhailovitch was brought to trial as a traitor by Tito's government, it was Brock who organized the committee of state and national leaders that demanded a fair trial for Milhailovitch, and who personally took the case to President Truman.

April 6, 1948—Lt. Col. W. Stewart-Roddie. A member of the Inter-Allied Disarmament Commission after World War I and observed first hand a Germany in the throes of disarmament, revolution and the rise of Hitler. During the last war and since, he has been associated with financial missions to the Far East and to the United States. At present he is in Germany and eastern Europe and upon his return to the States in the spring of 1948 will speak on the "Hot Spots in Europe."

All meetings of the Cumberland National Dinner Club will be held on a Tuesday evening.

The local club is headed by Thomas Lohr Richards. Other officers are Mrs. H. Albert Dean, vice-president; Winfield H. Adam, secretary-treasurer; Harold R. Fletcher, Mrs. John J. Hafer and Robert Little Ebert, directors. Inquiries on the club and speakers should be directed to the secretary-treasurer at Central Y. M. C. A.

Keyser Cab Driver Hurt In Crash On Knobley Mountain

Car's Brakes Lock Going Down Slope

Theodore Wolford, 26-year-old taxi driver of Keyser, W. Va., was reported in good condition last night in Potomac Valley Hospital there, where he was admitted at 6:15 p. m. after suffering minor injuries in an accident on Routh 46 as he was driving down Knobley Mountain, about a mile east of Keyser.

Hospital attaches said Wolford suffered a laceration of the lip, and that several of his teeth were knocked out.

Wolford reported that he was en route back to Keyser after calling a Baltimore and Ohio Railroad employe in Fort Ashby to work, and that he was driving alone in a 1941 taxi of Mac's Taxi Company. While descending Knobley Mountain, he said, the car's brakes locked and the machine struck an embankment.

The headlights of the car were broken and the front end was smashed in the accident, Wolford said.

Gary Screen, 10-year-old son of Mrs. Bernice Screen, 33 Race Street, was treated in Memorial Hospital yesterday morning after suffering a cracked rib while playing football.

Treated in the same hospital was Alvin Carder, 24, 40 Central Avenue, Ridgeley, W. Va., who suffered a cut on the first finger of his left hand.

A 3-year-old girl, Darlene Porter, 457 Columbia Street, was treated in Allegany Hospital after she ran a nail into her right knee. Also treated were Edward Shober, 23, 536 North Mechanic Street, for a laceration of the left hand; and Joseph Click, 32, Mt. Savage, for a small laceration above the left eye.

Four persons, including two women, were treated Saturday in Allegany Hospital for injuries suffered in falls.

Mrs. Elizabeth McGann, 112 North Allegany Street, sustained a right wrist injury when she fell down several steps at her home, and Mrs. Blanche Sommerlatt, 73, Route 3, this city, fractured her left arm in a fall from a ladder.

Boyd H. Saulser, 44, Route 3, had a cast applied to his left ankle after he stepped into a hole and fell, and Herbert C. Silvious, 18, of 39 Offutt Street, also hurt his left ankle in a fall.

Frostburg Seaman Describes Storm

A Frostburg woman has received a letter from her son, stationed at the Mainside Naval Air Station near Pensacola, Fla., describing the hurricane which struck that section last week.

Seaman First Class Paul W. Hetz, son of Mrs. Laura E. Hetz, 124 McCulloh Street, Frostburg, wrote that winds reached 102 miles an hour, accompanied with rain, and that "even now the water is splashing right up to the back of my house."

Seaman Hetz took his wife, the former Miss Mabel Eichhorn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Eichhorn, Jr., 3 Park Street, Frostburg, and their infant son, Ronnie, to Corry Field at Pensacola, where they spent the night in brick barracks with other evacuated families. Few persons were injured in the storm because "we had time to prepare for it," he wrote.

Fire May Interrupt John T. Jones' Trip

LIVINGSTON, Mont., Sept. 28 (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. John T. Jones, Cumberland, Md., may not attend the American Federation of Labor's national convention opening in San Francisco October 6, as they had planned.

Their journey to the West Coast was interrupted Friday when flames destroyed their automobile near here. The Joneses were able to save but a portion of their belongings.

Jones, president of District 16, United Mine Workers and director of labor's Non-Partisan League, Washington, said he was undecided whether to attend the convention or entrain for home.

Third Body Found At Crashed Plane Piloted By Duncan

Discovered 150 Yards From Debris

The body of the third victim of a plane crash which claimed the life of a local pilot 15 miles east of Salisbury Saturday was found last night more than 24 hours after the twisted wreckage was discovered in a wooded sector.

Police said the third victim, identified as Richard Nelson, 40, Crisfield seafood packer and the father of two children, apparently fell or jumped before the crash which killed William Michael Duncan, 23, this city, identified as the pilot, and Preston Stirling, 19, Crisfield.

Nelson's body was found about 150 yards from the wreckage by two youthful members of a searching party. It was believed at first that only two persons had been in the plane, but police began searching the vicinity yesterday after they learned that Nelson also was a passenger.

Duncan, who resided at 729 Virginia Avenue, was a veteran of 50 missions in the European Theater during the war, when he piloted a B-24 Liberator. Police said he was flying a Bellanca four-seat monoplane when he crashed Saturday.

State Police said investigation showed the plane left Crisfield Friday afternoon. At the time it was believed to have been headed for Hagerstown, but police said it had not arrived there. The monoplane left Swanton, Garrett County, Saturday morning, according to the Associated Press.

The plane fell near the town of Wetipquin. A wing was shorn off and remained 30 feet high in a tree while the remainder of the craft crashed nose first into the ground. State Police attributed the crash to engine trouble.

George D. White, Wetipquin farmer and oysterman, said he saw the plane flying along at 150 feet when it suddenly lunged downward, hit a pine tree and crashed.

Duncan and a number of other Cumberland men, with whom he was engaged in business, owned the plane, and he was reportedly negotiating a sale of the plane at the time of the accident. The group recently started to develop an airport near Swanton in Garrett County.

Flew Fish Here

Duncan received much publicity a few months ago when he began flying fresh fish to Allegany and Garrett Counties from the Eastern Shore.

The former Air Force first lieutenant came to Cumberland about nine years ago from Maysville, Washington. He served several years in the Army Air Forces and escaped injury until he was slightly hurt in a landing just before the end of the war.

He was a son of Mrs. Margaret Hill, Maysville. Also surviving besides his widow, Mrs. Katherine Duncan, are two children, Judith and William Michael, Jr.; three half-brothers, Donald, Earl and James Hill, all of Maysville, and two half-sisters, Mary Lou and Helen Hill, also of Maysville. The body will be brought to Hafer's Funeral Home here late today or Tuesday morning.

Before entering the service, Duncan was employed by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad.

Minister Dies From Heart Attack On Way Home From Hunting Squirrel

The body of a Levels, W. Va., Methodist minister, was discovered less than a half mile from his home Saturday at 11:30 p. m., more than five hours after he picked up his rifle and told his wife he was going squirrel hunting.

Justice of the Peace A. L. Russell, acting coroner of Hampshire County, gave a verdict of death from natural causes, after Dr. J. F. Easton said Rev. Walter C. Snyder, died from a heart attack.

Authorities said Mrs. Snyder became alarmed when her husband did not return by dark, and informed his brother, Marshall Snyder that he had gone hunting but had not yet returned.

Several neighbors began searching the wooded sector in which they supposed the minister had gone to hunt, but did not find his body until they were returning on a frequently used dirt road a half-mile from home.

Police who were summoned after the body was found said the minister apparently suffered the attack as he was returning home and died instantly. The searchers found the body slumped over in the center of the road.

Rev. Mr. Snyder was pastor of the Wardensville Methodist Circuit and a native of Levels. He was a son of the late Martin L. and Ellen Miller Snyder.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Della Durst Snyder, he is survived by one son, Harry L. Snyder, Lynchburg, Va., four brothers, Marshall, Levels; Daniel L. Snyder, Huntington, W. Va., Luther M. Snyder, Hanover, Md., and Oscar L. Snyder, Martinsburg, W. Va., and one granddaughter.

A funeral service will be held today at 2 p. m. in the Methodist Church, Levels, with interment in the church cemetery.

Trooper E. D. Harbert was sent to the scene with Justice of the Peace Russell.

First Methodist Pastor Resigns As Of October 15

Rev. Mr. Richards Accepts YMCA Post

Rev. James A. Richards, pastor of First Methodist Church, Bedford Street, since June, 1946, submitted his resignation last night at a special board meeting of the church.

The resignation will become effective October 15.

Rev. Mr. Richards has accepted a position as program chairman at the YMCA in Elizabeth, N. J. He and Mrs. Richards and their two children, Ruth and James Arthur, III, will leave for Elizabeth within two weeks.

Since coming to Cumberland, Rev. Mr. Richards has appeared in the Cumberland Choral Society's presentation of the "Messiah" and was a featured soloist on this year's spring program of the group.

He was to have appeared with Wilton Syckes, violinist, in a concert at Allegany High School in November under the auspices of the Music and Arts Club, as baritone soloist, but that appearance has been cancelled.

Rev. Mr. Richards, whose home is in Roanoke, Va., received his bachelor's and master's degrees at Westminster Theological Seminary, where he taught for six years before accepting his first pastorate, that of the Oldtown Methodist Circuit, 10 years ago.

Three years later he became paspastor of Freedom parish in Gamber, Carroll County, where he served for five years before receiving a call from the local church.

He was one of the organizers of the Cumberland Optimist Club, and served as chaplain o that organization last year. He is the present chaplain of Ohr Lodge No. 131, A.F. and A.M., and is secretary of the Cumberland sub-district of the Methodist Ministerium, as well as a member of the Cumberland Ministerial Association.

Mrs. Richards, the former Ruth Sherman Jones, is a graduate of Peabody Conservatory and taught for eight years in the music department at Western Maryland College. She has taken an active part in developing the choir at First Methodist, which now numbers 20 voices, and belongs to the Music and Arts Club. She is also president of the Cumberland sub-district of the Methodist Ministers' Wives Association.

A committee was named at the board meeting last night to contact Dr. William F. Wright, superintendent of the Hagerstown district, with regard to naming a successor to Rev. Mr. Richards.

Importance Of Good Meals Is Stressed

Nutritionally adequate meals can help school children to maintain the health and vigor needed to take the best advantage of their educational opportunity, according to Dr. R. H. Riley, director of the State Department of Health.

Dr. Riley emphasized the importance of three well-balanced meals each day, adding that if lunch is served at the school, parents should know what type of meal is provided and arrange the other two meals so that they will complete the day's nutritional requirements.

Dietary requirements include milk, fruit, vegetables, whole wheat or enriched bread and a protein food such as meat, poultry, fish, eggs or cheese, he said.

Two Area Men Join Naval Reserve Group

Two young men of the Cumberland area have been accepted for the Cumberland Organized Naval Reserve Division, according to Lt. Comdr. Walter N. Hedrick, organizing officer.

They are William Clifton Burkett, 212 Center Street, Frostburg, seaman first class, who served seven months in the Navy; and Jonathan Jacob Eckhart, apprentice seaman, whose home is in Eckhart.

In addition, a Little Orleans youth has enlisted in the regular Navy and has been sent to Great Lakes, Ill., for boot training, according to Chief Torpedoman Edgar L. Schrader, local recruiter.

He is Donald Lee Appel, 17, apprentice seaman. Appel enlisted for three years.

Driver Is Arrested

William Milton Duckworth, Cresaptown, was being held in City Jail last night on charges of violating two state motor vehicle laws. He was arrested on Route 40, LaVale, by Trooper William Baker, who said the driver was weaving across the road.

Cumberland Man Held On Manslaughter Charge

Arrested After Fatal Accident

Donald Lindberg Robinette, 607 Leiper Street, this city, was being held in Bedford County, Pa., Jail, Bedford, on a manslaughter charge last night after his car turned over on Route 220 a distance of 10 miles north of Bedford, fatally injuring one person and injuring seven others, including himself, Pennsylvania State Police reported.

Officers identified the dead girl as Ruth Pittman, 19, Clearville, Pa., and said she did after Robinette's car struck a truck, then rolled over and skidded "quite a distance" on its top before hitting a telephone pole.

Other victims in the accident were listed as Frances Pittman, 17, Clearville, abdominal injuries, possible fractured skull and extreme shock. Her condition was described as serious. May McGee, Everett, Pa., possible fractured skull; Herbert Forrester, 16, Clearville, brush burns and sprains; Kenneth Valentine, 14, Clearville, lacerations and sprains, and Robinette, cuts and sprains. Police said all were passengers in the Robinette car.

Passengers in the truck who suffered injuries were John Micko, Dunlo, Pa., lacerations, and Anna Micko, Dunlo, right ar minjury.

Police said Robinette was headed south on Route 220 when he passed one car headed in the same direction and then sideswiped the truck operated by George Jonosky, Dunlo. After hitting the truck, police said, the car turned over on its top and continued to skid for several yards before colliding with the telephone pole.

Miss Pittman, police said, died almost instantly, while her sister was removed to Timmons Hospital, Bedford. Miss McGee and Mrs. Micko were also admitted to the hospital where their conditions were described as serious.

The remainder were treated at the hospital and discharged, according to police.

Investigating officers said eight persons were riding in the Robinette car at the time of the collision, but two escaped injury.

Robinette, who was treated and discharged, is being held in jail on a charge of manslaughter by automobile pending a coroner's inquest into the death of Miss Pittman. Police said the inquest will likely be held this week.

Pvts. R. H. Simmons and E. L. Landis, of the Pennsylvania State Police, investigated the accident, according to Sgt. C. W. Grein, commander of the Bedford barracks.

Mt. Savage Legion Post Opens Drive

Presentation of 52 paid-up membership cards for 1948 marked a rally held yesterday afternoon by Memorial Post No. 159, American Legion, Mt. Savage, at the beginning of the post's membership drive for the ensuing year.

The presentation was made by Joseph Carter, first commander of the post when it was organized in 1944, to Commander Joseph L. Lashley. Ten of the 52 paid-up members are World War I veterans.

Membership last year totaled 132, while in 1945 the post numbered 235 members. It is expected that before Armistice Night the latter figure will have been exceeded, with about 300 members estimated as the probable paid-up membership at that time.

Speakers at the rally included Thomas B. Finan and John T. Fey, Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion; Thomas F. Conlon, service officer; Commander Raymond T. Farrell of the local post, and Samuel A. Graham, past vice commander of Mountain District. Kenneth Rammage, a member of the local post, also attended.

Present Address Of Kuhne Woman Sought

An inquiry has been received by local Red Cross officials regarding the whereabouts of Therese Kuhne, about 68 or 70, who came to this country from Germany about 50 years ago and whose last known address was listed only as "Cumberland, U. S. A."

The woman's birthplace was listed as Ebeleben, Thuringen, Kreis Schwarzburg Sondershausen, according to Mrs. Louise C. Dean, home service secretary of Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross.

A niece, Mrs. Minna Jeske, who lives in Hannover, Germany, has asked the International Red Cross to aid in locating her aunt. Persons having information regarding Therese Kuhne are asked to contact the local Red Cross office.

Webster Completes Broadcasting Course

James Warren Webster, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Webster, Cumberland, was one of a class of 34 ex-GIs graduated from the National Academy of Broadcasting in Washington Saturday, and was emcee on the commencement ceremonies. His father is Inspector Warren of the U. S. Navy Yard in Washington.

Young Webster was graduated from Fort Hill High School in 1943. He was active in school sports, played football and was interested in boxing. In 1944 he joined the Army Air Forces and became a sergeant, spending two years in the Pacific area. He is particularly interested in sports announcing and dramatics and expects to make this his field in radio.

Cumberland Returns To Standard Time

Cumberland and the rest of the state went back on Standard Time yesterday, the official change taking place at 1 a. m. when clocks were due to be set back at that hour from 2 a. m. Daylight Time.

Most of this area has been on Daylight Time since April 27, and Cumberland will operate on fast time again next year unless the Mayor and Council repeals the ordinance passed last spring.
